

Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Moscow—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in predicting that the time is coming when the Communist countries will advance to first place:

"Our economists, with pencils in their hands, are already estimating when this will be. Our estimates are very accurate and rarely deceive us."

Washington—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, urging eligible citizens to fulfill their "sole duty" of voting today:

"A big vote will make stronger the mandate to the party which wins the majority in the Senate and the House."

Washington—Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) in taking note of President Eisenhower's attacks on "radical" and "harmful" Democratic leadership in Congress:

"No one could ever say (Speaker) Sam Rayburn was harem-brained. Hairless, maybe, but not harem-brained."

Paris—Brigitte Bardot, in commenting on the burglary of her St. Tropez villa in which she lost a slip and a portable radio:

"It's nothing serious. I can always get more."

ROYAL VISITOR—Prince Phillip of Great Britain chats with Joe McDonald, a miner rescued from the shattered Springhill Coal Mine in Springhill, Nova Scotia. Looking on in background are McDonald's wife and nurse. McDonald broke his leg in the mine disaster in which 100 have been rescued. Thirty-four miners are known dead and 40 are still missing.

Anna Maria Alberghetti Plans Marriage Despite Disapproval of Mother

Hollywood—UPI—The mother of shapely 22-year-old singer Anna Maria Alberghetti said today she disapproves of her daughter's planned marriage to Buddy Bregman, and will not attend the wedding.

Bregman, 28, has been married before. He is TV musical conductor for singer Eddie Fisher.

The bridegroom-to-be announced the couple's wedding plans Monday after the Italian-born beauty received permission from the Roman Catholic church to marry him.

Federal Loans To Be Available Soon For Student Use

Washington—UPI—College students can begin drawing on a new multi-million dollar federal loan fund by next February.

Other school aids authorized by the last Congress also are being hurried into operation by the government in an effort to meet the challenge of Soviet technological competition.

Available To States
Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare said money for most of the programs would be available to states and educational institutions by January or February. This includes funds for the college student loans, guidance and counseling services and for science and mathematics teaching equipment.

Flemming said federal outlays for awarding graduate fellowships and for operation of foreign language centers and institutes would be available in the spring of 1959.

The secretary told a news conference Monday that the program was one of the "most exciting" developments that has taken place in education, going far beyond original expectations.

Real Contribution
Flemming said he could not foretell whether the National Defense Education Act of 1958 would be the complete answer to Soviet technological competition. But he added, "it does represent a real contribution toward strengthening our educational system."

He strongly advocated an agreement on "national goals" in education on federal, state and local levels.

A petroleum-based plastic adhesive that resembles kerosene before use has been developed for locking nuts into place.
