

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mr. M. T. — Our son is "beat."

Rudy T. — They are phonies.

Mr. M. T. — My wife and I are heartbroken and do not know what to do about our only son, Rudy, who has become a member of the "beat generation."

Rudy is nearly 30 and has never yet settled down to a real job. He has traveled all over Europe and this country living like a hobo and picking up handouts. He says he is an artist, writer and philosopher, but we've never seen any of the things he has done.

His mother has been very ill recently and wants him to live with us again. I say okay if he shaves off his beard and settles down to a real job. I want to make my wife happy, but I really feel there is nothing to do about him but to wash our hands of him completely.

Rudy T. — Ever since I've come home all I've heard is "Shave off your beard. Take a bath. Get some good clothes. Get a job. Settle down with a nice girl." What I'd like to know is where did all these things get my parents and everyone else around here?

My father has a house and a nice car and everyone respects him and says "Sir" to him. But is he happy? Man, he doesn't know the first thing about happiness or even living. He is a phony through and through and everything he has is phony.

When I came home from the Korean War I suddenly saw all this phoniness around me and decided not to be part of it. If my parents want me home, they'll just have to take me as I am.

The Council — We don't think there is any point in the M. T.'s trying to do anything to change Rudy's living habits. He has gone too far into a radically different life for their arguments to carry any weight with him. As a matter of fact, their arguments feed his prejudices and help him to bolster his own position.

If the M. T.'s decide that they want to have Rudy with them for some time, they must accept him as he is and try to show others in their community that they accept him. If his conduct causes them too much shame and they feel they cannot face their friends and neighbors because of him, they will have to make a choice between him and them and we believe they will be far happier if they choose in favor of their community.

We certainly wouldn't try to argue Rudy out of his beliefs, but we would urge him to dig a little further in his questioning and seeking. He seems to have satisfied him-

A fire at the home of Lawrence E. Legas, 220 North Barneburg rd., started about 7:50 p.m. Saturday from a can of asphalt being heated on an electric hot plate, firemen reported. Some fire damage resulted to the basement and there also was smoke damage.

Jordan King Says Plane Attacked

Amman, Jordan — (UPI) — King Hussein charged that two Syrian Soviet-built MIG jet fighter planes tried to force down his unarmed royal airliner Monday when it flew across Syria carrying him to a vacation in Europe.

He fled back at once to his tense kingdom and declared in a radio speech shortly afterwards that "my government will take the steps necessary to reply to this aggression in a way which will preserve the dignity of our nation."

In Cairo, a spokesman for the United Arab Republic said the Syrian jets were sent after Hussein's plane to "escort" him out of Syrian airspace. The spokesman denied that any attempt was made to attack the King's plane.

Hope Diamond Becomes Property Of Smithsonian

Washington — (UPI) — The United States has acquired the fabulous Hope diamond for permanent display in a museum known as the nation's attic.

The deep blue stone-linked perhaps by chance with tragedy for more than three centuries — was turned over to the Smithsonian Institution by New York jeweler Harry Winston.

Although the 44 1/2-carat gem is valued at close to $1 million, Winston is giving it to the federal government for nothing. He hopes it will further the establishment of a great national jewel collection similar to Britain's crown jewels.

Winston says he has been virtually trouble-free since he acquired the Hope diamond in 1949 from the estate of Evelyn Walsh McLean, the late Washington socialite who owned the diamond for 40 years. He scoffed at the gem's alleged curse.

Life of Misfortune Yet Mrs. McLean's life was one misfortune on top of another after her husband bought the stone in 1911 for $180,000.

Two McLean children died violent deaths and McLean himself died in a mental institution.

Other owners of the Hope diamond who contributed to its tragic legend: —French adventurer Jean Tavernier, who smuggled it out of India in 1642 and was killed by a pack of wild dogs. —King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, beheaded in the French Revolution.

—Turkish Sultan Abdoul Hamid, who lost his throne and control of the diamond without getting a cent for it.

A tour was made by the Prospect Garden club recently. The tour was conducted by Mr. Ressler, chief ranger from Union Creek forest service.

The next Garden club meeting will be held Nov. 18 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Estlin on Laurelhurst rd. Topic to be discussed will be "mushrooms." A guest speaker will address the group.
