

Investigators Seek Cause of Tanker Crash

Savannah, Ga. — (UPI) — Air Force investigators sought today to determine what caused a loaded KC97 Stratotanker to crash in a residential area Wednesday, killing all 11 crewmen.

The big craft, attached to the 308th Air Refueling Squadron at Hunter Air Force Base here, slammed into the only parking lot at a residential subdivision about 10 miles southeast of here. It had just taken off on a routine training mission.

It was believed that one or more of the plane's four engines failed.

The plane was burning before it hit, witnesses said, and it blew up in several thunderous explosions as it ground across the lot and into two empty houses. C. E. Williams, who was working in his garden near the scene, was burned and at last report was in fair condition at a hospital.

One Resident Burned

Another resident, Charles Wilson, was burned while trying to put out the fire which had spread to his yard. His condition also was reported as fair.

One witness, Lawrence Johnson, said that "fire was coming out (of the plane) before it hit."

An unidentified telephone lineman said the plane barely missed the pole on which he was working, and that an object that fell from the plane almost hit him.

Wreckage was scattered over about five blocks, and one of the homes it struck was demolished.

Identify Dead

Lt. George Muelich, information officer at Hunter, said the Stratotankers normally carry a crew of six, but that five observers were aboard on this flight.

The dead men were identified as Lt. Harold G. Laffen, 26, aircraft commander, of New York City; Lt. Freddie Levine, 25, navigator, Charleston, S. C.; M. Sgt. Warren E. Martin, 29, flight engineer, Yakima, Wash.; A-1c Malcolm Rogers, 22, Prattville, Ala.; M. Sgt. Curtis W. King, 37,

Hatfield Confers With Californians

Los Angeles — (UPI) — Gov. elect Mark Hatfield of Oregon conferred with southern California Republican leaders Wednesday at an informal luncheon at the California club.

Hatfield, who spent short vacation in the Los Angeles area after his election, was the featured speaker Wednesday night at a Palladium meeting in observance of the 20th anniversary of the Forest Home Christian Conference Center. The center at Redlands is a retreat house operated by the Presbyterian church. In his talk, Hatfield dwelt on the necessity for "true religious faith." He said any nation should pride itself "on the spiritual sines of its people rather than on material wealth or military strength."

Three Killed in Crash Near Albany

Albany, Ore. — (UPI) — Three persons were killed in a head-on collision about 21 miles south of here Wednesday evening.

Yeager, Virgil David Stitt, 20, Salem, a passenger in Yeager's car and Temple's wife, Hazel, 45, were killed. Temple was taken to an Albany hospital along with Robin Miller, 18, Shedd, who also was in Yeager's car. Both were described as in "critical" condition.

Temple is operator of the Washington hotel in Portland.
