

Washington Upset Of Bears Forecast

By HAL WOOD
 San Francisco - (UPI) - Saturday's pikskin picks: Washington over California: Our upset special of the week. Mud is predicted for Seattle on Saturday - and those Joe Kapp pitchouts, the bread-and-butter of the California attack, are going to be mighty slippery to handle. Huskies will be up for this one as it will throw the Pacific Coast conference Rose Bowl race into complete confusion. By 7.
 UCLA over Oregon: Bruins finally get the boys working together. They could have whipped California last week with a few more breaks. Webfoots let down after defeat by Washington. By 2.
 Oregon State over Stanford: Beavers have the speed to cope with the slow-moving Stanford backs. Tackle Ted Bates probably will spend most of the day in the Indian backfield. By 20.

 Washington State over College of Pacific: Cougars are making one of the great late-season come backs in western college football. Passing attack should out-score Tigers and WSC line will be good enough to hold Dick Bass to reasonable yardage. By 7.
 Idaho over Utah State: The Vandals have been knocked around plenty, but they should be able to hurdle this one. By 6.
 San Jose State over Fresno Spartans, up-and-down club of the West, should handle the Bulldogs the way they did Idaho. But off past records you can't tell: Cal Poly to beat San Jose State; Fresno State beat Cal Poly. So Fresno should be favored. We'll take the Spartans. By 23.
 Also: Chico State over San Francisco State, Cal Aggies over Sacramento State, Hawaii over Humboldt State, Whittier over Oregon Tech, Pepperdine over San Diego U., Los Angeles State over Long Beach State, Cal Poly over San Diego State, Occidental over Cal Tech and Cal Poly of Pomona over Redlands.

SF Giants Blamed for LA Trouble

By HAL WOOD
 San Francisco - (UPI) - Outfielder Gino Cimoli blamed the San Francisco Giants and an "all-team slump" for the sad showing of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1958 - and at the same time predicted today that the club would be battling for the National league crown next year.
 "Did you ever hear of every man on a team having a bad year the same season?" asked Cimoli, who winters here. "Well, that's just what happened to us last season."
 "One in a while it happens in football - for one day. Such as last Sunday when the Rams beat the Forty Niners 56-7. But we had a bad 'day' all year."
Couldn't Top Giants
 "At that we would have been okay if we could have beaten the San Francisco club. My gosh! They beat us 16 games and we won only six from them. If we could have beaten them as many times as we beat Milwaukee - 14 - we would have been right up there in the race."
 The Dodgers finished in seventh place, 21 games off the pace.

Make or Break For LA's Rams

Los Angeles - (UPI) - The Los Angeles Rams fly east today for a "make or break" three game invasion that will determine if the club is in the running for the Western conference of the NFL.
 Coach Sid Gillman warned his players as they prepared to enplane for Green Bay that their only thoughts should be beating the Packers.
 "If we look beyond Green Bay, they'll murder us," Gillman said. "Green Bay is a much better club than its record shows. It has some great pass receivers and a break-away threat in Al Carmichael who has hurt us every time we've met them."
 The Rams on their eastern invasion meet Baltimore and the Chicago Cardinals as well as the Packers before returning home for their final two games against the Colts and Packers.

Duck, Beaver Clubs Slight Favorites

United Press International
 Oregon and Oregon State football teams are both out of the state Saturday for the only time during the regular season and both are slight favorites to win.
 Coach Tommy Prothro's Oregon State Beavers are a one-touchdown choice over Stanford at Palo Alto in the day's televised game. Oregon State must win this one to stay in the running for the Rose Bowl.
 Oregon also is a one-touchdown favorite in its game against UCLA at Los Angeles. It may be the last Oregon appearance in Los Angeles for a long time since both UCLA and Southern Cal are not on future Webfoot schedules.
 Fair Health

Oregon State is back in fairly good health for the Stanford game although tailback Grimm Mason probably will miss the game. End Jerry Doman also is doubtful with a still-healing broken hand and a twisted ankle.
 End Ron Stover and guard Joe Schaffeld, who have been out with injuries for Oregon, made the trip south but it was doubtful if either would be ready to play against UCLA.
 Herm McKinney, the number two left halfback, will miss the game. He was called to Portland because of the death of his father.
 Oregon and Oregon State meet at Corvallis a week from Saturday and Oregon has a televised game with Miami Dec. 6 at Miami.
