CASE CLOSED Fort Dodge, Iowa - (UP) - A woman telephoned police to demand they "do something" about the bugs around a street light in front of her house. Told there was nothing they could do, the woman hung up but called back to say that she'd taken care of the matter herself - by shattering the street light.

SUGGESTION APPROVED Tampa, Fla. - (UP) - When peace justice Marion Hendry suggested the "whipping post" as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency, he received comment from all over the country - most of it agreeing.

SURPLUS CROP Storrs, Conn. - (UP) - The University of Connecticut reports receiving an urgent request for rabbits from a farmer in Honduras who raised 1,000 heads of lettuce with the agent. The farmer needs the rabbits because none of his neighbors will eat the lettuce.

SCHOOL NEWS

Jackson School

By Carol Longan and Carolyn Cole The Jackson school students have been busy this past week in many activities. Among these activities were the Jackson school open house between 7 and 9 p.m. Nov. 12. The parents of the students went to the teachers' rooms to see how the children were doing their work at school. Coffee and cookies were served by the executive board and fifth grade room mothers.

For the bulletin board in the lower hall Mrs. Ruth Hawkins and her pupils made a mural to welcome the parents to open house. It was a picture of the school with parents entering and leaving the school.

The upper hall was decorated by Jan King, Connie Bittle, Karen Maxson, and Linda Cosler. It was a letter to the parents made from green yarn.

The pictures of the students that were taken last month have now arrived and were given to the children to take home. There is a picture of Jackson school on the cover and inside it a picture of the student's class and above it a place for autographs. Also with them came eight wallet size photographs and one big picture of themselves.

At Jackson school this year there were several students that were picked for honor band and orchestra. They were recommended by their teacher. The children in Jackson school that are in honor orchestra are Katie Cook, Paula Harper, Connie Bittle, Carolyn Cole, and Carol Longan. The children in honor band are Roy Gross, Victor Snyder, David Williams, Lois Jacobs, Catherine Watson and Bill Warren.

Hedrick Junior High

By Nancy Duncan Hedrick students were overjoyed because of Hedrick's 13 to 6 defeat of McLoughlin and their jubilation continued during the past week after the Hornet's triumph on Friday, Nov. 7. Hedrick rejoiced over its first victory of the four encounters with their cross-town cousins.

A tremendous defensive stand by the Hornets in the closing seconds of the game insured the win when McLoughlin drove to within inches of a goal.

Hedrick students attended the Medford High school band benefit smorgasbord Friday, Nov. 14, at the Big Y super market. The benefit was sponsored by the Southern Oregon Salesmen's club. The "all you can eat" offer for 25 cents did not go unheeded, according to reports by returning students.

Apprehension covered the faces of many Hedrick students Thursday, Nov. 13, as most of the students received immunization shots from Dr. A. Erin Merkel and members of his staff from the Jackson county health department. Hedrick PTA members helped with administrative details.

A large number of Hedrick girls who had shown pale faces and tears were shamefaced as they saw the calm and fearless first graders, who were brought to the school, receive their shots.

Warmer clothing was sported by students as fall gave us lower temperatures during the past week and Thursday's rain caused students to lose little time in getting to school.

Jackson County Teachers' institute was held at Hedrick Monday, Nov. 10, with nearly 400 teachers and administrators attending.

Many interesting bulletin boards depicted various items of interest such as education week, book week, and Oregon's centennial.

Comments and applause by teachers showed that they enjoyed the musical selections offered by the Medford High school orchestra and director, John Drysdale, and the McLoughlin Junior High school mixed chorus directed by Ray Lewis.

A chapter sweetheart was chosen and given an FFA sweetheart jacket. Something new was added to the dance. It was a box social which was held during the intermission.

General chairman for the dance was Don Ross assisted by the FFA executive council. Curtis Payne was in charge of decorations; Mike Redmond, refreshments; Lee Roy Chastine, tickets; and Gary Dunsberry and Don Denning, publicity.

Also held Nov. 14 was Western Day, which was sponsored by the FFA. Any student who wished to do so dressed up in western style clothes. A contest was held and "the best dressed couple" was chosen and given a free ticket to the barn dance.

Vernola Hutchinson was chosen Girl of the Month for November. Vernola, a senior, is student body secretary. She was the second girl of the month. Arvela Proom was the first one.

Sophomore Dave Foote took first place at the district Soil Conservation public speaking contest held recently. His topic was "Forest Conservation."

McLoughlin Junior High

By Joel Gregory American Education Week was celebrated at McLoughlin last week. Attractive bulletin board displays in the main hallway and in the rooms marked the event. The climax of the week was Thursday when the McLoughlin Parent-Teacher association sponsored open house.

Parents reported to the school at 7 p.m. for a modified version of the child's schedule. After registration the parents went to the boy's gym for an assembly. The McLoughlin orchestra entertained with a program under the direction of Elmer Ayres. Then the parents attended each of their child's classes on bell schedule.

The teachers presented information about each of the child's classes while the parents were in session. The girls physical education department gave a demonstration of skills on the trampoline. A social hour was held in the cafeteria where refreshments were served. Approximately 700 parents attended.

City school spirit invaded McLoughlin Friday as students were transported by bus to the Big Y where a smorgasbord was held with the money donated to the senior high school band fund for its trip to the Shrine game in San Francisco.

Notebooks and study sheets have been much in evidence as students were preparing for nine-week final exams. The examinations began Thursday and will be completed Monday.

Don Biegler, feature; Joel Gregory, news; Steve Bartlett, sports; and Jo Ann Johnson, exchange; have been named editors for the next edition of Junior Quill.

As their project for National Book Week, the Library club has been collecting donations for CARE book packages. A total of $31.53 was GRATEFUL THANKS Being a patient at Sacred Heart hospital for many weeks, I especially desire to express my sincere thanks to all who were so kind and thoughtful to me during my stay there and for the many cards, calls, flowers and their sincere prayers for my recovery.

May God bless each of you. F. W. Richter Grants Pass, Ore.

Crater High School

By DARLENE TOMLINSON November 14 at 8 p.m., the annual Future Farmers of America barn dance was held in the vocational agriculture shop. The Stardusters, a Western band, provided music for the dance.

A chapter sweetheart was chosen and given an FFA sweetheart jacket. Something new was added to the dance. It was a box social which was held during the intermission.

General chairman for the dance was Don Ross assisted by the FFA executive council. Curtis Payne was in charge of decorations; Mike Redmond, refreshments; Lee Roy Chastine, tickets; and Gary Dunsberry and Don Denning, publicity.

Also held Nov. 14 was Western Day, which was sponsored by the FFA. Any student who wished to do so dressed up in western style clothes. A contest was held and "the best dressed couple" was chosen and given a free ticket to the barn dance.

Other winners in the contest were Leon Small, Phoenix, PTA, second; Pete Melstead, Crater FFA, third; and Doug Davis, fourth, representing Crater's speech department.

Dave will compete in an area contest at Crater.

Nathan Barry, sophomore, was chosen the editor of the new FFA paper published monthly by Crater FFA students. It is sent to adult farmers in the Central Point area. The paper will include articles ranging from farm buildings to veterinary medicine and will be 15 pages in length. The first issue is expected to be published some time in November.

Another skating party will be held Nov. 20 at the Grants Pass skating rink. It is to be sponsored by Girls' league and the price will be 75 cents. An additional 25 cents must be paid if shoe skates are wanted.
