REMOVE WASTE-NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's a secret millions have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the wonderfully different chewing-gum laxative.

FEEN-A-MINT is different because you chew it. It's different, too, because it removes mostly waste—not good food! FEEN-A-MINT does not work in the stomach, where food is being digested. That's why it does not take away a lot of the good food you need for energy.

Doctors know that FEEN-A-MINT works chiefly in the lower bowel...removes mostly waste, not good food! And it's non-irritating, too.

So to feel like a million, chew delicious FEEN-A-MINT. 16 tablets, 37¢—also small and economy sizes.

BACKACHE & NERVE TENSION
SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION

NEW YORK—Special: Thanks to new, scientific laboratory formulation, thousands of men and women now escape feeling old, tired, irritable and depressed from losing sleep and worrying about "Bladder Weakness"—(Getting Up Nights or Bed Wetting), due to common Kidney or Bladder Irritations, which often result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervousness. In such cases New Improved Cystex usually gives quick, calming relief by combating irritating germs in acid urine; and by relaxing, analgesic pain relief. Over a billion Cystex tablets used—proves safety for young and old. Get Laboratory Tested and Certified Cystex at druggist today. See how much better you feel tomorrow. Money back guarantee.

Indian Chief! Henrietta Towne

This is a good game to play when space is limited and you cannot run around. One player is chosen to be the "Indian Chief" and everyone must imitate his gestures. When he changes an action, all the others follow his lead. One player remains out of the room while the Chief is being chosen. He returns to watch everyone carefully and tries to guess who they are copying. In other words—who is the Indian Chief? If he guesses correctly, the Chief is the next to leave the room and a new Chief is chosen.

WHAT ANIMAL IS IT?

Ruth Dixon

Just like knights of old, this little creature wears armor. Though he is only two feet long and weighs only 15 pounds, he knows just how to take care of himself. His back and sides are covered with nine bands of jointed bony shells so he can tuck himself up into a hard ball. Then his enemies are puzzled as to just how to kill him. With his short legs and powerful claws, my, how he can dig! He digs at night in dry soil for insects, roots, spiders, snails, and worms which he licks up with his tongue. He teaches his quadruplets to do this, too.

This kind of animal is found in Texas and Louisiana. A close relation lives in Central and South America. He and his family are good to eat, some people think, and their bony backs make fine baskets to sell to tourists. What do we call them?

COLORING CONTEST

Aug. 24, 1958

SOLUTION: Chipmunk or ground squirrel.

COLOR: Reddish-brown coat marked with black and white or buff stripes. White underparts.

WINNERS: Kathryn Smith, Derry, N. H.; Lonny Bannowsky, Altus, Okla.; Judy Segebarth, Waterloo, Iowa; Douglas Dutt, Lafayette, La.

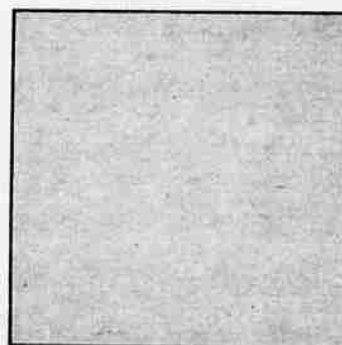

Ten Little Indians Ida M. Pardue

Ten or this game you'll need three Indian-head nickels and some pencils and paper for keeping score. Players take turns shaking the three nickels in a cupped fist onto a table (or the floor). Players tally the number of nickels that land heads up. The first player to get ten (or more) wins the game. For a party, the player with the most "Indians" after everyone has had an equal number of shakes wins.

Feather Float

Regina Sauro

3 inch square

Make five feathers for each player (see diagrams). Use colored paper, or else color the feathers a different color for each player, using crayons or paint—five red, five yellow, five blue, and so on.

The players take turns. They stand over an empty oatmeal carton, cottage cheese carton, or similar container. Holding a feather 12 inches above the carton, they drop it. It isn't as easy as it sounds, and if no one gets a feather in the carton the first time around, try once again.

The player who gets the most feathers in the box wins.
