

Largest Selection Of Gifts Handy For Auto Owner

The person who's proud of his auto will be delighted to receive a gift along the motor-ing line. And the array of items to choose from is extra big.

Quite inexpensive, novel and nice are packs that attach to the visor and gold glasses, cigarettes, tissues, etc., all within reach... or a tissue dispenser to be placed under the dashboard... along with trays to make snacking in the car more convenient.

Because he is proud of the auto, spruce up gifts are always better than good. The whirling car-washing brush that attaches to a regular garden hose is the first consideration... but how about a water bucket filled with jars and cans of cleaners and waxes, scrub brushes, a full-skinned oil-tanned chamois, and a can of spray-on touch-up enamel for those tiny scrapes and nicks on the car.

Sidewall Disks
White rubber tire sidewall disks can be bought to slip on right over regular black tires.

For safety's sake, how about a directional signal kit or seat belts!

For the man "on the road" here are some real-glad-to-get gift ideas: a compass which might come in handy someday... roof-top luggage carriers get the extra baggage out of the way... a lantern or flashlight is a "must"... garment bags and clothes hanging equipment are always favored by the man on the go.

An electric shaver adapter and a radio are two more gifts the moving motorist will go for. And, if he must leave the car parked on the street for any length of time, a locking gas tank cap could save money and inconvenience one day!

Check your nearest auto supply store for these and many more marvelous motor-ing gifts... your favorite service station carries many good items, too.

Little mince pies with a star cut from the center of the crust. A small red candle set ablaze in the middle of the star!

Making Candles Can Be Less Expensive

Making your candles is not only a lot of fun, it can be less expensive than buying the ready-made ones.

Here's how to do it: First, place a mixture of old candle stubs and paraffin in an empty tin can (a shortening can is good) and bend to form a spout.

Now add crayons or oil paints for color. As the candle stubs melt, remove the wicks and save those long enough for reuse.

Use ingenuity in selecting molds... a glass with fluted sides, cottage cheese or milk cartons, gelatin molds or baby food cans. Check your home (and garage or basement) for other possibilities.

Attack Wick
Attach the wick if you do not have enough old ones, they are inexpensive to buy) to a pencil at one end and a paper clip at the other. Dangle the wick and clip in the center of the container holding steadily by the pencil. Pour the wax into the mold, detach pencil from wick and let candle stand until hard.

Then, remove candles from molds by dipping them in hot water. Candles in waxed containers, such as milk cartons, are easily removed by cutting away the container. Cut the wick to desired length.

There are an infinite number of ways to decorate the candle... adhere colorful stickers, drip gay-hued wax from another candle down the sides, stick sequins and fake jewels around the sides in a pattern or add fluffy "icing."

Accomplish Later
This is how to accomplish the later-cool some wax until it begins to jelly, then whip with a fork until frothy. Apply to the base candle with a table knife, just as you would ice a cake.

If you want a candle of a size that is too small to stand up by itself and too big to fit in any of your holders, there is a way to make a base simply, without buying a thing. Just take three forks that you will not be needing and stick them face side up into the candle evenly around the base.

The forks will rest steadily on the "heel" and tip of the handle. Then cover the forks with evergreen, cotton "snow" or any other decoration you wish.

Contour Chair Good Gift for Father

Jingle, jingle, jingle, what to give Kris Kringle! Since Dad is the guy who loves, counsels and provides for his family all year 'round, he is more appropriate than a real Santa Claus — so, what gift of "comfort" for him.

Present him with his very own easy chair, or contour chair — to be reserved exclusively for him. Then, at his feet you might put a pair of cozy slippers, handsome robe, and at his side — a tobacco canister, pipe rack and a good reading lamp.

New Small Appliances Blossom Forth As Christmas Presents

"Come out of the kitchen..." This is featured by many of America's finest appliance makers, and serves the double purpose of reducing the price on individual appliances, plus making it a cinch to feature an attractive, modern "cook center" anywhere.

It's also a wonderful way for a family to pool their funds and give mom the gift of a lifetime—a heat control plus a complete set of appliances to go with it!

Whether home is a one-room kitchenette apartment, or a rambling ranch type, electrical appliances fit the bill!

Who wouldn't welcome an electric percolator, Dutch oven, fry pan, sauce pan, skillet, or deep-fryer!

A waffle-grill combination is a terrific double-hit gift! With this single appliance, she (or he) can fry bacon and eggs, pancakes, toast sandwiches, even make waffles!

The new automatic griddle servers are another two-bagger! You can prepare a complete hot meal on the large cooking area, then place it right on the table for deluxe serving!

Steam and dry irons, toasters, automatic corn poppers, bun warmers and the newest hot 'n' cold servers are other gifts that rate "thank-you's" straight from the heart!

Fun-to-use rotisseries are available in many sizes, and make baking, grilling and broiling a thrilling experience. And, there's the ever-useful blender which also purées vegetables. An electric mixer whether large and complete with bowls, or the smaller hand-type is another "I want" at the top of every homemaker's list. As you can see, appliances are gracious to give, heavenly to receive, and rate top consideration for Christmas.

Really new! an imported cream nail polish remover that conditions nails as it removes polish. It also serves as a base coat, softens cuticles and has a most pleasant scent. Packaged handily in a tube, it can be carried in the purse. The name is "Heluan" and may be found in all leading department stores.
