

TWA Strike Ends After 16 Days

Kansas City — The International Association of Machinists has ended its 16-day strike against Trans-World Airlines and the company planned to resume most of its domestic flights by 9:01 p.m. PST today.

Cliff Miller, general chairman of District 142 of the union, instructed all strike chairmen to remove pickets immediately. He said the nationwide union membership had voted overwhelmingly to accept a contract agreement which union and company negotiators, urged on by federal mediators, reached on Wednesday.

A company spokesman said that International TWA service would be flown by Tuesday. In Kansas City, another spokesman said that most workers would be called back today. TWA manned its ticket offices Wednesday, shortly after the negotiators agreed on the pact.
