

Mother of Year Selected By Eagle Point Jayceetes

Eagle Point — Mrs. Edward R. Chamberlain was announced "Mother of the Year" for Eagle Point at the recent second annual tea given by Eagle Point Jayceetes at the Grange hall. Mrs. Chamberlain was presented an engraved silver plate.

Mrs. Chamberlain, co-owner and operator of Town and Country Dress Shop in Eagle Point, lives on a farm nearby with Mr. Chamberlain. She has eight grown children, four boys and four girls, who live in southern Oregon and northern California. The honored woman has been active in various civic and community groups for many years.

Mrs. Chamberlain was chosen by a board of judges from outside the community using only a list of qualifications and without knowing the contestants.

Mrs. Chamberlain was chosen from among six women whose names were proposed by groups. The winner was chosen by a board of judges from outside the community using numbered lists of qualifications without the candidates' names.

The candidates and their sponsors were Mrs. Charlotte Van Scoy, Eagle Point Garden club; Mrs. James Lusk, the Missionary society of Eagle Point Community Bible church; Mrs. Chamberlain, Eagle Point Home Extension unit; Mrs. Ray Briggs, Shady Cove Bethel, International Order of Job's Daughters; Mrs. Glenn D. Hale, Eagle Point Lions' auxiliary and Mrs. Lester Wertz, Eagle Point Grange Home Economics club.

Maynard Hadley sang for the group, accompanied by Mrs. Keith Krambeal, and The Personalities of the Eagle Point High school, Duke Wild, Bill Pfeifer, Neil Cooper and Ben Nork sang three selections.

Mrs. Bert Simmons was mistress of ceremonies. She presented Mrs. Richard Stratton, president of the Central Point Jayceetes, and Mrs. Charles Henry, president of the Medford Jayceetes. A gift certificate from Town and Country Dress shop was presented to Mrs. Otis Hill.

During the afternoon Mrs. Tom VanEtten, Mrs. Gail
