

Captain Richard S. Roberts, United States Navy member of the Representative's Council, South East Asia Treaty Organization, left Medford Thursday night after spending several days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Roberts, 32 Rose avenue. Captain Roberts has been in Bangkok, Thailand, headquarters for SEATO, and is pictured holding a bracelet of the niello jewelry for which the artisans of Thailand are famous.

SEATO Representative Visits Medford Parents

The South-East Asia Treaty Organization — known as SEATO, is accomplishing its purpose and is operating efficiently in the opinion of Captain Richard S. Roberts, who has for the past two years represented the United States Navy on the SEATO Representatives' Council in Bangkok, left for Texas Christmas night after spending several days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Roberts, 32 Rose avenue.

SEATO, an organization comparable to the better known North Atlantic Treaty Organization, was formed in 1954 with the signing of the Manila pact. Signatory nations are Pakistan, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, France, Great Britain and the United States.

Purpose of SEATO is to prevent the spread of Communism in the Southeast Asia area, both by military force or subversion, and the theme adopted at the signing of the Manila Pact was "Greater security through greater unity."

The council to which Captain Roberts was assigned is made up of military, naval and other representatives of the eight nations, and has its headquarters in Thailand.

In the second annual report published by SEATO, it was said that the organization has enjoyed a "quiet and steady development" and that "SEATO is a bulwark against aggression in all its forms and enables the peoples of the area which it serves to live their daily life in an atmosphere of freedom from fear."

With this absence from fear, the countries have been able to advance their economic, social and cultural development, the report states.

Another report of SEATO points out that under the treaty, and its program of self help and mutual aid "all member states have registered significant progress in their economic development." SEATO also outlines military aid programs and has a coordinated plan for the use of each nation's military forces in case of an emergency. It also said that progress has been made in countering communist subversion although "this remains a major threat to the area."

It is pointed out that the Manila pact and SEATO in no way conflict with the United Nations and that it is complementary to other security treaties in the area. Other nations may join the pact subject to the agreement of the nations now members.

Captain Roberts joined his wife in Texas and the two will continue from there to Washington D.C., where he will be given a new assignment.

Child Specialist Advises Parents Not To Worry

Ann Arbor, Mich. —(UPI)— Parents who worry about making mistakes in bringing up their children can take heart from the advice of a professor of child development.

"Parents are too scared of making mistakes," says Byron Hughes, of the University of Michigan.

"It's perfectly natural to make a certain number of mistakes. If the bulk of family living is good and happy, you can relax and quit worrying about the petty details," he said.

The father of six children, Hughes added: "Sometimes you get so annoyed with your children, you really feel like disciplining them. Go ahead. If you say 'no' when your youngster wants to go to a show, that should mean that he doesn't go."

Hughes often meets parents who ask him, "What should I do when my child doesn't show proper respect?" His answer: "Insist on it."

Parents should recognize that children are human and likely to be ornery now and then, he said. And children should sense that parents can be cranky, too.

Hughes added that parents might aim to be right about 65 per cent of the time, and forget about their errors. "If you're not afraid of mistakes, you'll ease off and make fewer of them," he said.

Four Generations Of Family Here

Four generations of one family are meeting for the first time in Medford this week end.

Navy Ensign and Mrs. William P. Cuhane and daughter, Jennifer, Corpus Christi, Texas, arrived earlier this month to visit Mrs. Cuhane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Zier, 2217 Dellwood avenue, and Mr. Cuhane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cuhane, 713 West 13th street.

Saturday Mrs. C. W. Cuhane, Grand Junction, Colo., arrived in the valley to visit her son and daughter-in-law,

It was also the first time she saw her only great-grandchild. The Texas family will leave for the Southwest Wednesday. The Colorado visitor will remain in Medford for a longer visit.

Guests Here

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Hendrix and children, 953 Washburn lane, have as house-guests this week Mr. Hendrix's mother, Mrs. Nora Hendrix, his grandfather, Ben Struthers, and Mr. and Mrs. Curt Horner and family, all of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Johnston, who were married on Christmas eve, 1908, in Medford, were honored on their golden wedding anniversary last week. Mrs. Johnston is the former Elma Eads. Their children and grandchildren held an open house in honor of the couple. (Landis photo)

Johnstons Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Johnston, 121 Crater Lake avenue, were honored December 24 on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The Johnstons were married December 24, 1908, in Medford. Mrs. Johnston is the former Elma Eads and moved to the valley with her parents from Minneapolis, Kansas, in 1901. Mr. Johnston came from Spokane, Wash., in 1904 and is a native of Manning, Iowa.

Present for the event Wednesday were the children of the couple. They are Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnston and daughters, Cynthia and Christine, Klamath Falls; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Johnston, and Karen and David, Medford; Russ Johnston, Portland; and Mrs. Vivian Dunn and daughter, Judith Ann, Pittsburg, Calif.

Approximately 25 friends visited during the open house. Mrs. Johnston wore a blue silk dress for the occasion and a white orchid corsage, a gift from the grandchildren.

Society Members Give Yule Party At Nursing Home

Christmas carols were sung Christmas Eve by members of the Southern Oregon Dental Assistants Society at the Milledge Nursing Home. The carolers were accompanied by Mrs. Fred Milledge at the organ.

The annual project included the distributing of gifts by Santa Claus, Byron Bullock, assistant supply officer at Camp White. The gifts were provided by members of the society.

Assisting the society with the project were Mann's and J. C. Penney stores.

Bulkin Family Has Open House

Shady Cove — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bulkin and daughter, Natasha, held a holiday open house last Sunday at their home on Far Hills ranch.

About 50 guests called during the afternoon and evening. A buffet dinner was served.

Institute Offers Four-Step Budget

New York —(UPI)— Bugaboos of budget plans — bookkeeping and paperwork — have been reduced to a minimum in a four-step budget suggested by the Institute of Life Insurance.

—List the family's annual take-home pay, plus any other income that comes in during the year, such as dividends and social security checks. Divide the total by 52 to arrive at the family's weekly income.

—List the family's fixed obligations for the year, including rent or mortgage payments, utilities, charitable contributions, life insurance and other insurance premiums, an estimate of clothing costs and payments on loans.

Divide by 52.

—Decide how much the family will want for its annual emergency fund for medical bills, household repairs and so on. If a goal of $200 a year is set, it would take a weekly set aside of $4.

—Add the weekly averages of fixed obligations and the necessary emergency funds and subtract the total from the average of weekly income. The remainder is the sum available each week for food, allowances, running the house, and recreation.

To make the plan work, keep a close watch on expenditures at first. Jot down the smallest sums spent. That way a family knows where the money goes and members can adjust their spending accordingly.

Best Foot Forward

East Lansing, Mich. —(UPI)— There's a secret to buying shoes says Dorothy Erler, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State university.

Shoes with straps across the ankle tend to make legs appear larger, while shoes in one color and texture make feet and legs seem more slender. Shoes that have a buckle or decoration on the top make a long foot appear shorter. Look in a full length mirror when buying shoes, Miss Erler said.

Caroling Party Held in Phoenix

Phoenix — The Anchor and Chain, couples club of First Presbyterian church, Phoenix, held a caroling party on Tuesday and during the evening distributed Christmas baskets. The event, a combination of caroling and hayrides ended at the church for refreshments.

The youth fellowship group had a Christmas caroling party Christmas eve with the group gathering at the home of Miss Theresa Elzea, 302 Vancouver avenue, Medford.

The Sunday school of the church presented the annual Christmas program December 21. A capacity crowd attended the event.

Glamorous Custard

Melt 24 large marshmallows in a cup of milk over the simmer burner. Beat 1 egg until foamy. Add one-third cup of milk and stir the mixture into the melted marshmallows. Cook until mixture coats the spoon—about 3 to 5 minutes. Remove from the flame and add vanilla, rum or almond flavoring and one-quarter cup diced candied fruits. Pour into a mold and chill until firm. Serves four.

Knights Conduct Lodge Ceremony

The rank of page was conferred upon Roy O. Kadin and Robert L. Madden, both of Medford, at the meeting last Monday night of Talisman Lodge, Knights of Pythias. Earl Lockett served refreshments following the ceremony.

There will be no meeting Monday, December 29. The next scheduled meeting will be Monday, January 5 at 8 p.m. when the rank of esquire will be conferred according to Don Lacy, chancellor commander of the lodge.

Griffin Creek Unit Postpones Meeting

Griffin Creek Home Extension unit has postponed the January meeting. It will be held Friday, January 9 at 11 a.m. at the Griffin Creek Grange hall.

Woman Chemist Urges Others To Enter Field

Atlanta —(UPI)— Dr. Evageline T. Papageorge, associate dean of Emory University's School of Medicine, sees a bright future for women in biochemistry.

Salaries range from $3,000 to $10,000 a year, depending on experience and education. The opportunities, according to Dr. Papageorge, are in research, industry and education.

She advises any young woman interested in such a scientific career to "be sincere in the desire to succeed, industrious and reasonably intelligent."

Thirty years ago, when Dr. Papageorge started in biochemistry, there were relatively few women in the field. She said:

"Men seemed to doubt that women were willing to devote their time and energy to science. In addition, the men objected to women, suspecting that they were trying to get by on their femininity. But the picture has changed considerably in recent years."

Dr. Papageorge, once named Atlanta's "Woman of the Year in Education," was the first fulltime faculty member of Emory University's School of Medicine.

Below-Counter Space Convenient To Use

East Lansing, Mich. —(UPI)— If you have to get down on your hands and knees to hunt for pots and pans at the back of low cabinets, get your husband to build drawers.

So says Coral Morris, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State university.

Miss Morris said drawers make below-counter storage space convenient and can be built into almost any kitchen. Shallow drawers are ideal for items that lie flat, and deeper drawers will hold pans, casseroles, strainers, and lids.

To hold things in place at an angle for easy reaching, use plywood space dividers in deep drawers. Put dividers in at a slant—about a 60 to 65 angle. Slots on the inside of the drawer sides will hold dividers in place and allow them to slip in and out for cleaning and adjusting. Space the dividers according to the items stored.

Nylon glides make the drawers roll out at the touch of a finger-tip. A ready-made assembly for glides is available in most building supply stores.

Continental Touch

New York —(UPI)— Add a continental touch to dinner with peas cooked in the Spanish manner.

Saute 2 or 3 sliced scallions in 2 tablespoons olive oil. Add 1 package frozen peas, unthawed, and cover saucpan tightly. After 2 or 3 minutes, break up frozen block with fork, season with dash of nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons sherry, preferably a nutty amontillado type. Continue cooking, tightly covered, about 6 minutes, or until peas are tender. Do not add water.
