

SHADY COVE-TRAIL Holiday Visitors Many

By EVALYN P. WATSON
Shady Cove-Trail — The Christmas holidays are over and during that special season many local residents have entertained relatives and friends at their homes, while others have made trips to be with their loved ones at this time of family reunions.

For Mr. and Mrs. Shirel Cuddy of Trail this Christmas will long be remembered as the time that they and their family made a trip to the Harry Holt farm at Creswell, Ore., where they found waiting for them a two-month old baby girl of Korean parentage, whom they adopted into their family.

Mrs. Cuddy reports that the baby whom they have named Sherri Beth, is very sturdy and healthy and already weighs over 10 pounds. The baby was one of the children brought over from the Holt orphanage in Korea. The Cuddy's have one daughter of their own, Patricia, 12, and two other adopted children, David, 11 and Marilou, 3, both of Japanese-American parentage.

Among residents who took trips during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fagale of Shady Cove, who made a trip to San Diego to spend Christmas with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller. They also visited with another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Panich of Santa Monica. Mrs. Miller is the former Marjorie Donovan and is well known in the area.

The Miller's are also the parents of a new baby girl, their sixth child. Mrs. Panich returned to Shady Cove with the Fagale's for a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wheeler and children, Jim and Diane, of Shady Cove spent Christmas in Sacramento, where they visited with Mrs. Wheeler's mother, Mrs. Florence Morris, and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Page and other relatives.

Mrs. Thelma Reinning of Shady Cove made a trip to Bellevue, Wash., where she visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyes and friends and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown of Shady Cove spent Christmas in Grants Pass at the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mizer. Others present for the family Christmas reunion at the Mizer's were the Browns' son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown and family of Medford and Mrs. Bill Brown's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Hunt, of Concord, Calif.

Mrs. Hunt, a former resident of Shady Cove, is spending a few days visiting with Mrs. Andrew Brown at Shady Cove. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown also made a trip to Salem during the holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Reith of Shady Cove spent Christmas with their daughter and husband, Dr. and Mrs. Victor J. Westover in Bend, Ore.

Other family members at the Westovers' for Christmas were another daughter and family of the Reith's, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Ackerman of Woodburn, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Storm of Shady Cove spent Christmas visiting with Mr. Storm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Long in Woodburn, Ore. The Longs formerly lived in Shady Cove and owned the Valley Supply company.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Trusty of Elk Creek, Trail spent New Years visiting with Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Wilson of Oakridge, Ore. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Watson of Shady Cove during the Christmas holidays were Mrs. Watson's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ridenour of Hillsboro, Ore. They were enroute to Los Angeles to spend New Years with Mrs. Watson's sister, Mrs. Eva Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Conway of Shady Cove made a trip to San Francisco during the Christmas vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cushman and son, Paul, of Trail have just returned from a trip to Los Angeles and other points in southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strother of Shady Cove spent Christmas in Longview, Wash., with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ali Sandoz. They also visited with another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bauer of Veneta, Ore., and their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strother Jr. of McMinnville, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards of Grants Pass were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bartuss Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hopkins of Shady Cove have received word that Jim's mother, Mrs. Minnie Hopkins, died on Sunday in Covington, Ken. The sympathy of the community is extended to the Hopkins family in their bereavement.

The Elk-Trail PTA will hold a regular meeting with a potluck dinner on Friday evening, Jan. 9. The curtains for the school stage have now been purchased. This was the PTA project for the year.

Of interest to residents in the area is the marriage of Mrs. Josephine Morgan Verdon to Mr. Warren E. Wood, which took place in Ashland on Dec. 13.

Miss Gail Wunderlich of Shady Cove was attendant to the bride and Mrs. Ben Torez of Burman, now employed by the Bureau of Public Roads, was attendant to the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was held at the Tally Ho restaurant in Talent. They are now at home in Shady Cove, where Mrs. Wood is continuing to operate the Shop Cove Washateria and Wood is employed by the Bureau of Public Roads.

They spent Christmas with Mrs. Wood's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Whipple at the Rogue River ranch in Rogue River, Ore. Wood also visited with his granddaughter, Mrs. Fred York, and her baby son, Ricky, at Shedd, Ore., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wentjar, Mrs. Josephine Lower of Central Point and Bud Jess of Eagle Point were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bartuss of Shady Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Haskins and Mrs. Edith Davis of Medford were guests for dinner on Saturday evening and spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson of Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Steacy and family of San Pablo, Calif., spent Christmas at Trail with Mrs. Steacy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Howe.

Phyllis Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Briggs, was home from the University of Oregon for the holiday season.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Verne Wilson of Shady Cove during the Christmas holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris of Los Angeles and Miss Gladys Schnoor of Glendale, Calif. The whole group, including Dr. and Mrs. Wilson were guests for a Christmas eve supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bartuss of Shady Cove.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson entertained with a dinner on Christmas Day. Guests were Mrs. Ernest Wentjar, and Mrs. Josephine Lower of Central Point, Miss Marjorie Sandfort of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bartuss of Shady Cove and the Wilson's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris, of Los Angeles and Miss Gladys Schnoor of Glendale, Calif.

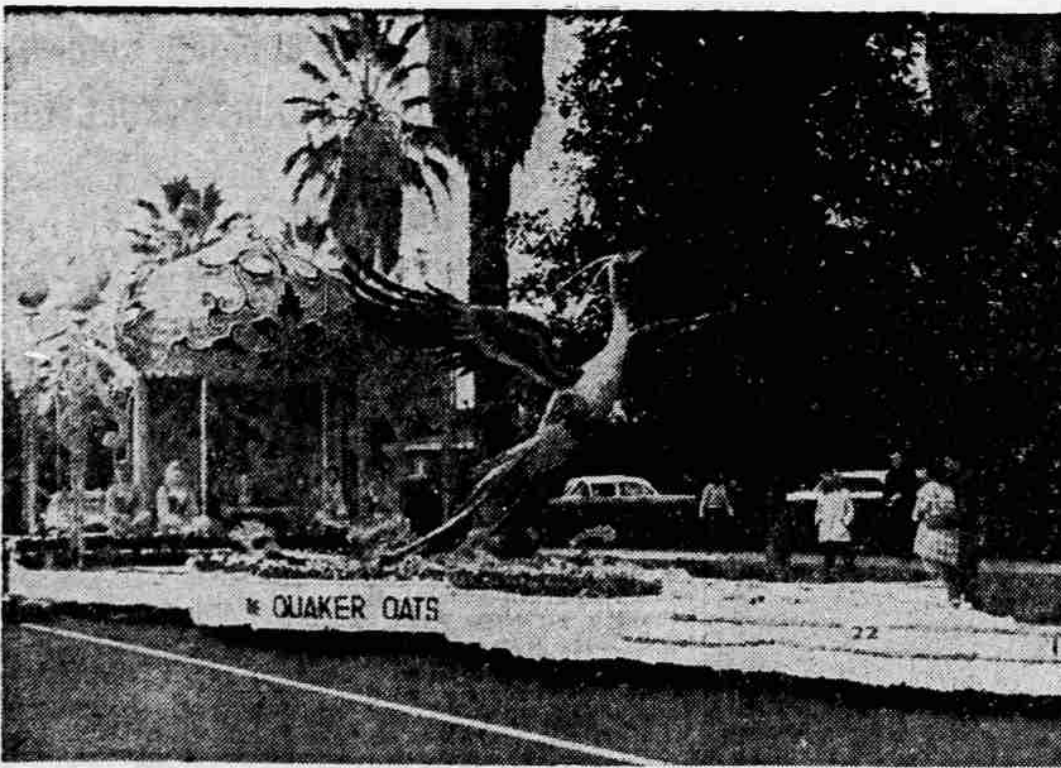

Jim Black of Sacramento was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and family of Shady Cove for the Christmas weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wells had their nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willett of Great Falls, Mont., visit with them recently. Mr. Willett is a teacher in the high school in Great Falls.

Mrs. Corabelle Schmadt of Darby, Mont., is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague, of the Rogue River lodge, Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Grow of Guthrie Center, Iowa, have been visiting with Grow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grow, of Eagle Point and have also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Grow and family of Shady Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Segessenman of Shady Cove have sold the business lot lying on the Crater Lake highway between the Shady Cove clinic

Epps Challenges Hatfield's Stand

Portland—UPI—Dave Epps, Oregon State Democratic party chairman, declared Saturday that Gov.-Elect Mark Hatfield's stand on the problem of and the Silver's residence to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mixon of Oxnard, Calif. The transaction was handled through W. A. Darling, Shady Cove branch.

Kenneth Barker of Salem, Ore., is spending his Christmas vacation visiting with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barker, of the Shady Cove motel.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pfluke and family of Eureka, Calif., spent the Christmas and New Year's holiday season visiting with Mrs. Pfluke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Segessenman, of Shady Cove. Other guests of the Segessenman's during the Christmas holidays were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Vossen of Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Arley Spain and family of Shady Cove have just returned from a trip to California made during the Christmas holidays. They left home the day after, going first to San Francisco and then to Los Angeles, where they visited with relatives. They stopped off again in San Francisco on the return trip.

Adrian Elrod was very ill in a Chicago hospital, having been hospitalized for eight days there. His father, Everett Elrod, flew black to Chicago and brought Adrian home by plane, with the two of them arriving to surprise Mrs. Elrod and Mary Ann on Christmas day.

Adrian is much improved now and convalescing at home. He expects to return to Chicago about the first of February to complete the remainder of his school term. About six weeks more of training will enable him to graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Sackett and son, Kerry, of Grants Pass were visitors in Shady Cove Monday, stopping to see Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Watson in Shady Cove, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Work and family in Trail and visiting with other friends in the area.

Ernie is teaching one of the fourth grades this year at the Redwood school on the Redwood highway just out of Grants Pass. The school, while on the highway to Crescent City and just outside of Grants Pass, is still part of the Grants Pass school system. He has 23 pupils. He formerly taught the fifth grade at the Elk-Trail school.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lombard of Pasadena, Calif., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hohn of Trail during the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Lombard were former residents of Shady Cove, having owned one of Mrs. Mann's houses on the river.

who shall appoint the next Oregon secretary of state is "hypocritical."

"His decision to seek a determination by the (Oregon) Supreme court whether he has the right to assume the office of governor before resigning as secretary of state and providing for the transition in an orderly manner is long overdue," Epps said.

He added that if Hatfield "felt that an early decision from the attorney general was desirable, his right to ask for such a decision was equal to that of the governor."

An opinion issued by Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton last week stated that Gov. Robert D. Holmes, who leaves office this month, has the right to name a successor to Hatfield, who relinquishes the secretary of state post to become governor.

Hatfield said Friday he would let the Supreme court decide.

"I will rest my case with the Supreme court of this state rather than the opinion of the attorney general, which is not binding," Hatfield said.

"I have been advised by learned men of the law," Hatfield continued, "that the matter should be determined by the Supreme court so that possible future confusion may be avoided and the public interest might be served in accord with decision rather than opinion."

Princess Grace is Matron of Honor

New York—UPI—Princess Grace of Monaco, one of the brides of the century, played the role of matron of honor during her recent visit to America, it was revealed today.

The former Grace Kelly was the sole bridal attendant for an old friend, Prudence Wise of Jacksonville, Fla., when she married Arthur H. Kudner Jr., of New York Dec. 13 at the Old Wye Church, Wye Mills, Md.

The marriage announcement was delayed until today because of the New York newspaper strike.

5 Million to One Battle Won by Girl

Hollywood—UPI—Rita San Carlo had apparently won a 5,000,000-to-1 battle, doctors reported today.

The infant weighed only 1 pound, 9 ounces last Oct. 8 when she was born three months prematurely at Hollywood Presbyterian hospital. Doctors said at the time her chances of survival were only one in five million.

Today the daughter of Mario and Leonora San Carlo weighs 6 pounds, 2 ounces and is a zestful, hungry baby who eats every three hours.

Science Turns Up Possibility Of Making Mushrooms Cheap

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
New York (UPI)—Agricultural science has turned up the possibility of putting mushrooms into every pot by making those delicious but expensive fungi one of the cheap foods. The promise is based on the discovery that they can be made to grow abundantly in sawdust. They're now usually grown in richly manured composts which means the declining horse population has made mushroom cultivation more and more expensive. Whereas there's an increasing shortage of manure, there's an endless supply of sawdust.

The woody waste of American industry is estimated to total about 53 million tons annually. This includes bark, sugar cane pulp, rice hulls and straw, in addition to sawdust. Any sizable part of this gigantic waste, put to mushroom production, would help turn out mushrooms in fantastic tonnages.

Get High Yield
Indeed, three scientists of the University of Florida, in their small-scale pilot cultivations, got higher yields with less work from sawdust than the most skilled professional cultivators usually get from manure.

Mushroom fanciers ignore the ways-of-life of the mushroom if they know what they are because from the human viewpoint, those ways are not aesthetic. On the other hand, mushrooms are nutritionally wonderful. They are rich in protein and the B vitamins. But they thrive on rot.

The Florida scientists, Seymour S. Block, George Tsao and Lungwa Han, showed that chemically the mushroom is cleverer than the cleverest chemist. Manures rot on their own, releasing their chemical constituents. Woody wastes rot, but there is no release of chemical constituents and the chemists are unable to get them out by commercially practicable technique.

Must Start Process
But mushrooms can extract the constituents and use them for their own growth. The scientists found, however, that a garlicky campestria, which is the mushroom most people mean when they use the word (since it is the common commercial mushroom), needs to have degrading or rotting process started for it. This the scientists did by mixing hay or soybean meal with sawdust into a fermenting compost.

The wild mushroom, pleurotus ostreatus, the scientists grew readily in sterile sawdust fortified with oatmeal and got their first crop in two weeks. This mushroom belongs to the "woodrotting" group which start the rotting process from scratch for the purpose of propagating themselves. P. ostreatus is a tasty if strong-flavored mushroom prized by chefs as an ingredient for soups, sauces and gravies.

Reporting their experiments to a technical organ of the American Chemical Society, the scientists lauded the gustatory and nutritional excellences of mushrooms and pointed out that with sawdust they could be "factory-produced" the year round.

Dancer, Roman Nobles Face Trial

Rome—UPI—A Turkish dancer and five Roman noblemen face the threat of prosecution for taking part in a notorious strip tease, court sources said today.

The sources said Assistant District Attorney Antonio Corrias, after questioning 22-year-old dancer Nana-Kaish and many of the 200 socialites who watched her strip or be stripped at a private party Nov. 6, is ready to seek court action.

The party was given in a Rome restaurant by Peter Howard, former stepson of American millionaire George Vanderbilt, to mark the 25th birthday of Italian Countess Oighina di Robilant. Howard has since obeyed an official "invitation" to leave the country.

The sources said Corrias plans to ask Rome magistrates to send to trial Miss Kaish, Count Andrea Herculani, 32, Duke Nino Torlonia, 27, Prince Meme Borghese, Count Prandino Visconti, 26, and Prince Niki Pignatelli, 35.

Miss Kaish has been charged with obscene acts in a space open to the public. The five young noblemen are charged with concurring in the obscene acts by throwing their coats on the ground for her to dance on.

The party was attended by film stars Anita Ekberg and Linda Christian and many prominent Italians.

Published accounts of the party said Miss Kaish, an invited guest, staged a dance before the blue-blooded public and stripped down to her panties.

Miss Kaish contended that she did not strip—but was stripped by one of the guests who pulled the zipper of her evening gown.

Bill Would Pay Vets at Age 60

Washington—UPI—The veterans of World War I will ask the new Congress to provide $100 monthly pensions for all needy World War I veterans at age 60.

United Press International reported incorrectly Friday that the proposed payments would be made at age 70.

The veterans group previously had asked Congress to pension all World War veterans at 60, regardless of need.

Fred J. Hollenbeck, its national commander, said the group this year will push for a measure limited to those veterans whose income, exclusive of Social Security and private pension payments, did not exceed $2,400 yearly for single men and $3,800 for those with dependents.

Hundreds of Reds Arrested by Nasser

Cairo, U.A.R.—UPI—Hundreds of communists have been arrested in raids throughout the United Arab Republic in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's determined drive to smash the underground party organization, reports said Saturday.

Official sources confirmed that "more than 100" arrests have been made in the anti-communist crackdown. Unofficial reports placed the number of arrests in Cairo alone at about 400.

Actress Reported In Good Condition

New York—UPI—Actress Inger Stevens was reported in fair condition today after apparently having swallowed a caustic solution in her Manhattan apartment.

The 24-year-old blonde, Swedish-born actress was rushed to Columbus hospital in critical condition Sunday night. Doctors at first said she had only a 50-50 chance to live, but later reported she was making good progress.

A spokesman at the hospital said Miss Stevens was believed to have swallowed a caustic solution—"possibly cleaning fluid." Tests were to be conducted today to determine the type of solution.

Reporting their experiments to a technical organ of the American Chemical Society, the scientists lauded the gustatory and nutritional excellences of mushrooms and pointed out that with sawdust they could be "factory-produced" the year round.
