

Senator Cooks as Hobby; Has Uncluttered Kitchen

By ROSE MCKEE
Washington - (UPI) - The hobby of Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), is cooking, but you would never know it walking into his kitchen after he has served a three-course dinner. For the cook among the Senate's members achieves what most women always intend to do but never quite bring off. He washes all pots, pans and other utensils even down to a paring knife, as he cuts, stirs, and smells. What's more, he washes the dishes as they come from the table between courses. Senator Ellender was asked by the National Association of Home Builders what a man who cooks considers essential in a kitchen. His wants were simple: "A good stove so you can regulate the heat is essential to me. I like a kitchen where the working table, the refrigerator, the stove and supplies are close together so you don't have to walk far. "But to me the most essential thing is to keep the kitchen clean. I like to wash things as I go along and get rid of all refuse, such as shrimp shells or other peelings. I don't want things to pile up." The senator's kitchen is much like his senatorial desk: both are uncluttered. He said that if his desk "is not organized, my mind doesn't tick so well—having things neat helps you think more clearly." Like "My Kitchen," he said, "a tidy kitchen has a good effect on the cook." By washing the dishes as they come from the table, he gives his guests time to chat and get ready for the next course. Usually, some of the senator's guests roll up their sleeves and help with the between-course clearing and washing. A widower, he has no domestic help. He gives a series of dinners each winter for some of his colleagues and members of the Washington press corps. As one who has been among the guests on several occasions, I can say there is party fun both in the kitchen and at the bridge tables in the living room where his wondrous jambalaya and other good dishes are served. Senator Ellender is the only passenger as far as he knows to have cooked a complete dinner on a plane flying 15,000 feet over the Pacific. He was on a round-the-world trip with several other senators a few years ago and he cooked chicken spaghetti with supplies he bought during a stop at Guam.

Daughters Conduct Ceremony

Cave Junction — Miss Carmel White was installed queen of Bethel #6, International Order of Job's Daughters, in ceremonies held December 29 at the Kerby school gymnasium. A large group attended the candle-light ceremony.

The retiring queen, Miss Diana Strokirch, was installing officer and Robert Wright, master councilor of Redwood chapter, Order of DeMolay, assisted with the crowning ceremony. Other new officers are Miss Linda Prather, senior princess; Miss Sandra Piper, junior princess; Miss Beverly Sowell, guide; Miss Linda Larson, marshal; Misses Kathy Kull and Kathy Basham, senior and junior custodians; Misses Jean Beam, Loraine Stierner, Lou Ella Alcorn, Linda Hunter, Toni Hunter, Toni Whiteley, messengers; Miss Pamela Cherry, chaplain; Miss Sharon Prather, treasurer; Miss Betty Carter, recorder; Miss Gloria Hare, librarian; Miss Linda Vahrenwald, musician; Misses Diane Blue and Kathryn Breckenridge, inner and outer guards; Miss Donna Parmelee, lady of the lights. The new queen introduced her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan White, and her brother, Robert. She presented a doll and pin to the retiring queen, and Miss Strokirch presented the new queen the pin of her office. Robert White presented his sister a gavel.

Others taking part in the installation ceremony were Miss Norma Spencer, Mrs. Donna Zimmerman Tellyer, Miss Arlene Rians, Miss Norma Bolinger, Miss Margery Brown, Miss Sara Jones, Miss Marie Breckenridge and Miss Peggy Fulk.

Refreshments were served by the Misses Edith Whiteley, Kathryn De Mersseman, Edith Heidenreich and Aileen Prather. Dancing by candle-light concluded the evening.

Dancing Class Is Announced For Beginners

Square dance instructions for beginners will open Thursday, January 8 at 8 p.m. at the Old Wagner Creek school. The school is reached from downtown Talent by turning on to Wagner avenue and proceeding for two miles on the paved road. The school is floodlighted for easy identification. The course of instruction is open to all adults interested in learning modern square dancing. Additional information is available by calling E. Francis Cronin, SPring 3-3171 days, or SPring 3-3475 evenings.

Looking over the 1958 list which came out this week, I find it's made up of the usual bluebloods, actresses and others of such substantial means that if they aren't beautifully gowned, they should change couturiers. Well Turned Out Now don't misunderstand. I'm not suggesting that Mrs. Winston Guest doesn't belong. She always looks well turned out, but she also can afford a wardrobe from Mainbocher. Or the Duchess of Windsor, who is dressed by Balenciaga, Dior, Mainbocher and Desses. Or Audrey Hepburn, who goes to Hubert de Givenchy of Paris for most of her costumes. Okay, let these gals reign as queens of the fashion world. But please, dear Dress

Institute Shouldn't Skip Best Dressed Working Girl

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York - (UPI) - Nobody asked me but it's high time that annual lists of best-dressed females included one girl perennially ignored. She's the American working girl, who manages a maximum of chic on a minimum of cash. Each year, yours truly is among those 2,500 persons asked by the New York Dress Institute to vote on women we think rate special attention as clothes horses. And each year, some of us faithfully cite the white collar girl. But the results of the campaign have been nil — so far.

Heart Surgery Fund Increase To Be Sought

Washington, D.C. — The new Congress will be urged to approve as quickly as possible a supplemental appropriation of $1,500,000 to replenish funds for lifesaving heart surgery in children, the secretary of health, education, and welfare, Arthur S. Fleming, has announced. The high cost of surgery in children suffering from congenital heart conditions and increasing demands for such surgery have exhausted funds available to support state programs for the current fiscal year. The number of children with congenital heart disease who receive medical services under State crippled children's programs has increased from 2,200 in 1950 to 10,000 in 1957. Under the overall state-federal medical care program for crippled children, states are required to provide $1 for each $2 provided by the federal government. If the proposed appropriation is approved, it would mean that there would be an additional $2,250,000 for treatment of heart defects in the young. New surgical techniques, particularly "open heart" surgery, are too costly for most families to handle unaided. The immediate cost of the average open heart operation is about $2,500. This includes all hospital and medical care costs, diagnostic preparation, and the use of a number of expensive machines.

Family Party Held at Jarmins

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Roush, Springfield, left for their home Sunday after spending New Year's day and the week end here with Mrs. Roush's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Merdle Jarmin, 821 Minnesota avenue. Other guests of the Jarmins for New Year's day were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bleile Jr., and family, Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bleile, Roseburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jarmin, their son and daughter-in-law, and family. The Bleiles went to Roseburg after the gathering here, with the Sacramento family returned to Medford Saturday night for a party which celebrated the third birthday anniversary of their daughter, Elizabeth.
