SOUTHERN OREGON CONFERENCE STANDINGS

Ashland	0	3	.000

Spearheaded by the field-goaling of Jerry Anderson, the rebound snaring of Lowell Dean and the all-around court play of Ken Durkee, the Medford Black Tornado whirled over the Ashland high school contingent 55 to 39 Saturday night in a Southern Oregon conference scuffle at the Hedrick gym.

Medford never was behind in the scamper and kept in front from the mid-first quarter on but did not get a comfortable lead and maintain it until the late third period. The Tornado widened its spread from 34 to 30 up to 43 to 31 at that stage of the joust then had a couple of advantages of 18 points in the final quarter.

Victory was Medford's second against one setback in the league which corresponds to District 6 A-1. Ashland suffered its third defeat in as many conference games.

Tornado hoopmen kept pace with Klamath Falls in a second place knot. The Pelicans subdued Crater at Klamath 62 to 40. These wins kept both clubs very much in the running for the conference stakes. But Medford in particular comes up against a stiff test when it goes to Grants Pass who are unbeaten in the loop. Klamath Falls will vie at Ashland that same evening.

Next Saturday's scrapes will be Klamath Falls at Grants Pass and Crater at Ashland.

Medford will have a bye. Tornado cagers played inconsistent ball on Saturday against the Grizzlies, getting fair margins then seeing Ashland battle back to shrink them. Yet, hot shooting and rebound control helped Medford turn the tide. Tornado hoopsters pulled away for keeps with some fine aggressive play under the backboards, with some alert ball-hawking and with some good offensive drive and teamwork.

Anderson swished in eight field baskets and five free heaves for 21 points to head all score-makers. Ashland's Bob Johnson was next high with 14.

Lowell Dean collected 10 rebound retrieves for Medford and Anderson seven while Doug Forrest topped the Ashland effort with six. Durkee didn't score a point during the evening but his play-making and scrapping for the ball were vital in the Medford verdict.

Tornado Pulls Away

Dean sank a recovery shot under the hoop, Don Peck put in a driver off a jump ball, George Koch flipped in a bucket on Dean's assist, and Anderson drove in for a shot in the rally that drew the Tornado away from the 34 to 30 status. Koch also dropped in a gift to make the score 43 to 30. Johnson of Ashland flicked a free toss for the 43 to 31 quarter score.

Dean tipped in his own rebound, and Harvey hit a close in goal for a 47 to 31 spread before the Ashlanders connected again. Eighteen point gaps were at 54 to 36 and 55 to 37.

There were tie scores at 2-all, 4-all and 6-all before Anderson's goal put Medford ahead for good. Medford held the Grizzlies scoreless for the last four minutes of the fourth quarter and were on top 15 to 6 at the breather.

Ashland, held to only two field goals in the first quarter, put in just three in the second but the Grizzlies gained nine free shots in the panel and at one time trailed Medford only 23 to 21.

Two buckets by Dean, one on a swipe and the other on a feed by Peck, a basket by Koch on Dean's assist and a free shot by Harvey took Medford then to a 30 to 21 half-time edge.

Anderson made it 32 to 21 as the second half started but Forrest flipped in a drive shot, Johnson rolled in for a hook shot and Forrest again hit on a fast break for 32 to 27. Anderson came back with a Medford hook. However, a singleton by Johnson and a brace of gifters by Jim Bjork for Ashland made the score 34 to 30.

The Tornado, gunning at a 44.7 average, put through 21 field goals to Ashland's 10. The Grizzlies with their set-tem up offense, had a 35.7 average, shooting just 28 times against the Medford defense. Ashland led 19 to 13 in points from the free line.

Medford won the junior varsity game 35 to 21 and the Tornado Wildcats beat the Ashland jayvee seconds 35 to 22.

NCAA Rules Committee In Session

Los Angeles - (UPI) - The NCAA football committee was called into session here today by chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler to consider several major changes including the possible return of the goal posts to the goal line.

Moving the goal posts back to the end of the playing field was one of the recommendations discussed by the coaches at the recent NCAA convention in Cincinnati.

Among other changes that were expected to be brought up at the three-day meeting of the rules committee were some sort of liberalization of the limited substitution rule and a modification of the one-arm block rule.

The two-point conversion rule was expected to be discussed but retained by the committee.

The coaches were generally in agreement that moving the goal posts to the goal line would make for a more wide-open game and give the colleges something to compete with the pros.

Another recommendation by the coaches to be considered here was to permit one player from each team to consult with his coach during time out on the playing field.

Willamette Heads NWC

Willamette took the measure of C of I twice and dumped Whitman once.

Whitman won its only game Saturday night on a three-game trip. The Whits dumped previously unbeaten Linfield, 59-57.

Willamette soundly trounced the Coyotes Saturday night, 65-41 and Lewis and Clark beat Pacific 70-62 in other games. Five Bearcats scored in double figures in the win over College of Idaho.

Bolt, Vossler In Tijuana Tie

Tijuana, Mexico - (UPI) - Tommy Bolt and Ernie Vossler, engaged in a torrid battle for the $2,800 pot of gold that goes to the winner of the $20,000 Tijuana Open golf tournament, head into the final round of competition today still tied for the leadership.

With 54-hole scores of 205 leading the pack, they still have strong competition to fear from at least 15 others, all of whom are no worse than four strokes back.

With the closely-bunched field it is possible that a sudden death playoff will be needed to decide the winner.

Right on the heels of the leaders are Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., and the new sensation of the tourney trail, John McMullin, of Alameda, Calif. They have 206 totals. Three men are deadlocked with 207s: Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and Mike Fetchick, Yonkers, N.Y. Jack Fleck, former National Open champion, has 208.

After winning the junior title on Saturday by beating Luis Arilla of Spain, Buchholz attempted to win the senior title in a match with another Spaniard - 21-year-old Andres Gimeno. the casaba. The Medfordites in white are Jerry Anderson at left, Cal Dean (30) and Booth Deakins (50). Ashland cagers are Doug Forrest (51) and Bob Johnson (wearing glasses). Medford won the Saturday fray 55 to 39.

Eastern Pro Stars Dump West Eleven

By ALEX KAHN

Los Angeles - (UPI) - If quarterback Norm Van Brocklin and Coach Jim Lee Howell wanted "revenge" they had it today in the Eastern All-Stars' 28-21 pro bowl victory over the Western division football squad.

Both denied following Sunday's clash before 72,250 fans in Memorial Coliseum that they sought vengeance for anything in the past. But Howell, whose Giants lost the National Football League championship to the Colts appeared pleased that his all-star squad beat that coached by Baltimore's Weeb Ewbank.

And for Van Brocklin the victory was a measure of satisfaction since the Los Angeles club was his former affiliation and rumored disagreements led to his departure and subsequent joining of the Eagles.

Van Brocklin, who had a less than average day until the final quarter, finally pulled together the Eastern squad to march 70 yards chiefly on his passes for the game-winning touchdown on a 15-yard throw to end Palmer Retzlaff.

Gifford Most Valuable

But Frank Gifford, who was appearing before a "home-town" crowd in the stadium where he played for the University of Southern California, was chosen the game's most valuable player for his ability as a passer, runner and passer, was involved in two scoring efforts to win his acclaim while Doug Atkins of the Rams was chosen the outstanding lineman for his play in the West game.

Bill Wade, who had taken over as quarterback of the Rams when Van Brocklin departed, outshone the Colts' Johnny Unitas as he passed for one touchdown and ran for another only to see the West's 21-16 lead in the final quarter fall short.

In that period the East scored three points on Lou Groza's second 25-yard field goal after Walt Michaels intercepted one of Wade's passes, scored a touchdown on Van Brocklin's passing drive and picked up a safety in the final five seconds when Hugh McElhenny was tackled in the end zone by Tom Scott.

Teams which will play in the 1959 season include Bakersfield, Visalia, Fresno, Modesto and Stockton, Calif., and Reno, Nev. They all have solid working agreements with major league clubs.
