Labor To Overhaul Political Setup

Portland–(UPI)–Labor's political organization in the Portland area will be overhauled.

Carl Roberts, a Machinists union business representative, was appointed Monday night as an unpaid political director by the Multnomah County Labor Council. Roberts said he plans an overhaul of the organization, Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Two delegates will be called from each AFL-CIO local union and a like number from independent unions, he said. A program will be adopted which will be presented to both major parties for criticism and suggestions, Roberts added.

MOD Mailing Cards Sent To Residents

Members of the Medford chapter of the National Secretaries association, under direction of Phyllis Brownlee, president, have completed addressing approximately 6,000 mailing cards for the March of Dimes, according to Bart Garred, Medford co-chairman of the campaign. They used the addressograph of the Medford water department.

Garred urged those receiving the mailing cards to fill them and return them at the earliest opportunity.

"The March of Dimes has extended its battle in the field of public health to include birth defects and rheumatoid arthritis, in addition to polio and more money will be needed than ever before if we are to successfully carry out our efforts in these new fields," the co-chairman said.

Obituaries

NATHAN FRED PATTON

Ashland–Nathan Fred Patton, 77, died at his residence in the county farm home Sunday evening.

He was born Jan. 24, 1881, in the Talent area, and had lived in this area all his life. He was employed by the Ashland Lumber company, and worked at Crater Lake for a while.

He was a life member of the Ashland BPOE lodge.

Survivors include two nieces, Mrs. Hazel Gunter and Mrs. Ethel Clary, both of Ashland.

Graveside services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at Mt. View cemetery with the Ashland BPOE lodge officiating. Litwiller's Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Planners Suggest Zoning Variance on Apartment Setback

The planners agreed to hold their future meetings on the second Thursday of each month, rather than the second Monday.

City Manager Robert A. Duff reviewed the background of the East Ninth st. situation. Watkins Construction company erected the apartment units in apparent violation of the city's minimum side lot setback requirements.

But since city building department personnel issued a permit based on the substandard specifications and since a violation notice was not placed on the project until the buildings were nearly completed, city officials have been reluctant to prosecute.

The contractor has shaved corners off the units, and offered to erect a four-foot cyclone fence along the lot lines.

Loss of Privacy

Mrs. Mae Eaton, whose property adjoins the project to the east, complained last night of her loss of privacy and expressed concern over possible drainage problems arising from the proximity of the units to her property line.

"If they put up this fence and drain off the rainwater properly," she said, "I'll not complain."

The planners' recommendation for the variance carries the stipulation that the contractor make a provision for adequate drainage before the council takes action.

The request for a special meeting on the East Jackson zone change proposal was made by Medford Attorney Phillip Lowry on behalf of private clients who contemplate extensive commercial development at that location.

Non-Conforming Businesses

A group of non-conforming businesses exists there at present, but the proposed rezoning includes other property as well.

The commission continued for further study the subject of whether auto wrecking yards should be permitted within the city. But it passed a recommendation to the council that the state wrecking license application of Harry DeVore, 3120 North Pacific highway, be endorsed by the city.

DeVore told the planners he would like to cooperate in any way possible with their study.

The commission called for public hearing at the Feb. 12 meeting on a variance request for a carport from A. G. Anderson, 401 Park st., a zone-change request for the E. W. Brown property on Crater Lake ave., to permit commercial use, and a request for a zone-change to light industrial for the area bounded by North Riverside ave., Court st. and Ohio st. just south of the Big Y.

Reject Dedication

The planners turned down the proposed dedication of a dead-end street in the El Mar subdivision by Dr. L. Dow Inskeep.

They postponed action on the tentative subdivision and street dedication in an area south of Spring st. and east of Crater Lake ave. and on a tentative subdivision plat for Walter Wood on Sprinkbrook rd. at Lone Pine rd.

They approved in principle the proposed dedication of Swing Lane off Table Rock rd. and gave tenattive approval to the unit No. 2 plat of Roy P. Wilkes' Brookhurst subdivision.

Copies of a preliminary land use plan for Medford north of Jackson st., transmitted Jan. 8 by the Bureau of Municipal Research and Service in Eugene, were distributed to the commission members last night.

Complaint Refused In Baby Kidnaping

New York– (UPI) –The father of infant Lisa Rose Chionchio refused today to sign a complaint against the grandmother charged with kidnaping the baby from her hospital crib and keeping her for nine days.

Frank Chionchio, 28, an attorney, made his refusal in Brooklyn Felony Court where Mrs. Jean Iavarone, 43, mother of eight, was to be arraigned on a kidnap charge which carries a possible penalty of 20 years to life imprisonment.

Chionchio and his wife, Frances, 26, had previously expressed pity for the kidnaper who stole their daughter only two and a half hours after birth. The child was recovered Sunday with evidence that Mrs. Iavarone had tended her with no less concern than had she been the baby's mother.

Charles Chaplin, Wife Shaken Up in Crash

London – (UPI) – Film star Charles Chaplin and his wife, Oona, were shaken up today when their car collided with a bus.

Neither was injured. They were helped from the car and continued their drive to a film studio a few minutes later.

About 2 per cent of the total land of the U. S. is used for residences and urban industrial development.

Wagon Trip Plans To Be Discussed

Plans for the Jackson county 4-H clubs' wagon trek to summer school in Corvallis in June will be discussed at a meeting in the courthouse at 8 p.m. today, according to Glenn Klein, county 4-H agent.

Attending the meeting will be Ray Ryan, county agriculture chairman for the Oregon Centennial celebration, representatives of the county 4-H leaders' association and the 4-H Empire Builders Klein said.

Rules will be established for the wagon trek and further plans made toward obtaining more horses, wagons and wagon parts for the trip, the 4H- agent said. So far, parts for seven wagons are available, Klein said. Vocational - agriculture departments of county high schools have volunteered to make and repair wagons, he added.

Ray Inlow, Ashland, has volunteered to donate a wagon and team and drive it in the trek, Klein said. Five completed wagons are needed.

Ernie Hood, county Centennial chairman, is attempting to obtain canvas tarps from the National Guard to be used for the wagons, Klein said.

Migratory Health Problems Topic

Corvallis– (UPI) –A discussion of health problems associated with migratory labor will be one of the highlights of the two-day Oregon Rural Health Conference opening Thursday at Oregon State College.

Studies conducted for the Legislative Interim Committee on Migratory Labor in 15 counties last year showed deficiencies which threaten the health of the migrants and the resident population, according to a Rural Health Council spokesman.

Study findings will be presented to the Legislature for possible changes or additions to Oregon's agricultural labor laws.

Profit Taking Cuts Into Stock Gains

New York –(UPI)– Profit taking after two weeks of almost uninterrupted advance made inroads on stock gains today.

The losses were limited largely to recent favorites.

Bringing down the averages were losses of more than three points in American Telephone, over two in Du Pont, losses around a point in U.S. Steel, General Electric, International Paper, Union Carbide.

There were numerous good gains outside the group used in the averages, however, with Pittsburgh Plate Glass up close to three points, Pennsylvania Glass Sand 2¼ higher, Crane Company up two, Sangamo Electric up 24, and Philadepnia & Reading up nearly four points.

CENTRAL POINT FFA Presents Program

By DORIS HUGHES

Central Point – The Crater High school Future Farmers of America parliamentary team and public speakers were guests of the Jackson County Young Farmers of America at a recent meeting at Kim's restaurant.

The parliamentary team presented a 10 minute program in preparation for the district contest Jan. 15 at Phoenix High school. The six members were chosen from a group of 21 boys participating. The boys on the first team are John Caster, chairman, and Jim Frink, Don Denning, Mike Redmond, Don Ryan, David Foote, and Pete Melstead. One boy from this group will be picked as an alternate several days before the contest.

At the meeting, Don Denning, Crater chapter public speaker, spoke on the problem of the decreasing membership in the Future Farmers of America. Denning will enter the District FFA speaking contest held in conjunction with the parliamentary contest. His speech was also given Thursday evening at the Central Point Junior Chamber of Commerce club house on West Pine st.

The district is composed of nine chapters in western Oregon. They are Phoenix, Eagle Point, Illinois Valley, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Marshfield, Pacific at Port Orford, Myrtle Point and Crater High school.

The first and second place winners of the district contest will enter the sectional contest at Crater. Last year's contest was held at Grants Pass and Junction City, respectively.

The Crater FFA chapter put on a program on KBES-TV Thursday. Boys participating were Allen Barnes, master of ceremonies, and Nate Bannery, Jim Frink, John Caster, Dave Foote, Gary Dusenberry, Don Denning and the talent group.

The boys outlined several activities of the Crater High chapter and the adult program which will begin Jan. 12 and 15. The course beginning on Monday night was in farm records. The course beginning on Thursday evening will be on welding. Anyone wishing more information on the courses may call Ed Griggs or Bill MacFarlane at NOrmandy 4-1103.

Twenty-three Boy Scouts from Troop 40 hiked from Central Point to Jacksonville and back Jan. 3. The boys carried sack lunches. They toured the Jacksonville museum. Accompanying the Scouts were John Smock, Scoutmaster, and A. D. Van Horn, committee chairman.

Visiting recently for a week at the Rinehold Boes home were Mr. and Mrs. Scott Rupp and children, Colleen, Steve and Lloyd, of Palmdale, Calif. Also visiting at the same time were Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Smith and son, Loren, of Redding, Calif. Both families are former residents of Central Point.

Visiting recently at the W. J. Dolan home were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Basey of Fallon, Nev., and Billy Dolan and Marilyn Schadler of Cedarville, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Greenman visited New Year's Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Greenman and children of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trautman and son, Jimmy, formerly of Central Point, now living at Everett, Wash., visited relatives in Central Point recently.

Visiting here over the holidays from Oroville, Calif., were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Anhorn and son, Ricky.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Langston returned last week from a trip to Pico, Calif., were they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams and daughters, Christine, Denise, and Sandra. Also visiting the Langstons at the Williams home were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leffler and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leffler. All three families, who now live in California, are former Central Point residents.

School Bus Involved In Gold Hill Mishap

Gold Hill – A school bus operated by Sherman Kiger, Gold Hill, was struck by a pickup truck driven by Adolph Jeddeloh, Gold Hill, late yesterday afternoon while the bus was unloading students just south of Patrick school.

Gold Hill School Principal Gilbert Mack said there were nine students on the bus when the accident occured. The pickup truck struck the rear end of the bus, damaging the emergency door and the rear bumper, Mack said.

No one was injured. Larry Eskew, a student at Crater High school in Central Point, was leaving the bus at the time, Mack said.

Gold Hill Police Chief Clyde Taylor said no citations were issued.

Fourth Boy Admits Part in Thefts

A fourth Medford boy has admitted his part in a series of Christmas tree light thefts during the holidays, Medford police reported yesterday.

Police said the boy, whose age was not given, admitted he participated in six thefts with three other boys interrogated last week. He had been on a vacation with his parents when the others were questioned, according to the report.

Police reported last week that the boys committed a total of 12 thefts, involving 136 lights valued at more than $28.

The fourth boy's father was informed of the circumstances, an officer stated.
