Milwaukie IH Crews Ratify Pact

Milwaukie, Ore.–(UPI)–Workers at the International Harvester plant here ratified a new three-year contract Sunday. Union officials said they were to be back on the job today.

The plant has been kept operating by supervisory personnel during the two-month strike, which idled about 37,000 men across the nation.

The new contract calls for annual pay increases of six cents per hour or 2½ per cent, which ever is greater. New fringe benefits call for a fourth week of vacation for workers with 25 years of service.

Chief company demands in the new contract call for a summer vacation shutdown and a freeze of night premium pay.

Krefeld, West Germany–(UPI)–Archbishop Theodor Buddenbrock, 80, a former Roman Catholic missionary who was expelled from Communist China in 1953 after spending several years in jail, died at nearby Suechteln Sunday.

The Medical Roundup

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic

Health Among the Eskimos

I am interested to see that a team of nutritionsist have just returned from Alaska, where they have been studying the the health of the Eskimos. I presume that they were the primitive Eskimos who live as their ancestors did, largely on seal meat and fat, and fish. The investigators found that in most cases the Eskimos have good health. They don't suffer from scurvy (due to lack of vitamin C), although they never in their life-time see an orange or vegetables or salads, or fruit. During the summer they have a few berries.

Dr Alvarez

Many years ago, in his fascinating book, "My Life with the Eskimos," Dr. Stefansson, the great explorer, told us why the primitive Eskimos do not get scurvy. The reason is that they eat most of their meat raw, and they love to eat the inner organs of the animals they kill. The inner organs of an animal contain most of the essential vitamins and chemicals. When a primitive Australian kills a kangaroo, the part he enjoys most is the intestine, and he eats it largely raw. We civilized persons throw away the most nutritious parts of an animal.

Is Restriction of Diet During Pregnancy Needed?

I recently read that Dr. Samuel M. Wishik, of the University of Pittsburgh, has raised the question whether it really is desirable that women, during pregnancy, greatly restrict their diet so that they won't gain too much in weight. He said that the average woman gains from 24 to 27 pounds during pregnancy. Some gain 35 pounds, and still have a normal delivery. Certainly, during a pregnancy, a woman shouldn't gorge herself with sweets or shouldn't eat so that she becomes enormously stout. This will add to her difficulties when she has to go through labor. Dr. Wishik feels that a woman shouldn't attempt much reduction of weight during a pregnancy; she should wait until after the child is born.

Vaccination Against Cancer With X-Ray Cancer Cells

Drs. R. W. McKee, Eugene Garcia, M. R. Troeh, and William Schulz, at the University of California at Los Angeles, have just found that they can so treat cancer cells with x-rays that these cells can be used as a vaccine which in mice will produce much resistance to the development of cancer. Over 90 per cent of a group of mice vaccinated with the x-rayed cells were found later to be immune to innoculated cancer. Obviously, this doesn't mean that human cancer is going to be cured tomorrow, but it does raise hopes that perhaps before long these observations will lead research workers toward a cure.

Dr. Alvarez' new booklet on Weight Control may be obtained by sending 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. MMT, The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Box 957, Des Moines 4, Iowa.

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand that it would be impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail.

SCALE MOUNT TERROR

Wellington, New Zealand–(UPI)–Mount Terror, an 11,400-foot volcano in Antarctica, has been scaled for the first time, it was disclosed during the week end.

Service Reports Newcomers Have Higher Income

An increasing number of persons who are executives, professionals, and those who own their own business are moving to Medford, according to the Newcomers Service.

During the last six months of 1958 the Service reported 315 new families in Medford representing 630 adults, 263 school age children and 207 pre-school children.

Of these families the wage earners showed 33.3 per cent in the executive and professional category; 34.6 per cent skilled workers and 12 per cent who own their own business.

Further breakdown of the newcomers show that 18 per cent bought their home; 18.7 per cent, expressed intention to buy; and 3 per cent plan to build. Majority of the adults were between the age of 20 and 30 which accounted for 39 per cent. In the 31 to 40 age bracket were 29.9 per cent and 20 per cent from 41 to 50 years.

The service reported that 48.8 per cent of the families moving to Medford rented unfurnished houses while the 12 per cent which rented furnished apartments were mainly newlywed couples or families from distant states who had sold their home and furniture before arriving here.

Nearly every state was represented in the city's newcomers during 1958. California leads with 30.7 per cent. Of the countries represented by new families were England, New Zealand, Netherlands, Australia, Germany and Japan.

Upwards of 2,209 lives were lost in the Johnstown, Pa., flood of 1888.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name *Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.
