

BLACKLISTED AWARD WINNER—Dalton Trumbo, one of the "Hollywood Ten," screenwriters who were blacklisted by the movie industry for their refusal to testify before the House committee on un-American activities, has been revealed as the author of the 1956 Academy Award-winning script, "The Brave One." Originally attributed to a mysterious "Robert Rich," the script was awarded an Oscar which was never claimed.

Great Decisions Kits Available at Medford Library

Great Decisions kits of fact sheets are now available at the Medford Public library. It is reported by Miss Helen Webster, library director.

Books on the various topics for this year's discussions are in increasing demand already, even though the program is not scheduled to begin until Jan. 25.

For the convenience of readers interested in acquiring a good fund of background information to enliven their discussions Miss Joyce Marlin, reference librarian, has arranged a selection of books in the lobby browsing bins, Miss Webster said.

First Week's Topic

Suggested for the first topic, "1859-1959, Building Today's Oregon" are such books as the "Atlas of the Pacific Northwest Resources and Development," "Oregon, End of the Trail," a Federal Writers' Project publication and "Land of Giants," which offers important regional documentation. Many other books on Oregon, past and present, are mentioned on a list "Oregon Heritage" prepared by the library for readers' use during the Centennial observation.

To help answer the question asked on Fact Sheet No. 2, "Will alliances keep the peace," Dean Acheson's "Power and Diplomacy" and Adolf Berle's "Tides of Crisis," are especially recommended. A study of "Communism in Our World," by J. C. Caldwell, "Land Without Justice," and "The New Class," by M. Djalil, and "Roots of American Communism," by T. Draper will help the thinking citizen to discuss another question of the series, "Are we realistic about Communist powers?"

Books, pamphlets, and magazine articles are available on the other subjects to be considered during the 1959 program. These include the Middle East, Latin America, U.S. policies in the world economic revolution, the new technology, — force for destruction, or plenty, what kind of a world is possible, and the challenges for diplomat and citizen.

Groups and individuals interested in forming discussion clubs will find registration blanks for their use at the library's circulation desk.

CONFUSED VISITOR—Karl Hertle (left) a German immigrant, appeared at the Russian Embassy in Washington, D. C., while Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan was staying there, and started in. He was carrying a briefcase which he said contained a bomb. Washington cops took the briefcase after a brief struggle, and sent Hertle away in the paddy wagon. The briefcase turned out to contain only papers.

Oregon Allotted Federal Grant

Washington — UPI — Education Commissioner Lawrence G. Derthick said today grants totaling nearly $1 million have been allocated to 23 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii for vocational education programs.

The programs, authorized under the National Defense Education Act, are designed to train highly skilled technicians in the national defense fields of electronics, tool design, aviation and industrial chemistry.

Federal funds are matched dollar for dollar by state money.

Allocations made so far include: California, $85,225; Idaho, $10,939.00; Montana, $10,098.50; and Oregon, $19,123.50.

Geriatrics Topic Of Health Program

Geriatrics and some of the challenges the rapidly growing older population presents will be the topic of discussion on the Jackson County Tuberculosis and Health association television program Thursday at 4:30 p.m. over KBES-TV.

Dr. Laurel G. Case, general practitioner, and Dr. John T. Brandenburg, specialist in diagnosis and internal medicine, will discuss geriatrics, and Dr. Frank Roberts, retired Medford dentist, will be a guest. He will represent the Rogue Valley Council on Aging, of which Frank Gloning is chairman, and will explain the purposes and activities of the council. Dr. Roberts is in charge of recreation for the group, and helped promote the local Fifty Plus club, of which he is now president.

The Rogue Valley Council on Aging was set up last year to study the needs of oldersters, and establish a program to answer some of those needs.

The relationship of health and a feeling of well-being will be explained and ways in which individuals can contribute to their own well being in old age will be suggested.

Annual Sessions of Legislature Asked

Salem — UPI — Annual sessions of the Legislature are provided in a joint resolution introduced today in the Senate by Sens. R. F. Chapman (D-Coos Bay) and G. D. Gleason (D-Portland).

The resolution limits the length of a regular session to 60 days.

For a number of years there has been considerable agitation for annual sessions due to the lengthy biennial sessions held now.

Legislators engaged in farming and others in business contend that with the low salaries paid to legislators and the loss of business while attending sessions they cannot serve in the assembly without very great cost to themselves.

If the resolution is adopted by the Legislature it will be referred to a vote of the people at the next general election.

Road Commission Bills Proposed

Salem — UPI — Increase in membership of the State Highway Commission from three to five men is provided in one of a package of four bills introduced in the Senate today.

The bills were introduced by the Senate Committee on Roads and Highways at the request of the Legislative Interim Committee on Highways.

Sen. Anthony Yturri (R-Ontario) chairman of the Senate committee, said that members of the interim committee felt that some sectors of the state had no representation on the Commission.

The other three bills were minor changes in vehicle fees.

Authorities Seek Oregon Juveniles

Mill Valley, Calif. — UPI — Marin county authorities continued their search today for three teen-age fugitives from an Oregon reform school who eluded a posse here Tuesday.

Sheriff's deputies caught a fourth youth early Tuesday when the boys fled from a stolen station wagon following a police chase. The other three, one of them armed with a .22 caliber pistol, escaped in a wooded section of this community.

Sheriff's deputies today said they had "no idea where the boys might be hiding."

The captured youth, a 15-year-old from Nyssa, Ore., was held at Marin County Juvenile hall for Oregon authorities.

Hatfield Urges Moving Forward On State Program

They said the people knew when they elected Hatfield governor that he would resign as secretary of state to assume his new post. The court pointed out that the secretary of state can have no successor until he has ceased to occupy the office. Hence, said the court:

"The proposition that before the secretary of state can quit his office to assume a higher one, he must submit his resignation to the governor, a successor must be appointed and qualified, the outgoing secretary of state must turn over to his successor all monies and books pertaining to his office, does not appear to us to be sound."

Hatfield commented on the decision:

"The job at hand is to move forward with a program of state administration without further political sniping and backstairs intrigue.

"I am certain the more re-

Youth's Body Found In Netarts Bay

Tillamook — UPI — The body of Glen Strait, 16, who drowned Dec. 24 when a boat capsized in Netarts bay, was found Tuesday. The body of Robert Astleford, 19, Netarts, who also drowned in the mishap, was recovered earlier.

INSURANCE MAN DIES

Newark, N.J. — UPI — Edward E. Rhodes, 90, a retired vice president of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., died Monday.

sponsible members of the Democratic party wish to accept in good faith my repeated invitations to cooperate in bipartisan fashion in order that we may progress with the business of government."

Appling Comments

Appling said he expected to announce appointments within the next few days.

"They will be completely in keeping with the pledges I made at the time I took office," he said. "We expect to operate the department of state on a business-like basis, the staff will be determined solely on the basis of their professional ability, rather than their politics, and we think the taxpayers are entitled to have more hard work and fewer public spectacles from the officials who serve them."

He said "we are confident that we will have the department of state's affairs in very good order by the end of the week."

Appling said he had just kept working at his job until the Supreme Court decision was handed down.

He said he thought it would serve no "constructive purpose" to dwell on the personalities who opposed him in the fight.

Tied Up Money

"I have complete confidence that the public will judge Mr. Thornton on the basis of the judgment and ability he has exhibited in his office. Were the situation reversed, I would expect the public to judge me on the same basis."

The legal hassle for a time tied up state finances and prevented paying of about $500,000 in unemployment checks until the Legislature took emergency action to pay the money.

Bill Would Prohibit Discrimination

Salem — UPI — A bill introduced in the Oregon House today would prohibit discrimination in employment in hiring of teachers on the basis of race, sex, religion or organizational affiliation.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Ed Benedict (D-Portland), Sen. William Grenfell Jr. (D-Portland), and others, also would prohibit school districts from indicating preference in any teachers' organization.
