

Castro Supporters To Demonstrate Execution Backing

Havana —UPI— An estimated 500,000 supporters of Fidel Castro began massing here today to demonstrate their support for the execution of Cuban "war criminals" and to defy U.S. "meddling" in this country's affairs.

Banks, government offices, schools, factories and stores closed for the day, which was also proclaimed a day of national mourning for physicians said to have been killed by supporters of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista because they tended wounded revolutionaries.

David Salvador, new president of the CTC Labor federation, ordered its members — except newsmen and transportation or communications workers — to stop work from 6 a. m. to midnight.

A few hours before the scheduled start of the mass meeting, Agriculture Minister Humberto Sori Marin announced that the trials of 500 to 600 army men held prisoner here will begin Thursday or Friday in the Sports Palace, a stadium with a capacity of 15,000 spectators.

Sori, who drafted Cuba's new penal code while he was serving in the hills with Castro's guerrillas, said he himself will prosecute the first three defendants.

They are to be Lt. Col. Ricardo L. Gau, Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco and Capt. Pedro Moron Valdes, who among them are accused of torturing or killing more than 200 revolutionaries while Batista was in power.

Two Congressmen Attend
Castro has invited hundreds of persons from the United States and Latin America to witness the trials here. A number of them already are on hand, including two U.S. congressmen — Reps. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), and Charles Porter (D-Ore.).

Powell told a press conference Tuesday that the State Department has advised congressmen not to attend because their presence might be interpreted as an endorsement of the executions.

Bids Called for Planting Seedlings

Portland — Portland area office of the bureau of land management has called for bids for planting approximately 281,000 Douglas fir seedlings on Oregon and California revested railroad grant lands in the Medford forest district.

The contractor will be required to furnish all tools, equipment, transportation, supervision, labor and provisions for movement of planting stock from local storage to planting site, the specifications state.

Detailed specifications may be obtained from the bureau of land management, Portland Area office, 1001 N.E. Lloyd Blvd., P.O. box 3861, Portland 8, Ore., where the bids will be opened at 2 p. m. PST., Jan. 29.

Specifications may also be obtained at the district office in Medford.

Trucks Involved in Highway 62 Crash

A logging truck and trailer and a sedan type truck were involved in an accident on Highway 62 yesterday, state police said.

The accident occurred about a half mile south of Hook Owl curve. The logging truck driven by Nolan Clarence Vaughn, 49, of 1016 West Second st., Medford, swerved to the side of the highway to avoid the panel truck and went into the ditch where the log load tipped over onto the bank, state police said.

The sedan type truck driven by Carroll Neil White, 34, of Grants Pass, was damaged in the body. No citations were issued and no injuries reported, police said.

Legislation Pouring in Ahead Of Schedule, Mrs. Nye Reports

By EVE NYE
State Representative from Jackson County

Salem—For many years I've heard about the frantic last days of the legislative sessions, but this session may well stand out as the one of the frantic first days, with the hassle over the Secretary of State appointment, the big rush to get the Centennial plans completed and financed, and the flood of legislation pouring in much ahead of schedule.

At the rate we are progressing in the House, either we are going to consider a record number of bills or we'll be home in short order. So far, after four working days, 188 bills have been introduced. All of the Holmes budget bills are in, a number of education bills, plus many others. Committees to which they have been assigned will begin considering them this week, and there may even be some hearings.

Economy Needed
I'm well aware that the people of Oregon would like to think that their legislature is saving money by getting down to business quickly and looking toward an early adjournment, but I also feel that they want a well-considered and thoroughly studied tax program for the next biennium. There can be no doubt that they want economy in state spending, and the members of both parties are in full accord on that, but to pass out a tax program based entirely on the retiring governor's recommendations, without giving consideration to the plans of the new governor, would be unwise and unfair and would put the new administration in a very disadvantageous position.

Governor Hatfield has been given little opportunity since the election to get his fiscal program ready for presentation to the legislature and the plans of the new governor, would be unwise and unfair and would put the new administration in a very disadvantageous position.

legal maneuvering to get a Holmes appointee in the post of Secretary of State has, of course, caused a lot of delay as well as embarrassment.

Sly Report Neglected
Moreover, I am concerned because the Sly report, which I believe is a very unbiased, factual and objective one, is getting scant consideration since it was not completed at the time Governor Holmes drew up his budget and fiscal recommendations. The state paid $35,000 for this survey, hiring one of the country's top men in the field of taxation to conduct it. It has long-range implications directed toward improving Oregon's economic health, and I am hopeful that the recommendations it contains will get careful study before any tax program is accepted by the legislature.

As for me, I am a very busy person just trying to get my legislative feet under me.
Speaker Bob Duncan has treated me well in the matter of committee assignments, giving me Education, Agriculture and Local Government, all good committees and hard-working ones. Bob makes an excellent presiding officer and has entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of the Centennial by emulating our pioneer forebears in the mu-al above the Speaker's rostrum and attempting to grow a beard. I said, "attempting."

I'll let you know next week how he is coming out with that project.

Mrs. Don Lane, formerly of Medford, is now my secretary.
Don was secretary of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce for five years and it is a big help for me to have someone helping me who knows Jackson county, has had previous legislative experience, and is most attractive and efficient.
