

Senate Measures Relating To District Elections Introduced

Salem—UPI—Six Senate bills relating to various district elections designed to gain approval of bond issues of such districts were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

Sen. Donald Husband (R-Eugene) who with others sponsored the bill, said that when the new elections code was adopted in the 1957 session a change was made in the manner of notifying voters of an impending election.

However, the manner in which advertising was prescribed for primary and general elections, Husband said, did not cover advertising of elections for the districts.

Amendment Prepared

As a result, amendments were prepared providing that each district advertise in a newspaper of general circulation in the district for two consecutive weeks and post three notices within the confines of the district.

Agencies affected by the amended bills are rural fire districts; port districts; water control districts; special road districts and peoples' utility districts.

case unless good cause can be shown to the contrary.

Three bills making technical changes in laws dealing with the public employees retirement system were introduced by Sen. Dan Thiel (D-Astoria) at the request of the retirement system.

First National Directors Named

Portland—UPI—Herman Oliver, Grant county stockman and banker, and Thomas F. Sandoz, president of the Columbia River Packers association, were named directors of the First National Bank of Oregon at an annual meeting here Tuesday of shareholders and directors.

Oliver, the mayor of John Day, has been president and chairman of the board of the Grant county bank for many years and served 23 years with the State Board of Higher Education.

Sandoz was elected president in 1950 and is advisor to a number of state, federal and international fisheries commissions. He also is chairman of the Columbia River Salmon and Tuna Packers association.

The Senate Judiciary Committee introduced a number of bills, one of which gives the State Supreme Court the power to promulgate rules to regulate pleadings, practice and procedure in all courts of the state.

Court Increase Asked

A bill increasing the membership of the State Supreme Court from seven to nine members was in the judiciary package. Another bill gives the Supreme Court authority to appoint Circuit and retired judges as pro tem Supreme Court justices.

As a means of speeding up disposal of court cases, the Judiciary Committee introduced a bill requiring judges upon trial of an issue to proceed to write a written opinion within 30 days after the submission of facts to the court.

The same bill also provides that in criminal cases where a man is held to answer to a crime and no indictment is found against him within 60 days after his arrest, the court shall order his dismissal, if the

School for New Congressmen

Washington—UPI—Being a member of Congress is getting so complicated that House freshmen members this year are going to school to learn the trade.

Much of the advice they are getting boils down to one word: Don't.

Don't talk until you have something to say. Don't try to make every cocktail party in town. Don't put your feet up on the seat of the fellow in front.

Free advice for new members of Congress has always been plentiful and often has been worth what it cost. The school is an innovation. Most of the students are ready to give it a cheer.

Heretofore, first-termers, after kind words and a pat on the back from congressional leaders, have been left to sink or swim. As a result even some old-timers never have learned anything more than a legislative dog-paddle.

Among the instructors have been Sens. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), Clair Engle (D-Calif.) and Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.).

A REAL BLOWOUT

Yeovil, England—UPI—Jasper Batstone made a big impression on his birthday. He and two friends detonated a birthday bomb of their own making that blew a huge crater in Jasper's yard and blasted chunks of iron a quarter of a mile. The three celebrants were hauled into court, given a lecture and a year's probation.

Centennial Fund Action Sought

Salem—UPI—Sen. Ward Cook (D-Portland), chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee, said Tuesday night the group is anxious to get quick action on a Centennial Commission request for $2,046,000.

The Commission wants the money to finance this year's Centennial. Cook, who presided at a hearing on the matter here, said "we want to take a constructive view and are not interested in anything but having a worthwhile celebration — we are proud of our state — and we would like to see a 100-day program we can be proud of."

Various Centennial committee officials appeared at the hearing and presented detailed budget requests.

Rep. Ed Whelan (D-Portland) brought a request for $60,000 to provide fire protection for the exposition building. Most of this money would go for fire inspection personnel. Chairman Anthony Brandenthaler said he believed there were funds in the daily operating expense to take care of fire protection.

TO ATTEND DEDICATION

Washington—UPI—President Eisenhower plans to join Queen Elizabeth at formal ceremonies opening the St. Lawrence Seaway in June, the White House said.
