

Zonta Speaker Discusses Professional Prejudices

There are still too many prejudices against women of the United States in the professions, according to Mrs. Mabel Winston, who spoke in observance of the club's annual Amelia Earhart day.

Mrs. Winston, a past president of the Oregon American Association of University Women, has also served that group as a regional vice-president and was recently named as one of Oregon's noted women in the first edition of Who's Who for American women.

Mrs. Mabel Winston, registrar and dean of women for Southern Oregon college, spoke for Medford Zonta club's annual Amelia Earhart observance Thursday. Mrs. Winston is one of five Jackson county women listed in the recent first edition of Who's Who of American Women.

Since Miss Earhart, one of the nation's first outstanding women aviators, was interested in mechanics and engineering, Mrs. Winston spoke of that field. In spite of the fact that many European women, particularly Russian women, enter the field of engineering, only 2 per cent of the engineers in this country are women, she pointed out. Women make up six per cent of the medical profession in this country, Mrs. Winston said, but in Russia 50 per cent of the doctors and medical specialists are women.

The speaker noted that on the whole, European women are more advanced in all the professions than women of the United States, and that many of the Zonta club fellowships given in honor of Amelia Earhart have gone to European and Asiatic women.

Speaking of the reasons for this condition, Mrs. Winston said that they are not intellectual or biological, but inter-personal. In the United States, it is not considered "culturally appropriate" for women to go into professions now dominated by men, she said. Colleges discourage women from studying to become engineers, lawyers, chemists, etc., she said, and employers also discourage them.

Since the nation is going through a period when all its skills and intellectual and scientific power is needed, women should be encouraged to educate themselves in any field in which they can be useful, she said. Scientific interests should be encouraged in the small child, Mrs. Winston said, and parents should encourage daughters as well as sons to seek the fields in which they show aptitude. She pointed out that Amelia Earhart had had the full encouragement of both her father and her husband.

The speaker used charts to show the changing patterns of the life of women in America, comparing recent years with the year 1890. Women now stay in school longer, marry earlier, have families at an earlier age, are released from child-bearing and household duties earlier, live longer and therefore have a longer span of years in which to be useful in business and the professions, Mrs. Winston declared.

Almost 50 per cent of the nation's working force is now women, she pointed out, and of the women 50 years of age, 55 per cent are gainfully employed.

Mrs. Winston was introduced by Celia Martin. Mrs. Bonnie Wilson, Zonta president, presided.

Clubwomen will find the Jackson County library an excellent source of practical help on all aspects of club work.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

By KEN HARDY

A great many factors go into the choice of a particular dress or blouse by the average woman.

Fabric design is one of the most important. When you choose a particular garment because you like the striking design in the fabric, be sure to consider whether or not it will wear well, clean well, and generally prove serviceable.

A design which is woven into the fabric is usually more serviceable than one which is affixed to it by pressure or embossing. Pressure application can damage the fibers of the yarn around the edges of the design, creating a weakness that might cause trouble later. Adhesive or embossed designs will sometimes wear out quickly or will be affected by cleaning.

A blouse or a lovely dress may be so appealing that its beauty will outweigh its limited serviceability. If it gives pleasure it may still be worth buying.

Extra care in the handling and cleaning of every garment is part of our normal service. Bring us your delicate and better clothing. If it can be cleaned, we can clean it with CARE! Phone SP 3-1919 for free pickup and delivery. Big Y Cleaners, 1928 Table Rock rd. S.H. Green Stamps. adv.

Wedding Of Interest In Medford

A wedding of interest to valley residents was held recently in Los Angeles Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints when Miss Patricia Ellen Stagg, formerly of Medford, became the bride of Roger Bird Tunks.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stagg, Los Angeles, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Barraclough, 1114 West Tenth street, Medford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tunks, Portland.

President Benjamin L. Bowring officiated at the ceremony held December 20.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin and a tiara held her elbow length veil. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Don Barraclough, uncle of the bride, greeted the guests. Mrs. Barraclough cut the tiered wedding cake with Miss Nan Barraclough, cousin of the bride, pouring. Miss Maureen Barraclough was at the gift table and Miss Mary Lynn Barraclough was in charge of the guest book.

The young couple are students at Brigham Young university, Provo, Utah. The bride attended Medford High school. The couple returned to Provo after visiting relatives in Portland and Medford. The bride chose for traveling a red wool dress with a corsage of white roses.

Speakers Listed For Meeting of Food Associates

Mrs. Dewey Penrod will report on detergents and Mrs. T. C. Carter will speak on the use of an antibiotic, chlortetracycline, which is "acronized" on poultry, at the Wednesday, January 28, meeting of the Natural Food Associates.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 28 of the Medford High school building. Earle Rogers will present the bulletin board and Miss Anna Streed will review the book "Your Heart and Vitamin E" by Dr. Evan Shute and Wilfrid Shute. The public is invited.

Grate some of the hard cheeses, such as Parmesan or Romano, and keep covered in a jar, in your refrigerator. They can be used to add subtle and wonderful flavoring - and protein - to many foods such as vegetables, salads, soups or meats.

Pork Roast
Fresh pork contributes significant amounts of protein, iron and B-vitamins to the daily diet. The price of this nutritious meat declines during the winter months, so serve it often. It is a good idea to use a meat thermometer when roasting pork, inserting it through the fat side into the center of the meat. Preheat the oven to 325 degrees and allow 45 to 60 minutes per pound if the roast has been refrigerated. When the thermometer reaches 185 degrees, the meat is well done. It should be even gray in color.
