A RESOLUTION NO. 965
A RESOLUTION proposing to amend Ordinance No. 120, to use a water main as a lateral water main; to levy an assessment on the property fronting on the street wherein said water main is laid; setting a time and place for protesting thereon and providing for notice thereof.

WHEREAS the City of Medford has heretofore caused a water main in the City of Medford to be laid in Bidde Road from a point 658 feet North of Jackson Street to a point 988 feet South of McAndrews Road and the Council has determined that the said water main may be used by the property fronting on that portion of said main which is located upon 658 feet North of Jackson Street
to a point 988 feet South of McAndrews Road in the City of Medford, Oregon; and

WHEREAS said water main has not as yet been paid for and it appears to the Council that the cost of said water main is a lateral water main by said property last above mentioned will not materially interfere with the use of the same for the purpose for which it was originally laid, nor therefore.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MED-FORD, OREGON,
That it is the opinion of the aforementioned water main laid in the City of Medford described as follows, to-wit:

As laid in Bidde Road from a point 658 feet North of Jackson Street to a point 988 feet South of McAndrews Road in the City of Medford, Oregon, may be used by the property fronting thereon as a lateral water main without materially interfering with the use thereof for the purpose of a water main, the purpose for which was originally laid, and the Council proposes to permit the owners of adjacent property to use the same for lateral purposes as aforesaid.

SECTION 2. It is the intention of the Council to assess the property fronting on the street wherein said water main is laid as herein-before last described the same share of so much of the cost thereof as equals the special benefit which will result to said property from the use of said water main as a lateral water main of such size as would be required to supply the property fronting on said street in case said water main was not so used and the Council has and does here determine that the sum of $235 per front foot is the amount of such special benefit and the proportionate cost of such a lateral water main to such property as aforesaid, and intends to assess said amount against such adjacent property on account thereof.

SECTION 3. The Council will meet at the hour of 6:30 o'clock P.M. at the Council Chamber in the City Hall on the 5th day of February, 1959, at which time and place all protests against the laying of said water main and the assessment as hereinbefore provided for, will be heard.

SECTION 4. The Recorder is hereby directed to serve notice hereof upon the property owners aforesaid by publishing this resolution 3 times in a newspaper published and of general circulation in said City and by posting the same in 5 public places in said City, said publication and said posting to be not less than 10 days before the date of said meeting.

PASSED by the Council and signed by me in authentication of its passage this 15th day of January, 1959.

Capture of Havana
Airport With Only
Four Men Described

Editor's Note: Among the more dashing figures of the Cuban revolution is panish-born Capt.
Jose Ramon Gonzalez Regueralwriter, photographer, soldier and adventurer. In the first few hours after President Fulgencio Battista fled the island on Jan. 1, it was not known whether his army would fight Fidel Castro's rebels. Here Gonzalez Regueral tells how he boldly took Havana International Airport with three men and La Cabana Fortress with seven.

By CAPT. JOSE
GONZALEZ-REGUERAL
As Told To Charles Schuman Havana—Battista's ab-dication came as a surprise to many of us and there was no emergency plan to cover such a move.

So it was that in those first hours every man in Castro's 26th of July movement had to learn and act for himself. I joined at about 8 a.m. of Battista's flight and took a quick tour of the city in my car. I found it quiet.

If there was going to be any trouble, I reasoned, it will be at the airport, so I drove there, where I found three other rebels.
We had all heard the rebel radio and knew that CMQ, the city's main radio and television outlet, had been captured. The rebel radio had ordered a general strike.

Only One Pistol
Only one of us had a pistol, but we decided our job was to take over the airport, which was still functioning at normal pace. We had to shut it down and let the world know the revolution was effective.

But there were about 30 national police on duty, as well as some military intelligence men. I decided to try to bluff our way through.

I went up to the police commander unarmed and told him who I was.
"I've got a hundred men surrounding the place," I told him. "Do you want to fight, surrender, or join us?"

"We'll join you," the commander replied, much to my relief. He even offered to turn his gun over to me, but I told him to keep it. Minutes later, some men in a military intelligence prowler car threw in with us, too.

And we four men, armed with a single pistol, had taken the airport without firing a shot!
Have Workers' Support
From the airport I went to CMQ, rebel radio headquarters. We had only a dozen armed men there, but nearly all the workers were on our side.

At about 2 a.m. on Jan. 2, my wife Maritza was on the CMQ switchboard when a call came from El Cotorro, about 15 miles outside Havana. A man who said he was Maj. Che Guevara said he was en route to La Cabana Fortress in Havana Harbor to take it over.

I wasn't sure I trust him, so I called La Cabana and an officer who identified himself as Lt. Col. Valera Castro said he was ready to surrender the fortress to the rebels. He asked me to accept the surrender.

I decided that if the fortress really intended to surrender, eight men could accept it as well as 200, so that's how many of us set out in two cars.

There was no shooting. Col.
Castro walked up to me, salu-tated, and said: "Col. Castro turning over command of La Cabana."

Notice is hereby given that on the 10th day of February, 1959, at 10 o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Jackson County Court House, I shall sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, all of the right, title and interest of Edwin M. Lemire and Frances H.
Lemire, his wife, Gerald E. Olson, doing business as Jerry Olson Investment Company, Credit Bureau Adjustment Department, an Oregon corporation, B. J. Roth, doing business as Valley Tire Service, an Oregon corporation, in the following described real property, to-wit:

Nixon, Kennedy
Receive Boosts
For Candidates

Washington-UP-The presidential aspirations of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), got a lift today from Republicans and Democrats.

Sens. Kenneth B. Keating
(R-N.Y.), and Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), agreed that Nixon was far in the lead for the Republican presidential nomination over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

House Democratic Leader
John W. McCormack (Mass.), said that Kennedy would make the strongest candidate his party could put up in 1960 and Adlai E. Stevenson would be the weakest.

Keating said "all of the indications are leaders of the Republican party, most of them, support Vice President Nixon today."

The New Yorker, a running mate of Rockefeller in the November election, said only time will tell whether Nixon holds his lead. He also said it would be a dangerous thing for President Eisenhower to try to dictate selection of his successor in 1960.

Kuchel said that he considered Nixon the "only candidate today" for the Republican nomination.
Asked whether Nixon or Rockefeller would make the stronger candidate, Kuchel replied, "I don't think anyone can say what Rockefeller stands for nationally." He said Nixon was "generally considered to have done his utmost" to back Eisenhower.
