Price 10 Cents

Program Would Tap Treasury For Payments

Opposition by Eisenhower Told

Washington—UPI—Key Democrats today were drafting a new farm plan which President Eisenhower has promised to oppose.

The Democratic plan would enable the government to stop propping market prices for basic crops and would, instead, tap the Treasury for direct payments to growers.

Some version of the new plan seemed likely to emerge as the Democratic Congress answer to President Eisenhower's demand that it curtail the "excessively expensive" cost of farm price supports.

Democratic farm leaders and some farm belt Republicans rejected the solution proposed Thursday by the President. Eisenhower in a special farm message asked for authority to lower supports on a dozen crops for which the law now provides mandatory price floors.

In apparent anticipation of the Democratic move, the President made it clear that he would oppose any direct-payment plan.

Fear Bankruptcy Republican leaders insisted that the President's program was a "sound" solution to the problem of farm surpluses. But Democratic farm leaders said it would bankrupt the farmers. Some Midwest Republicans agreed.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) said he was "disgusted" with the President's farm message.

The new plan on which influential Democratic senators are working is a sharply revised version of the so-called "Brannan plan" which was advanced by the Truman administration 10 years ago and rejected by a Democratic Congress.

Eliminates Storage Costs Former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan in 1949 proposed direct subsidy payments for perishable products which can't be stored. In contrast, the plan being drafted by the Democratic senators would provide direct subsidies for growers of storable crops.

Backers contend this would eliminate the piling up of government held surpluses and heavy storage costs.

Trial Run of Pony Express Set Sunday

The Ashland Sage Riders will hold a "trial run" over part of the proposed Centennial pony express route this Sunday. The run will start at 1 p.m., according to Mrs. Mike Jacoby, director of the group. Automobiles will escort the horses to protect them from other vehicles along the highway. The run, which is being held for timing purposes, will be from Siskiyou summit to the Medford armory.

Markers have been placed each mile so riders will know when and where to change horses. During the actual run later this year the Medford Trail Riders will have the section of the county from the armory to the Josephine county line.

Stan Thompsen, Portland, president of Pony Express, Inc., will be here for the trial run.

Russian Crackdown on 'Anti-Party' Group Seen

Moscow—UPI—The 21st congress of the Soviet Communist Party appeared ready today to crack down on the former government leaders accused of plotting against the policies of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

'Leningrad Case' Due The so-called "anti-party group" are former Premiers Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Nikolai Bulganin and Georgi Malenkov, former Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and Lazar Kaganovich, former President.

In addition, the congress was expected to take up the so-called "Leningrad case" which involved party intrigue and executions of several party leaders in 1949. Malenkov has been linked with this group.

Predict Party Discipline The "anti-party discipline" denounced originally by Khrushchev is being under heavy fire in the Soviet press for days. Thursday the head of the Leningrad Communist Party demanded they be brought in for an accounting.

Observers said any action was likely to take the form of party discipline rather than legal action which would be left to the courts.

'Wartime' Effort To Be Put Into Try To Send Man in Orbit

Washington—UPI—Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, today described as "reasonable" a statement that Russia is perhaps 18 months ahead of the United States in space exploration.

Washington—UPI—Dr. T. Keith Glennan assured a

Senate space inquiry today that the U. S. will try "with the same sense of urgency we had during the war" to place a man in orbit "within the next couple of years."

The director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration made the pledge in a statement to the Senate group headed by Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson

(D-Tex.) which is investigating U. S. progress in space exploration.

"This committee wants to know where we now stand," Johnson said. "When can the American people expect to catch up with the Russians?"

Glennan's statement did not answer the question directly, but said the effect of Russian space achievements has been

"enormous," and "our space mission is so vital we must carry it forward with the same sense of urgency we had during the war."

Glennan reported that the McDonnell Aircraft Corporation of St. Louis will build "capsules we hope to use to send a man into orbital flight within the next couple of years."

"We are calling upon every scientific and technological capability of the nation that can contribute to this program," he said.

The NASA chief also: —Said that before the end of the year a flight of the Air Force X15 rocket plane to an altitude of 100 miles should "stretch our big toe into the edges of space." The plane will go almost high enough to achieve an orbit, but lack of speed would prevent this.

—Predicted that the "cluster" of Jupiter rockets being put together by the Army will make it possible in 1962 "to put 10 tons of payload into deep space, far beyond the moon." The 10-rocket cluster is expected to have a total thrust of 1,500,000 pounds.

Johnson commented that Russian space successes "indicate boosters of greater power than we possess and give evidence of their technical achievements."

Before Glennan testified, Johnson announced he would ask the Central Intelligence Agency to clear up conflicting reports on Soviet missile strength. He said officials of the super-secret agency would be questioned later in a closed-door session.

Dr. Homer Stewart, director of planning for the Government Space Agency, said that the Russian moon shot demonstrated the Soviets have a highly accurate guidance system for intercontinental missiles.

Dr. W. H. Pickering, director of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, testified he believes, contrary to some published reports, that Lunik did pass the moon and perhaps orbit the sun as claimed by the Russians.

Stewart said that even if the Russians were trying to hit the moon and achieved only a near miss, the guidance system was "good enough for weapons use" and good enough to guide an ICBM to its target.

County Gas, Fuel Contracts Signed

Contracts for providing Jackson county with gasoline, diesel oil, lubrication oil, grease and fuel oil for 1959-60 fiscal year have been made by the Jackson county court, County Judge Earl Miller announced today.

Ten bids were opened this week by the county court and final tabulations made yesterday afternoon.

Lowest bidder on gas and diesel oil, accepted by the county court, was Signal Oil company at $47,584.80. This was $996.60 under the next lowest bidder.

Lowest bidder accepted on lubrication oil and grease was Tidewater Oil company at $4,096.10 or $296.40 under the next lowest bidder.

Shell Products, L. G. McLaren and Company, was lowest bidder on fuel oil at $1,817 which was $112.05 under the next lowest bidder.

Assault Charge Against College Girl Dismissed

Salem—UPI—An assault charge against UCLA student Moira Jean Sweeten, Hubbard, was dismissed by District Judge E. O. Stadter Jr. here Thursday.

The girl had admitted shooting her father Monday after a family argument.

Salem—UPI—A bill introduced in the Oregon House would authorize a straight salary increase of $25 per month for all state employees effective July 1.

County Court May Form Separate Parks Commission

District Attorney's Opinion Received

Jackson county court may legally establish a separate parks and recreation commission, according to an opinion from the district attorney's office.

However, such a commission could not purchase or obtain property, it was pointed out. The commission may recommend acquisition of various recreation and park sites to the county court which in turn may acquire them, the opinion read.

The opinion was requested by County Judge Earl Miller, who proposed establishing a separate commission along the lines of that established by Marion county.

The Jackson county planning commission had approved previously establishing such a commission although a recreation and parks subcommittee now functions under the planning commission. A separate commission would abolish this.

Set Up Organization Judge Miller said the county court would set up the organization of the new commission soon and then would appoint probably seven members. Exact details on the organization have not yet been determined, he said.

The Marion county parks and recreation commission has from seven to nine members with overlapping terms of office.

The commission is allowed to acquire recreation and parks sites, promote discovery of such sites, cooperate with state and federal authorities on dedication and development of parks and recreation sites and enlist the cooperation of local agencies in the program.

Missing Plane Spotted on Ridge

Silver City, Idaho—UPI—The wreckage of Vale, Ore., civic leader John Miller's downed triplane plane was spotted late Thursday on an 8400-foot ridge eight miles southeast of this remote mining community by Lt. Don Newbill, an Air National Guard pilot.

The sighting was made about 4 p.m. PST, and later identity of the wreckage was confirmed by the Idaho State Department of Aeronautics.

Newbill said he saw an object that resembled a body but was not sure. He said the wreckage was up against a sheer cliff and the plane appeared to be totally demolished.

Miller had been missing since early Tuesday on a flight from Reno, Nev., to Vale.

Search parties were expected to start out early today to reach the craft. The downed plane is in an almost inaccessible area bound in by deep snowdrifts.

Students Schedule 'Dimes' Activities

All three classes at Medford Senior High school have March of Dimes events scheduled for Saturday, according to Barbara Nulton, county Teen Age Program chairman.

The senior class will conduct a Mile of Dimes on a downtown street, with Nyla Murray as chairman; a shoe shine stand at Main st. and Central ave., under the direction of Rosemary Doolen; a coffee booth, also at Main and Central, with Kay Little as chairman, a cotton candy sale and car washes at Pruitt's service station, Main and Ivy sts., and at Ray's service station, Stewart ave. and King st.

A windshield wash, under direction of Roseland Randles and Linda Slemmer, and a shoe shine with Jim Lacy in charge are planned by the junior class. The juniors also will collect bottles Saturday afternoon with Pat McLoughlin as chairman.

Sophomores have scheduled a car wash at Pruitt's station, with Kay Harris as chairman, and a rummage sale at Eagle's Hall with Deanna Taylor as chairman.

Salem—UPI—An executive order continuing the Oregon Traffic Safety commission has been signed by Gov. Mark Hatfield.
