Planners to Hold Continued Session

The Medford planning commission is scheduled to continue its public hearing on the proposed municipal subdivision ordinance at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the city hall council chamber.

But City Manager Robert A. Duff said this morning he might have to request a continuance. He said that changes asked by a group of local surveyors early in December have not yet been incorporated into the proposal.

Hearing on Bill Postponed for Week

A committee hearing on Senate bills 182 and 183, which was scheduled today, has been postponed until next Thursday, according to Fayette I. Bristol, state representative from Josephine county.

The hearing will be held in the Capitol building at Salem.

Senate bill 183, concerning the Rogue river, would add industrial purposes to the permissible use of water withdrawn in certain areas, including Grants Pass and vicinity.

Senate bill 182, relating to Mill and Barr creeks, would permit appropriation for domestic purposes. Previously, use of water from the creeks was limited to protection and propagation of fish life.

Library Contract Being Negotiated

The contract between Jackson county and the Medford Public Library board is still being negotiated, County Judge Earl Miller said today.

The county court made some recommendations for changes in the contract and the matter will be taken up by the library board at its meeting Feb. 17, Miller said. Contract provisions being pondered by both groups consist of the county supplying a car once a week for use of the board in distributing books to the branches in the county system and hiring of personnel to man the branch stations.

Legislation to Be Discussed at Meeting

Pending state legislation on development of the Rogue River basin will be discussed by the Jackson County Water meeting at 8 p.m., Friday in the Jackson county courthouse, Chairman Bill Jess, Eagle Point, has announced.

All members are urged to attend the meeting to be held in circuit court room 1 in the courthouse, Jess said.

Stocks Dip on Light Trading

New York - (UPI) - Lincoln's birthday in Wall Street today was almost as lonesome as a Sunday.

Stocks slipped off slightly on the lightest trading since Sept. 5. Banks were closed. So were most of the corporation offices. Ten out of 16 commodity markets remained closed.

Steels and motors slipped. Rails and utilities had minor losses. Oils generally showed declines ranging to more than a point in Standard of Jersey. American Telephone ran up to 236 in the early trading where it was 2½ points higher on the day. It receded from the top. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem slipped off in the steels.

MOD Wheelbarrow Race Is Cancelled

A March of Dimes wheelbarrow race between the Medford Kiwanis and Medford Lions clubs has been cancelled, it was reported today. The race was to have been conducted Saturday, Feb. 14, in downtown Medford. Conflict of activities on Saturday and a request by the state March of Dimes organization for curtailment of activities resulted in the cancellation, it was reported. Activities in the MOD fund drive normally are limited to January.

Specialist to Speak For Decisions Group

Arthur S. King, soil conservation specialist, Oregon State college, will speak before Great Decisions group members in the court house auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, according to Miss Mary Pat Lucy, Jackson county home extension agent.

His topic will be "Our Relations on the Mediterranean" and he will show slides taken in that area. King worked in the Mediterranean area with the International Cooperative Administration, Miss Lucy said. In this capacity he worked out of the American embassy with the agricultural attaché.
