By DORIS HUGHES
Central Point—Much interest in Centennial celebrations is being shown by Central Point residents.

In the schools last week, along with the annual Valentine parties, the Centennial was observed with pioneer days festivities and pioneer relic displays.

More than 450 people attended the Centennial celebration at the Central Point Grange hall Saturday evening. Old fashioned clothing, beards, and pioneer days household items added to the atmosphere. "An Old Oregon Trail" the pageant written by Mrs. Scott Hamilton, was put on twice to accommodate the crowd.

A Centennial dinner was served by the women of the Grange and an evening of old fashioned music and dancing was held.

More than 100 people participated in or attended the "Whiskerino Contest" which took place at Phelps Coffee House Saturday afternoon. Judges for the contest were Miss Eve Morgan, Mrs. Margaret Naples, Mrs. Gordon Mekvold and Mrs. Norman Carothers.

Winners of contests are: Dean Eppinger, best and long-
