Commissioners Whack Purses

Los Angeles (UPI)—Attorneys for Art (Golden Boy) Aragon and Charlie Sawyer prepared today for a legal battle to force release of the entire purses for both boxers despite a California athletic commission ruling to the contrary.

The commission agreed there was no fraud in Aragon's fourth-round knockout victory over Sawyer on Jan. 31, or in the bout. But it did rule "that the fighters did not do their best," a spokesman said.

Therefore, Aragon is to receive only $6,000, instead of the $8,000 for which he contracted to fight Sawyer, and his opponent had one-half of his $2,000 purse withheld.

Lee sank the shot anyway for two points, and then sank a free throw which he was awarded because it was ruled that Walker had fouled him. State won anyway, 103 to 91.

At the same time Talent tipped St. Mary's 46 to 44 on Ron Welburn's shot in overtime to put the loop leadership of the Crusaders of Medford in a precarious spot.

St. Mary's must win both of its remaining regular encounters, at Butte Falls Friday and at Prospect Monday to wrap up an unshared diadem. If the Crusaders drop one of the two, Jacksonville will be co-champ and, should SM lose both, the Redskins will get the title alone.

The Redskins ended their regular B loop slate last night with an 11-5 record while St. Mary's now stands 10-4.

"Pioneers of the Future" was selected by the seniors as the motto for the graduating class of 1959 in a recent election.

Because 1959 is the centennial of Oregon, students carried the spirit of the year over into the selection of their class flower, the Centennial Rose, the state's official centennial flower. For sharp contrast with the scarlet red of the roses, white carnations were chosen. So red and white was decided upon for the class colors.

The Smith sisters, Carol and Sharon, were the feature at a dance sponsored by the sophomore class Feb. 7. The girls sang several songs, one of which was written by Carol, who is a junior at Eagle Point. Sharon, a seventh grader, attends grade school at Shady Cove.

The event was held in the grade school gym which was decorated with log fences, trees, and scenery to carry out the Centennial theme. Punch and cookies were served throughout the concert.

Bill Hubbard, Eagle Point senior, was elected for the office of county judge in the 11th annual Student Government Day election held here Jan. 27. One of the duties connected with this office was to give an after dinner speech at the Elks lodge Feb. 4.

Other elective offices secured by the Eagle Point juniors and seniors included the juvenile officer, held by Jean Messer; sheriff, Art Gardner; deputy records clerk, Pat Clave; and county engineer, Duane Anderson.

Appointive offices were held by Jaye MacDermot as audio visual aid director; water master, Steve Carroll; public health nurse, Molly Gregg; and agricultural agent, Jack Esp.

The original purpose of the program was to give seniors an opportunity to see local government in action.

Students were chosen for various offices by students in elections that are similar to those held for actual governmental officials.

The program is sponsored annually by the Elks club.
