

News About Books From the Library

Donor Carl Bjordahl this month presented the Jackson County library with a much needed additional copy of Pasternak's popular "Doctor Zhivago," which will help the library fill its many requests for the title more quickly.

Other useful books donated by Barbara Lowe, Arthur H. Thompson, Mrs. E. Roznesek, and Mrs. William Fluhrer added 73 gifts to the 221 volumes purchased for the library during February. The total number of volumes added was 294, of which 64 were for the junior department.

The number of new titles added to the adult department was 110. Those added during the past two weeks are:

The West: Reminiscences of an Old Timer, Hunter; Autobiography and Reminiscences of Sarah J. Cummins, Cummins; Sixty-One Years of Itinerant Christian Life in Church and State, Pearne.

Religion: The Tales Christ Told, Armstrong; The First Easter, Marshall.

House and Garden: Fish and Game Cook Book, Boltsford; Games and Fun for Parties, Mager; Garden in Your House, Ballard.

Biography: The Gold of Troy, Payne; I Am Anastasia, Anastasia; Beloved Infidel, Graham; Plant Doctoring is Fun, Westcott.

Other Non-Fiction: Explorations in America Before Columbus, Holand; The Story of American Railroads, Holbrook; The World Almanac and Book of Facts, 1959; The Woman Executive, Cussler; The New Mathematics, Adler; Mostly Baseball, Meany; Brotherhood of Evil: the Mafia, Sondern.

Historical Romance: Trumpets in the Dawn, Heckelmann; Consort for Victoria, Wilkins; Venetia, Heyer; The Sea is Red, O'Dell.

Adventure Stories: The Far Mountains, O'Rourke; The Secret Ways, MacLean; Oasis Nine, Canning.

Mysteries: Dangerous Passenger, Walsh; The Man Who Wrote Detective Stories, Stewart; The Fifth Caller, Nielsen; Double Jeopardy, Lanham; Smallbone Deceased, Malleson; Pass the Gravy, Fair; Detour at Night, Endore; The Chaste and the Un-

Local Man Attends Directors Meeting

E. A. Littrell, Littrell Parts, member of the board of directors of the newly-formed Automotive Service Industries association, was among those who attended the first meeting of the association in Chicago.

The meeting was the culmination of two years of planning on the part of the National Standard Parts Association and the Motor Equipment Wholesalers association to combine.

Littrell, president of the local firm, was notified of his appointment to the board earlier this year.

Foreign Labor Said Lowering Wages

Los Angeles—UPI—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said today cheap foreign labor was pulling down wages and forcing U. S. farm workers to live in conditions that were "an affront to the conscience of the American people."

Mitchell reiterated his promise to draft legislation setting minimum wages and hours for U. S. farm workers and regulating imported foreign help. He said the Labor Department was studying the matters.

What Is The Law?

This column is prepared as a public service by the College of Law, Willamette University, Salem, to explain basic legal principles, not to provide legal advice. The reader is cautioned not to apply these cases to his own problems without an attorney's advice, for differing facts may change the outcome.

Partnership by Estoppel

Smith and Johnson, men of moderate means, form a partnership to engage in the clothing business. After some years of operation, they hire Brown, a young man with a sizeable estate of his own. Brown, in going about as confidential clerk of the firm, contrives to give many people the impression, either by direct statements, or by veiled hints, that he is a partner in the business.

Allen, a clothing manufacturer, believing that Brown is a partner, on the strength of his credit sells the firm a large order of goods. Before this bill is paid, the partnership assets are exhausted. Brown is liable, jointly with Smith and Johnson, for the whole debt, just as though he were a partner. In legal terminology, Brown is "estopped" from denying to Allen that he is a partner because he had previously given the opposite impression.

Moreover . . . if Brown does not himself represent that he is a partner, but allows Smith or Johnson to introduce him to a customer as "my partner of our firm" or "my partner, Mr. Brown" he will make himself responsible to the customer as a partner. If Brown has stood by and allowed himself to be represented as a partner without protest, the effect is the same as if he had made the representation himself.

A more frequent case is where a partner retires from his firm without giving notice of his withdrawal to the partnership's customers or clients. Persons selling goods or rendering services to the firm think he is still a member, and, subsequently, when the firm fails, he finds that he is liable to these persons as if he had remained a partner.

The courts reason that it is fair that a man who allows others to think that he is a member of a firm, should be held responsible to persons giving the firm credit on the faith of this supposition, and that he should be liable to the same extent as if he were actually a partner. This is called "partnership of estoppel."
