

Kidnaped Baby Back in Arms of Widowed Mother

Ontario, Calif. (UPI)—Nine-week-old Eric Flores, kidnaped last Friday by a babysitter who has a 19-year-old son of her own, was back uninjured today in the arms of his widowed mother.

"Oh, I'm so happy," Mrs. Ruth Flores cried. "He's smiling at me all the time just as if he knows he's back home with his mother."

"I have no hatred in my heart," Mrs. Flores said. "Eric was found Wednesday night by a squad of police and FBI agents in the arms of Mrs. Betty Jean Yocom, 38, as she hid behind a locked bathroom door in her home at Norco, about 15 miles southeast of Ontario."

Hair, Eyebrows Dyed
The tot's auburn hair and eyebrows had been dyed black, but he looked neat and clean and apparently had been nursed over a cold from which he had been suffering. Mrs. Flores attributed the safe return of her baby to prayers delivered at the South Euclid Baptist church just a short time before lawmen working on a tip recovered Eric.

Mrs. Yocom readily admitted snatching Eric from the crib he shared with his twin brother, Aaron, last Friday while she was supposed to be tending Mrs. Flores' six children in the Flores' modest home here.

The 180-pound Mrs. Yocom, booked on suspicion of kidnaping, related a pathetic tale of wanting a baby by her present husband, Stephen, a truck driver. She said she had several miscarriages.

Eric was treated as her own child, Mrs. Yocom said. She told police she even convinced her husband, away for weeks at a time driving trucks, that Eric was their child to whom she had given birth during one of Yocom's absences.

Mrs. Yocom admitted she was married twice before and had a son, Samuel Leroy Mix, by her first marriage. She said she did not know her son's whereabouts.

Kennedy Believed Democrat Leader

Trenton, N. J. (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Wednesday Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) appears to be the front-running contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Butler quickly added that no one had the nomination "sewed up" and predicted a free and open convention. He said his appraisals were based on the opinion expressed to him and that a great many key Democrats still had not decided whom to support.

Butler also said he was convinced that Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful candidate for the presidency in 1952 and 1956, would not seek the nomination. He predicted that Stevenson would not get the nomination even as a compromise candidate.
