

Entry Blanks Are Received for Art Show in Valley

Blanks have been received for the use of southern Oregon artists in entering works in the coming art show being sponsored by the Oregon Centennial commission in cooperation with the Southern Oregon Society of Artists. They are available at Purucker's Music house, Medford.

Mrs. Ada Andrews, society president, said that only 20 blanks were sent, and that an additional supply has been requested. However, pictures may be entered without the blank if the required information accompanies the picture. Since the Portland chairman of the art show indicate that the supply of blanks is limited, Mrs. Andrews asks that only artists definitely planning to enter the show take the blanks.

According to the information received from Portland, any media but sculpture will be accepted. Those eligible are artists born in Oregon, those now residing in Oregon or those who formerly lived in the state for at least two years. Each artist may submit three pictures; however, there is no assurance that all three will be shown, Mrs. Andrews states.

Oregon Scene Theme
Pictures are to be in "The Oregon Scene" theme and this may be interpreted in a realistic, abstract or symbolical fashion, according to the state chairman. Artists are asked to make their pictures indicative of the "environment in which they live and work."

Those entering are urged to accompany each picture with the information asked for on the entry blank. They are to be taken to Purucker's March 15-20, will be juried March 21 and hung for exhibition March 22-27.

A committee of three judges will come from Portland to select a number to be shown in the state exhibit to be held in Portland June 10 to September 17. Artists whose works are chosen will be paid a small rental fee.

County Business Licenses Discussed

Salem -UPI- A bill to allow counties to license businesses outside cities to control their operations was supported by county officials and opposed by distributors and retail outlets before the Senate Local Government Committee Wednesday.

M. James Gleason, Multnomah county commissioner, said county regulation through licensing would give county government control it now cannot exercise over sanitation and safety in operations of businesses. F. L. Phipps, of the Association of Oregon Counties, said the measure has support of officials of all 36 counties.

Kersey Eldridge, president of the Oregon Distributors Association, said the measure was "all embracing" and should identify specifically what businesses could be licensed.

Four-Year Terms In House Proposed

Salem -UPI- A resolution was introduced in the House today by 32 representatives and four senators to provide for a four-year term for representatives in the state legislature. It also would authorize staggering of terms to the effect that there will be a turnover of one-half of the membership each election.

State representatives now serve two-year terms. State senators now serve four-year terms.
