

Porter Ranking Member of Two Subcommittees

Washington—Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) has been named ranking majority member of two of the four standing subcommittees of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

The announcement was made by Committee Chairman Tom Murray (D-Tenn). Porter will serve on the Civil Service subcommittee and the Census and Government Statistics subcommittee.

The Fourth District Congressman will serve as chairman of the five-member committee which will discuss legislation to credit to postal revenue certain amounts in connection with postal activities. The legislation (H. R. 4644 and H. R. 4645) has been referred to the special subcommittee.

To Conduct Studies

The standing subcommittees will conduct investigations and studies on matters within the jurisdiction of the full committee. Members of the full committee held their organizational meeting March 5. The meeting had been delayed because of the illness of Chairman Murray.

Porter said he was pleased to serve on the Civil Service and Census subcommittees. He said there were a number of Civil Service matters he hoped could be examined. Among them: Development of legislation to codify all civil service laws, legislation to provide a new and modern Civil Service law and a review of the administration of the Government Employees Training Act, the government employees' insurance programs, and procedures for separating of Civil Service employees. The committee, headed by Rep. James Morrison (D-La.) will also consider the establishment of a Federal overseas personnel program.

To Seek Cost Cut
The Census and Government Statistics subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Lesinski (D-Mich.) of which Porter is ranking majority member, will investigate census procedure and seek ways to reduce the cost to the Government of obtaining and processing information as well as minimizing the burden upon business enterprises and the general public.
