

Secretaries Hear About Centennial

Jackson county is stressing friendliness and hospitality for the tourists expected for Oregon's Centennial celebration. Hal Gardner at a meeting of Rogue River chapter, National Secretaries association, March 12. Mr. Gardner is a member of the county's Centennial committee.

The hospitality stockade which is under construction at the state line in the Siskiyou will provide an opportunity for tourists to learn about the Centennial and the events planned before entering the state, he said.

Mr. Gardner spoke at length about the plans for the continuation of this stockade after the Centennial year if it is feasible.

Members and a guest, Mrs. Mrs. Kathryn Scott, were particularly interested in this Centennial subject as the division meeting for Oregon is to be held at the Medford hotel, Mary 8, 9 and 10, with Rogue River Chapter as host chapter. Attendance from Oregon Trail chapter, Portland; Amanuenses chapter, Eugene; and Cascade chapter, Salem, is expected to bring attendance at this division meeting to about 50 delegates and officers.

Co-chairman for this event will be Mrs. Kathryn Thoms of Cal-Ore Machinery and Mrs. Gwenn Caster, Rogue Valley Memorial hospital.

The March meeting was held in the dining room of the Timber room in Medford and the April meeting of Rogue River chapter, NSA, will be held April 9 at Mary's Casa. It was further announced that the annual Bosses' Wives luncheon would be held at the Rogue, room of the Hotel Medford April 22, which is National Secretary's day. This event is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gloria Reeves.

Kappa Deltas To Hold Dinner

Southern Oregon members of Kappa Delta, national collegiate sorority, are invited to attend a dinner Thursday, March 26, at the home of Mrs. E. Hale Greenman, 2223 Aloha avenue, Medford.

The dinner will honor Mrs. Paul R. (Maxine) Smith, member of the sorority and teacher of foreign languages at Medford High school, who will be installed president of Oregon Education association at the annual meeting of the group Thursday, March 19, in Portland. Also honored will be Mrs. A. Weldon Webber who is leaving Medford soon to live in Texas.

Mrs. Bren H. Starcher will be Mrs. Greenman's assistant hostess. Kappa Deltas living in the Medford, Ashland and Grants Pass areas planning to attend may call Mrs. Greenman at SPring 3-5613, Medford.

Conference For Girls Announced

The 46th annual Older Girls' conference, sponsored by the United Church Women of Oregon, will be held April 3, 4 and 5 at the Boy Scout Training center on Mount Scott in southeast Portland.

OGC, as it is called, is an interdenominational, inter-racial association of girl leaders of high school and college age.

The theme of this year's conference is "Wider Grows the Trail." The program for the three days is built around workshops in different fields of Christian life, and panel discussions, featuring prominent, professional women: Miss Martha Schull, past president of The National Education Association; Mrs. Martha McKewon, well known Oregon author; Mrs. Hayden Kimbrell, Christian education director, and others.

An interesting tradition carried out at OGC is that of identifying the leaders of the conference by Indian terminology. This practice impresses upon the girls the meaning of their Oregon heritage.

The final convocation of the conference, and a highlight, will be the communion service, officiated by Dr. Mark Talney, executive secretary of the Oregon Council of Churches.

Miss Donna Fields, conference president, will preside at the three-day conference. Miss Freeda Hartzfeld, dean of women at Lewis and Clark college, director of the conference, and Mrs. Kay Somers, assistant director, will be advising the council of girls.

Meeting Planned By Sewing Club

DAV Auxiliary Sewing club will meet Thursday, March 19, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Graham, 175 Jeanette street, at noon. A potluck luncheon will be served.

New Low-Fat Diet Book Published by University

Eugene - A book to help guide the person who has been placed by his doctor on a low-fat diet has been published by the University of Oregon.

The book, entitled "Low-Fat Diet - Reasons, Rules, and Recipes," was written by Dr. Roy L. Swank, professor and head of the division of neurology at the University of Oregon Medical school, and Miss Agot Grimsgaard, research associate.

The 143-page, paperback publication contains more than 300 recipes to guide the housewife in preparing meals which are palatable and nutritious even though the fat intake has been restricted. Many of these recipes were contributed by patients who are following the low-fat diet.

The book is the first of a series of books by Medical School staff members planned for publication by the University of Oregon.

Much of the material contained in the book is based on research performed by Dr. Swank and Miss Grimsgaard at the University of Oregon Medical school and earlier at McGill University Medical School, Montreal. It reports their ten-year experience with the low-fat diet in the treatment of patients suffering from multiple sclerosis, a degenerative disease of the central nervous system.

In addition to the use of the low-fat diet in multiple sclerosis, "scientists throughout the world are daily piling up evidence that indirectly indicates that a high-fat intake may be a factor in the development of vascular disease, and that a low-fat intake may be helpful to those who already have the disease," Dr. Swank writes in the introduction.

For this reason, the Oregon Heart Association has purchased 1000 copies of the book for distribution to doctors in the state particularly interested in the problems of heart disease.

"Being a strong advocate of the low-fat diet, I welcome the timely publication of this book," Dr. Roger H. Keane, president of the Oregon Heart association, said. "It is my opinion that, in spite of the unsettled status of this method of attack on cardiovascular disease, we shall come to realize its need. It seems rather

Meeting Slated By Welcome Club

Medford Welcome Wagon club will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 19, at Girls Community club on North Bartlett street. An evening of bridge, pinocle, canasta and other games has been planned by the club's social chairman, Mrs. James Polard.

Ralph Wood spoke at the last meeting about the World Book Encyclopedia and its importance in the home for family reference and reading. He stressed that the text of the book is arranged to follow school subjects through the various grades and is an excellent source for information for the student. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ellis Chartier and Mrs. Eugene Garner.

Coming events are to include a Centennial program on the history of Oregon and a style show of spring fashions.

All new residents of the Medford area are invited to attend the Welcome Wagon meetings. Complete club information may be had by calling Mrs. Paul Dix, Welcome Wagon hostess at SPring 2-9453.

Right way to clean and wax wood floors

The world's largest maker of hardwood floors gives some helpful floor care tips

Wood floors require different care than linoleum, vinyl and others. For example, wood floors should never be washed with water. After years of testing, we learned dry cleaning is the only right way to care for them.

You just pour Bruce's special combination of dry cleaning ingredients and liquid wax on the floor. The most stubborn marks, dirt and old wax wipe away instantly. All the dirt comes up on the cloth. On the floor is lots of rich, clean wax. A light buffing and you're all done in half the usual time—with no messy, hard scrubbing. You can touch up heavy traffic areas again and again without redoing the whole floor.

We recommend BRUCE CLEANING WAX for a rich coat of wax, and BRUCE FLOOR CLEANER where less wax is desired. Both work their clean-as-you-wax wonders on linoleum, too. Try this easy, proper method next time you wax and see the beautiful difference.

FREE FLOOR CARE BOOKLET! Gives valuable tips on the care of wood, cork, linoleum, vinyl, asphalt tile, rubber tile, terrazzo and ceramic floors. Also wood panelling. Write today to E. L. Bruce Co., Memphis, Tenn., for free copy.
