

Footlighter Comedy Continues

The last two performances of "The Tender Trap" by the Footlighters will be given tonight and tomorrow night at the Footlighters theater.

The Max Shulman - Robert Smith comedy is the first 1939 production of the theater group, and audiences this week have received it enthusiastically.

"The Tender Trap" features Charles Tucker, Audrey Reiss, Robbie Robbins, and Shirley Budreau in the lead roles. Supporting cast includes Shirley Tucker, Dave Havlic, and Curtis and Shirlee Butterfield. Frank Buchter is director.

The set was designed and constructed by Bernard Roberts, Herbert Seitz and Tom Eslinger, and the somewhat unusual props were collected by Helen Ashley. Grace Shaw is the promptress.

Plans are not yet completed for the next production, according to Footlighters president Leslie Boardman, but the group plans to continue working in association with the Medford Lions club, as it did for the current production.

"The Tender Trap" starts at 8:30 p.m. tonight and tomorrow night in the Footlighters theater. Tickets are available at Swem's and Purucker's, and will also be sold at the door before performances.

Bethel Observes Friendship Night

Cave Junction-Friendship night was observed Monday evening by Bethel 36, Job's Daughters, in the Masonic Temple at Kerby. Honored Queen Carmel White presided.

Honored were Miss Sylvia Morris, queen of Bethel 14 and Miss Barbara Gordon, senior princess, Bethel 55, Medford; Mrs. Harold Gordon, Bethel 55 guardian; Mrs. Lucille Miller, Bethel 13, Graceland; and Mrs. C. D. Elhart, Bethel 14 guardian. Mrs. Elhart is also past grand guardian. L. H. Manning, Bethel 55, grand inner guard, was also honored.

Queen Carmel presented each escorted guest a hat symbolic of St. Patrick's day. John Morris, promoter of fraternal relations, announced that the work day for the four Masonic organizations at the Masonic tree farm in O'Brien, will be cancelled for this month due to Easter Sunday.

The scheduled "go to church" Sunday which had been set for March 22 has also been postponed. A new date will be announced.

Final arrangements for transportation, housing and other plans pertaining to grand session will be made at the next meeting.

March 28 will be a work day for preparing the potted trees which will be sold during the 100 days of Oregon's Centennial observance. Work will be done at the home of Ralph Millard and will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

Installation of officers of Redwood chapter, DeMolay, Monday, March 30 at 8 p.m. was announced.

Formal initiation will be held April 6, with a practice session slated for Saturday, April 4 at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Gordon extended an invitation to Bethel 36 to attend the birthday celebration of Medford Bethel 55 on Tuesday, March 31.

In place of the usual skit for entertainment, several games in which the adults and the girls could participate were held.

An Easter egg tree was used as the centerpiece of the buffet table and blossoms decorated the individual tables. Beverly Sowell, Diane Blue, Linda Vahrenwald and their mothers served as the refreshment committee.

It will then be open every day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Friday, March 27.

The show will be juried by James McFarrell, artist in residence at Reed college;

Lion Cub Attraction For Show

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

Dallas, Texas, (UPI)—It used to be that children stole the scenes from the adults at a fashion show. Today, it's the animals taking the scenes from the children.

A lion cub named Susie, an out and out ham at three months of age, wobbled down a runway at the closing day of shows sponsored annually by the Dallas Manufacturers Fashion center.

The children didn't have much chance after Susie, owned by a Dallas trainer named Carl James, appeared, although the little darlings wore some of the prettiest frocks the Dallas market has produced in its nine years of shows for the nation's fashion press.

Susie wore a garland of red and white flowers and helped to introduce a collection of clothes full of pinafores and frills for small "social lionesses."

The inspiration for Susie's act came from Facho, one of the Dallas firms which sell children's clothes coast to coast.

The firm copied adult fashions by putting small girls into gingham checks, florals or all white for summer. Most practical dresses from a parental point of view were the wrap-arounds in white pique, easy for the child to put on, easy for mother to iron.

Less practical, but bound to please a child at Easter or at a party, were dresses in pastel batiste with 40 yards of lace half inch frilled into a series of V-shaped panels around the skirt.

Betty Terrell, remembering the days when to "be good" meant a treat at the ice cream parlor, produced a whole group of "confection" clothes—dresses, sun dresses, one piece sun-suits, shorts and shirts applied with replicas of ice cream cones, sodas and sandwiches.

One sun-suit came with matching, detachable bib for the toddler who wants to have his ice cream and drool it too. Most dresses for little girls came with full, gathered skirts and stacks of petticoats underneath, although there were a few with long torso top, knife-pleated skirt and middle collar.

Andrew Vincent, Eugene, painter and professor of art at the University of Oregon and Dr. Francis J. Newton, art historian and curator of the Portland Art museum. Works selected by these men will be part of a state art show to be held in Portland during the summer.

The society plans a reception for the men Wednesday, March 23, at 8 p.m. at Girls Community club, 229 North Bartlett street. All artists of southern Oregon are invited to attend and meet the honored men according to Mrs. Leonard Andrews, Gold Hill, society president.

Artists with pictures in the show may pick up their entries Saturday, March 28, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at 40 South Bartlett street.

For the convenience of out-of-town exhibitors unable to pick up their entries Saturday, arrangements have been made to leave the pictures at Purucker's Music house for one week following the exhibit. All pictures not picked up Saturday will be taken to Purucker's, it is stated.

The society will hold a business meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Girls Community club just preceding the reception.

Foreign Policy To Be Studied By Evening Unit

The evening study group of Medford League of Women Voters will hold the first of a series of two discussions on the foreign policy of the United States Monday, March 23, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Rutter, 1033 Queen Anne avenue, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Frederick Burich has prepared the material and will moderate the discussion. The March meeting will cover the history, organization and procedures of the United States foreign policy.

Mrs. Fred Carr, unit chairman, cordially invites anyone interested in the discussion to attend.

Past Presidents Of Club Honored

Past presidents of Olive Rebekah Past Noble Grands' club were honored at the last meeting, held at Girls Community club. They were presented gifts by Mrs. Riley Applegate, vice president of the club.

Mrs. Willard Cave, Mrs. Mark Hoelt, and Mrs. Glen Clymer, Eagle Point; Mrs. Leda Durand and Mrs. Alice Smith were visitors of the club. They presented entertainment in the Centennial theme. Mrs. Cave and Mrs. Hoelt sang, with Mrs. Clymer as accompanist. They wore Centennial clothing.

Mrs. Joseph Cave presented a birthday cake to her sister, Mrs. Willard Cave. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Lee Garrett, Mrs. William Sweet and Mrs. Jennie Hensler.

The next meeting of the club will be April 9.

Play Slated for Cruisers' Club

A cast from the Medford office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company will present a playlet for a meeting of Cruisers' club, First Presbyterian church, Monday, March 23. The play, "Broken Circle" is sponsored by the Southern Oregon Child Guidance Clinic association.

The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish dinner at 6:45 p.m.

All interested couples are invited to attend.

Lodges to Hold Family Dinner

Crater Lake aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the auxiliary will hold a family dinner at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, March 22, in the lodge hall, 217 West Main street.

Members of the Grants Pass lodge will be guests. Women attending are asked to take desserts.

Meeting Planned By Grandmothers

Rogue chapter, Grandmother Clubs of America, will meet Monday, March 23, at Girls Community club. Dessert will be followed by a business and social meeting.

Each member is asked to make and wear an amusing or unusual hat for an Easter parade.

Time Extension Granted Heintz For Sewer Work

The Medford city council last night granted a 30-day extension to R. A. Heintz construction company for completion of the Kenwood-Grandview sanitary sewer project.

City Manager Robert A. Duff reported that construction crews have encountered unexpected concentrations of hard rock which have slowed progress.

Councilman Ed Hall, Ward I, urged that Heintz provide connection "without delay" for property owners in areas where the sewer has already been installed.

Approve Assessments The council approved, following a public hearing at which no one spoke from the floor, assessments for a trunk water main recently constructed along Barnett rd. from Stewart ave. to South Riverside ave. The assessment rate has been set at $2.35 per front foot of abutting property.

Public hearings were called for May 7 on annexation of an 18-acre tract southeast of the intersection of Murphy rd. and Country Club dr. and on vacating a dead-end alley behind Pulver's motel, 1237 North Riverside ave.

The council tentatively awarded a contract to Heintz for construction of a sanitary sewer for Eastover terrace. The award was made subject to approval of a majority of property owners involved since the Heintz bid of $10,003.25 exceeds the engineer's estimate of $8,190.

The councilmen called for bids on curbs and gutters for the east approach to the proposed Eighth st. bridge over Bear creek and on curbs, gutters and paving for the extension of North Columbus ave. between West Jackson st. and McAndrews rd.

Public hearings were called for April 16 on a sanitary sewer to serve South Riverside ave. from Spencer ave. to Stewart ave. and on a water main for Mary st. between Sailing ave. and East Jackson st.

Three storm sewers—for drainage from Hedrick Junior High school on Oregon and Sailing aves., for Walden pl. south to a small creek and for a strip across Siskiyou blvd. west of Highland dr.—were approved.

The council authorized plans and specifications for paving Mary st. between Sailing ave. and East Jackson st. Plans and specifications were adopted for grading and placing base material on Stevens st. from Crater Lake ave. west 1,400 feet and for the proposed sewer serving South Riverside from Spencer to Stewart. The councilmen also authorized the Stevens st. improvement.

On Duff's recommendation, T. R. Florey was prequalified to perform contract work with the city.
