

Resurrection of Jesus Christ To Be Celebrated on Ancient Schedule

Jerusalem, Israel—(UPI)—Various denominations will celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ three times by following an ancient schedule of services in the beautiful Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

On Sunday, Roman Catholics and Protestants will celebrate the customary Easter holiday of the Western world.

On Saturday, April 25, the Jerusalem Baptist church will conduct a joint Easter-Passover celebration to commemorate the physical deliverance of the Jews from bondage and the spiritual deliverance of humanity by the Passion of Jesus.

Ancient Ceremony

On Sunday, May 3, the Greek Orthodox Community will rejoice in the rising of the Savior with an ancient ceremony of oriental splendor.

The focal point to which all hearts are drawn on Easter is the church of the Holy Sepulchre in the old city of Jerusalem. This, the most sacred shrine in Christendom, houses the tomb of Jesus.

Throughout the Catholic world, Holy Week services are held in the afternoon. The Holy Sepulchre is the only place of worship where the Catholic services are held in the morning. This is because the Church of the Holy Sepulchre is shared by Roman Catholics, Greek Orthodox, Armenian Orthodox, and, to a lesser degree, Syrian and Abyssinian Christians.

Times for the services of each group have been carefully fixed and rigidly observed by traditions gener-tions old. To upset this delicate balance jealously guarded by each would require negotiations that would drag on for years.

This Easter, services will be held in a partly renovated basilica which since the earthquake of 1957 and the fire of 1949 has been in urgent need of repair. The work, begun last November, to restore and stabilize the dome over the main entrance of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre will be completed this summer.

The Roman Catholic Easter Sunday will begin at 8:30 a.m.

with a Pontifical Mass and a solemn procession. The traditional kawas-Moslem guide—in red baggy trousers and carrying a silver staff which he taps sharply on the cobble stones and concrete sidewalks to clear the way will lead the procession. The Roman Catholic Patriarch of Jerusalem, the Most Rev. Alberto Gori, in white and gold vestments with gold braid will head the march from the patriarchate to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

At the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Monsignor Gori will walk around the tomb three times chanting the gospels of Easter Sunday.

Only Catholic Rite in Area

The Roman Catholic Church has decreed that unless this divine worship can be carried out with the proper solemnity and the right number of priests and assistants, it should not be conducted at all. Consequently, the only Catholic Easter service in the Jordan-held old city of Jerusalem will be held at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

In the new city, in the Israel sector, solemn mass will be held in the morning and evening only at the Franciscan Terra Sancta College, the Church of Notre Dame just on the border between the old and new cities and still fronted by masses of rubble left by the Arab-Israel war of 1948, the Church of the Dormition on Mt. Zion, and the Cloister of the Poor Claires.

RESCUE UNAVAILING—Mud-covered rescuers John Carter (left) and Ron Peters (right) were unable to pull Neil Moss, 20-year-old Oxford student from a corkscrew-shaped fissure in a cave he had been exploring near Castleton, England. Carter, a doctor, crawled through the slimy blackness to aid Moss, but the boy died still trapped. Peters was leader of rescue attempts.

Quotes From the News

By United Press International

Washington—President Eisenhower, in announcing that cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles will continue to serve in the administration while his health permits:

"As long as he is capable of working, that is as long as he can feel physically that he can work, I will never let him go in some capacity."

London—The London Times, in reporting that Tibet has declared its independence from Communist China:

"Since the moment of this desperate and monumental gesture, the whereabouts of the Dalai Lama have been unknown."

Peoria, Ill.—Mrs. Sean O'Kelly, diplomatic wife of the President of Ireland, after ruining her high-heeled pumps wading through mud on a visit to a cattle farm here:

"It was good to get out on the farm."

Jasper, Ala.—James H. Herron, 17, charged with the rape of the wife of his high school teacher:

"He always blamed me for everything that went wrong in class."

London—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, when asked in Commons whether a summit meeting this summer is definite:

"I would say that everyone seems to think there will be one."

Local Youths Are Named Counselors

Corvallis—Marvin Terry and Gerald Vice of Medford have been selected as junior counselors for the 23rd Oregon Beaver Boys State, scheduled June 14 to 20 at Oregon State college. Terry's home address is 2122 Bullock rd. Vice lives at 527 Barnes ave.

They were two of 15 boys picked from the 450 youths who attended last year's Beaver Boys State to return as counselors this year. Each will be in charge of one of the living groups at Boys State and will help direct activities during the week.

Beaver Boys State is a one-week citizenship camp sponsored by the Oregon American Legion. Sophomore and junior boys from throughout the state are picked to attend and are sponsored by various community organizations. Training is built around classes in government, American history, and leadership.

Boys are organized into local, county, and state governments with elections at each level. Boys named to state offices in Boys State are installed during the one-day trip to the state capital in Salem.
