

In the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

Let's talk today about "day-light" time. It's at least an interesting subject, because a proposal to have it for at least a little while—constitutionally or no constitution—turned out to be the hottest issue that so far has faced the Oregon legislature, which faces a lot of really weighty problems.

THIS is the situation: The constitution of Oregon, as amended by a decisive vote of the people not too long ago, specifically forbids "fast" time anywhere in the state. Cities are forbidden to adopt fast time. Counties are forbidden to adopt fast time. The language of the amendment is clear and definite. Its purpose is to prohibit fooling with the clock in the state of Oregon.

BUT—Somebody got an idea. The idea was that SOMEHOW fast time would help the Oregon Centennial. So a scheme was dreamed up. The scheme was to adopt a legislative act PERMITTING fast time. The emergency clause was to be attached to the act, so it couldn't be held up by referendum.

The thought was that it would take the courts some time to pass on it, and by the time the courts got around to a decision the Centennial would be over.

THE legislature failed to go along with the project for which it is to be commended. Fast time may be all right, but throwing monkey wrenches into the constitutional wheels certainly isn't a practice to be praised. It smacks too much of thimbling.

At that, it was a narrow squeak. The proposal was defeated by a motion for indefinite postponement, which carried by a majority of only three votes.

PERSONALLY, I can take fast time, or I can leave it. Speaking as an individual, what I'd like is for EVERYBODY TO HAVE THE SAME TIME. That goes particularly for our mythical State of Jefferson, where half of us for half the year have been living by one time while the other half lives by another time.

It's a mess. You call up somebody on the other side of the dividing line and make an appointment for lunch. When lunch time comes, it turns out that you thought YOUR TIME was meant while the other fellow thought it was HIS TIME.

Result—GRIEF.

YOU want to take a train, or a plane. What time do you leave? Your time, or somebody's else's time? You have a favorite radio or TV program. When does the darned thing come on? This time? Or that time?

Result—MORE GRIEF. For Pete's sake, let's SOME-DAY agree during the summer months on WHAT TIME IT IS.

Humphrey Wants Hammarskjold To Attend Top Talks

Washington — (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) proposed today that United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold be included in any summit conference on the Berlin crisis.

Humphrey made the suggestion in a speech prepared for delivery in Miami, Fla., as another senator and a NATO official both predicted here that there would be no war over Berlin.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he discounted the possibility of Russia taking steps that would lead to war over Berlin because Soviet leaders are "fully aware of what a nuclear war would mean to them."

Shield Seen Deterrent
W. Randolph Burgess, U.S. ambassador to NATO, said he did not think the Communists would start a war as long as the NATO "shield" is on the spot as a deterrent.

Humphrey said the presence of Hammarskjold at a summit conference "would mean the symbolic representation of all the members of the United Nations who may object to four powers presuming to settle an issue which can mean peace or war for the entire world."

The senator, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a speech prepared for the Dade County Bar Association that "peace is the responsibility of all nations."

Moral Authority
He said that the United States should "invoke the moral authority of the purposes and principles embodied in the charter of the United Nations." He called for summit talks within the framework of the U.N.

Humphrey also warned against expecting "quick and easy solutions" from summit negotiations. He said "we must be prepared to negotiate as long as there is the slightest prospect of relieving world tensions and minimizing the danger of war."

Russia Said Sending Tanks, Arms Into Iraq for Buildup

Editor's note: Middle East correspondent Larry Collins was expelled from Baghdad Thursday with two other American correspondents. Friday he described the seizure of much of the government by Communists and an anti-Communist purge that has jailed up to 15,000 anti-Communist. Today's dispatch reports that the Soviet Union is pouring tanks and arms into Iraq for a major expansion of the Iraqi army.

By LARRY COLLINS
UPI Correspondent
Beirut, Lebanon — (UPI) — The Soviet Union is pouring tanks and arms into Iraq for a major expansion of the Iraqi army by Communist-backed Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

The Premier already has put one new, understrength division into the field since he took power in a coup last July, and plans for a second already have been completed.

The new divisions were scheduled to receive Soviet arms, which have been arriving steadily during the past eight months. The most recent shipment arrived at Basra last week end and included 34 tanks.

Sixth Since Coup
It was the sixth Soviet shipment of arms since the coup and brought to 150 the number of Russian tanks now being readied for use by the Army. This is double the number of tanks in the late King Faisal's pro-Western army and enough to outfit a full Soviet-style T34 tank and 50 of the newer T54 models.

In addition, the Soviets have delivered to Iraq about 20,000 Czech machine pistols, anti-aircraft guns, light and medium field artillery pieces, small arms, mortars and motorized transport.

At least 100 Soviet army officers and men are in Iraq on a training mission to instruct the Iraqi army in the use of the new weapons.

Composed of Three Divisions
Thus far, there has been no sign that the new equipment has been integrated into the Army on a large scale, but some Czech machine pistols made their appearance in Baghdad last week.

There has been no sign as yet that the Iraqi air force has made any request for Russian airplanes.

The Iraqi army, which observers rated as one of the best in the Middle East before the current anti-Communist purges riddled its ranks, is comprised of three brigades each about the size of a U.S. infantry regiment about 3,000 men, and two other divisions which are under-strength.

American Troops In Japan Said To Violate Document

Tokyo — (UPI) — Judge Akio Date ruled today that the presence of American troops in Japan violates this country's U.S.-fostered "no war" constitution.

Date, dismissing charges against seven leftist rioters in the Tokyo District Court, said the U.S.-Japanese security treaty which calls for the stationing of American forces in Japan is unconstitutional.

A Justice Ministry spokesman's ruling as "absolutely unacceptable." He pointed out that the Japanese courts have upheld the constitutionality of the security pact in ruling after ruling.

May Go To High Court
The ministry was expected to go to the Japanese Supreme Court if necessary to reverse Date's decision.

The defendants acquitted by Date were members of the leftist mobs that battled Japanese police at Sunakawa intermittently for a year in an effort to prevent prolongation of the runways at America's Tachikawa Air Base.

The prosecution had asked that each of the seven men be sent to jail for six months. The defendants included union leader Shigeru Sakata and Genaro Tsuchiya, secretary general of a Communist-line student group.

Deadly Cobra En Route To Grants Pass Said Stolen

San Francisco — (UPI) — A 12-foot king cobra, one of the world's deadliest snakes, was stolen from the cab of a truck early today in downtown San Francisco.

Police immediately issued "shoot to kill" orders at the request of the owner, Scott Lamb, 50, operator of a Morgan Hill snake farm.

"I've seen a cobra strike, and it takes under half an hour for that venom to kill a man," Lamb told authorities. "And one drop of it would kill an elephant."

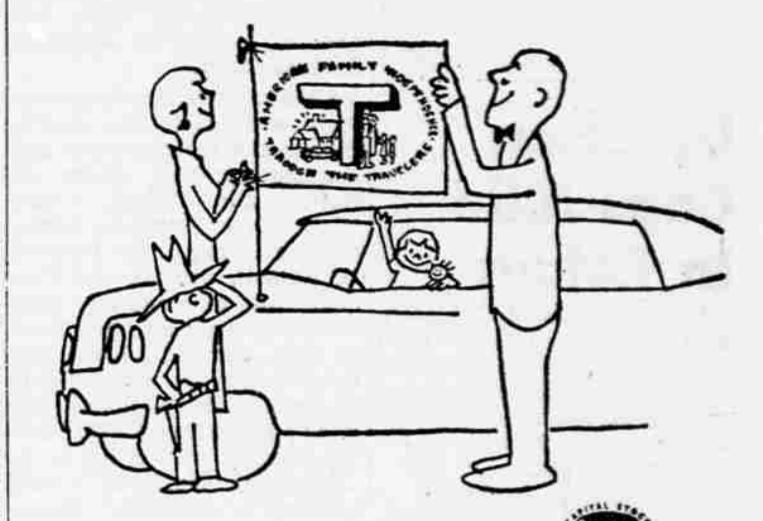

Lamb said he was taking the snake, along with a diamondback rattlesnake and an African cobra, to a snake farm at Grants Pass, Ore.

He said he parked his truck

Search for Hunt Puzzles Lawmen
Eugene — (UPI) — The whereabouts of Richard A. Hunt, 26, continued to puzzle Oregon lawmen today as the fugitive remained at large for the seventh day.

A search of the Eugene area turned up nothing. A pickup truck similar to the one believed stolen by Hunt Friday was found on a downtown Eugene street. An M-1 rifle was found in the seat.

Hunt is wanted for the wounding last week of the Brownsville chief of police, Robert Kennow, and the abducting of the Harrisburg chief of police, E. G. McPhee.

State police said all clues had been checked out and that nothing new had been found.

FBI agents have in their possession some clothing found by two Monroe youngsters in a ditch north of Junction City but refused to discuss it.

Western Meat Packing Industry Said in Danger

Portland — (UPI) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on rates for shipping dressed meats and meat products from the Midwest opened here today with a warning that the western meat packing industry is in danger.

E. Floyd Forbes of San Francisco, president and general manager of the Western States Meat Packers association, said the life of the meat industry which employs some 25,000 workers in 10 western states is at stake.

Faces Destruction
"The Western meat packing industry faces destruction if railroads are permitted to set new westbound freight rates on Midwest processed meat and meat products," Forbes said. He said the proposed rates are 30 to 70 cents a hundredweight below truckline charges.

Railroads presented their case last week at Denver, Washington state rate change opponents were to be heard today with California and Idaho representatives testifying Tuesday. Oregon opponents will testify Wednesday and Thursday.
