

General Federation Officer Says Sphere of Women Now Unlimited

There is no limit to women's sphere," said Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, Concord, N. H., third vice president of the General Federation of Women's club, who spoke for the 46th annual convention of the First District of the Oregon Federation Saturday in Illinois Valley High school, Cave Junction.

Mrs. Arnold added that if women are to meet the challenge which modern day living presents she must be ready with knowledge, must be able to weigh facts and to act when needed.

Mrs. Arnold's topic was "Unity in Diversity and Woman's Sphere." Although there are five and one-half million members in the United States, fewer than 20 per cent of the women in this country belong to women's federated clubs, Mrs. Arnold said.

Oregon has the smallest membership of any state in the union, she added, but said that "some of the finest statements of club women have come from Oregon. Many women want to do something for their community, the federation leader said, but do not get a chance.

Mrs. Arnold said there is need for new clubs and additional members and added "in unity there is strength. United, our voice can be very important and very large. She stressed that clubs should meet their community's needs.

"There is a near look and far look," the speaker said. "The near look is your own club; the far look goes beyond self, beyond state and into the world - this is belonging to the federation." She added that "We need to learn humility."

During a question and answer period, Mrs. Arnold suggested that parents could easily solve the problem of their children watching shotgun shows on television by a simple turn of the knob on the set.

Mrs. Arnold, a past president of the New Hampshire Federation of Women's club, was introduced by Mrs. Walter Brown, Klamath Falls, Oregon Federation president.

Medford Junior Women's club and Travel Study club of Medford issued an invitation to be held in Medford, and the invitation was accepted.

division and First District chairman of American home; and Mrs. H. J. Stephens, Rogue River, second vice president of First District, and chairman of conservation, both gave reports.

The Illinois Valley club, with Mrs. Boyd as chairman, was hostess to the group for a coffee hour and luncheon at noon. The places were marked with miniature redwood carts filled with moss and flowers.

Rogue River Civic club gave a Centennial skit, the convention theme was the Centennial.

A vogue fashion show was directed by Medford Junior Women's club. Mrs. Gene Chamberlain was narrator. Modeling clothing, they made were Leonell Heater, Grants Pass, Clara Havard, Grants Pass, Mrs. L. E. Spence, Klamath Falls, Mrs. Billingsley, Medford, and Mrs. Nellie Peterson, Ashland. Mrs. Orma Farnham, adult education instructor in sewing, Josephine county, Carolyn White, Josephine county extension agent in home economics, and Mrs. Charles McCalmon, former adult education instructor in sewing, were the judges. Mrs. Billingsley's two-piece suit was judged the best of the show.

Travel Study club sang a song which Edward C. Root, Medford, composed for the club.

Mrs. Peterson closed the convention with a thought for the day.

Joy Lee Parkenson and Joice Parson, Cave Junction, were pages for the day.

caused her to quit college and go to work as a bird specialist with the Hartz Mountain Seed company. Ten years ago, she joined Macy's, and for three years has managed the department, buying birds, tropical fish and accessories for pets, cats and other assorted pets.

She lives in a four-room apartment, tenanted also by five canaries and six parakeets.

"I guess I just like birds," said Miss Bader, as she pointed to some of the varieties which make good household pets.

"Pets fill many lonely hours for people," she said. "I get letters from all over. One invalid lady in a nearby town calls me regularly each week to report on her canary."

So, a trip to the fourth floor of the store, which claims it has the largest pet department in the county.

Experts With Pets

Miss Bader proved to look as Frances said - very tall, very blonde, very blue-eyed, very pretty. Also, very expert with pets.

"Like to see a canary take a nap?" she asked. With that, a gentle hand reached into a cage full of our fine feathered friends, pulled out a surprised canary.

Within seconds, the tiny bit of yellow fluff was lying flat on its back in her open palm, its legs stuck skyward, and settled down for a snooze.

"All in knowing how to handle birds," she smiled. "The art comes with time, patience and fortitude."

Charlie Not At Home

"I would like you to meet Charlie, but he's out today, on loan for an exhibit. Charlie is my own mynah, but I leave him here at the shop most of the time."

"He has a vocabulary of 75 phrases, including 'Where's everybody going?' 'What's the matter?' and 'Hello, baby.' When he lets go with his wolf whistle, you can hear him practically to Gimbel's."

At one time, she said, Macy's had a rather pompous minor executive who often visited the pet center. He apparently got on Charlie's nerves, but Charlie kept his peace, until one day he loosened up enough to yell, "Aw, sheeppp."

Food Service Meeting News Announced Here

Local members of the Oregon School Food Service association have been notified that the 13th annual convention of the American School Food Service association will be held this year in San Francisco. Dates are August 9-13.

Recently a group of 14 attended the ninth annual conference of the Oregon association, held in Gresham. A total of 350 from all parts of the state were present.

Members of the North Bend and the Una B. Inch and Medford chapters from Jackson county took charge of registration. Unique name tags of covered wagons and old-fashioned ladies provided by the Medford group were in the Centennial theme of the convention.

Dr. Jennie I. Rowntree, former head of home economics of the University of Washington and Dr. Beth Bailey McLean, Oregon State college, were main speakers.

Dr. Rowntree spoke on "Education Through the School Lunch" and Dr. McLean who was with Swift and company for many years, chose "The Work of the Home Economist in Business" as her subject. Both women have had years of experiences in training personnel as well as in interpreting the assistance available to workers in the field.

Jackson county was represented at the meeting by Mrs. Arlie Ragsdale, Trail; Mrs. Faye Ross, Shady Cove, and Mrs. Irene Drew, Mrs. Esther Erickson, Mrs. Genive Gray, Mrs. Ruth Hurt, Mrs. Vesta Pyle, Mrs. Elaine Taplett, Mrs. Velma Taylor, Mrs. Marjorie Turman, Mrs. Hazel Withrow, Mrs. Virginia Wicker, Mrs. Beulah Webbe and Mrs. Virginia Wait, coordinator of the school lunch program for the Medford schools, all from Medford.

Anyone wishing further information is asked to call the Y, Spring 2-6295.

Show Announced For Eagle Point

Eagle Point - Plans for a flower show were made at a meeting of Eagle Point Garden club held April 1 at the home of Mrs. Ruby Stowell. Mrs. Jack Fortin was co-hostess.

The show will be held at the Grange hall Thursday, May 7. Mrs. Earle Jossy is chairman, and information may be obtained by calling Talbot 6-4833.

On May 6 members are asked to meet at the hall at 10 a.m. wearing work clothing and bringing sack lunches. At the usual meeting time the group will go to the home of Mrs. Otto Nagel for dessert. A business meeting will follow.

Each member is also asked to make three dozen small tea cookies for the silver tea to be held as a part of the flower show. Plants to be sold should be taken to the hall early.

Anyone interested in belonging to the club is advised to attend the may meeting.

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

Los Angeles - April 2 - A remarkable midget hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly 20 years.

This new small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and was announced in California today as the most revolutionary product ever to appear on the market for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but not understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sound, television and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of 4 transistors, the user cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately 1/4 ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

For further details without obligation, write to: G. H. Welch, 1965 So. Holt Ave., Los Angeles 35, California. You will receive full information.

Several Gold Hill Groups Announce Events for April

Gold Hill - Several organizations have announced meeting dates for April, and fund raising events of their groups which will take place this month.

Amethyst Rebekah lodge members made arrangements at the last meeting, held Wednesday, April 1 in the Odd Fellow's hall on Fourth avenue, to hold a luncheon and card party at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, April 22. The public is invited to attend. Proceeds will go into the hall improvement fund. Mrs. Clarence Parsley, ways and means chairman, is in charge of this event.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Jerry Herrington, noble grand. Mrs. Paul Thompson was elected delegate of the lodge to attend the grand lodge session in Roseburg May 19-21. Mrs. Walter McLean and Mrs. Earl Moore were elected alternate delegates. Mrs. Thompson was recommended for district deputy president. Plans were made to hold Friendship night and homecoming Wednesday, May 6. All lodges within this district will be invited to attend.

Members of the Gold Hill lodge plan to attend Friendship night at Central Point Rebekah lodge Wednesday, April 15, which is the same meeting date as Amethyst lodge. A short business session will be held in the local hall prior to leaving for Central Point. Amethyst Rebekahs are requested to be at the IOOF hall in Gold Hill not later than 7:30 p.m. on that date.

At the close of lodge, a social hour was held. Hostesses for the refreshments were Mrs. Herrington, Mrs. William Gossman and Mrs. Cecil Johnson.

Mrs. Clarence Parsley was hostess for a meeting of the Past Noble Grand's club at her home on Sardine Creek March 26. Mrs. Roy Brockman, vice-president, conducted the business session.

Mrs. Paul Thompson was named to install new officers at the next meeting of the group. Officers to be installed are Mrs. Albert Gascon, president; Mrs. Parsley, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Z. Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. George Dorman, secretary.

The annual dinner for past noble grands and their families will be held in the IOOF hall Thursday evening, April 30. Mrs. Stewart will be in charge of committees and arrangements.

Blame for World Ills Broadened

Portland - (UPI) - The 71st annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon was told Sunday that Communism cannot be blamed for all the world's disorders.

Bishop James W. F. Carman told the convention that "we cannot lay the blame at the feet of Communism, for that answer seems a little too simple to explain what's been going on in the world long before Communism rose to its present power."

He added, "some evil, more deeply rooted in mankind than the communist revolution is causing these recurring disorders. Call it materialism, call it atheism, call it secularism, call it nationalism, call it greed, call it hate, call it injustice - call it what you will."

"But the evil stalking the modern world is a deadly epidemic of all these moral disorders. The root trouble is that men are not living human life as God intended it to be lived."

Bishop Carman last year replaced the Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell as head of the Oregon Diocese.

Trashed Separator

Tucson, Ariz. - (UPI) - A trash separator that looks and sounds like a Rube Goldberg invention is helping save Pima County $15,000 a year. The $12,000 contraption, invented locally, consists of an ingenious combination of conveyor belts, a hopper, a permanent magnet and a large wire tumbler. It separates the paper from the tin cans, which are then sold for $14.50 a ton.

Ingrid Bergman Warmly Welcomed Back To Hollywood

Hollywood - (UPI) - Actress Ingrid Bergman, 41, warmly welcomed back to filmland after a 10-year self-imposed exile touched off by her international romance with Italian director Roberto Rossellini, tonight takes part in Filmland's most-gala annual event, the Academy Awards.

The Swedish actress will present the Oscar for what is considered by many as the program's most important award, the best picture of the year.

Glittering Reception

Miss Bergman, twice divorced and twice married in the decade that lapsed since her headline-making decision to stay away from Hollywood, was given a glittering reception Saturday night attended by some of the movie industry's top figures.

The attractive actress smiled warmly and chatted with guests in a long reception line. She attended a party with her new husband, Lars Schmidt, and her daughter Pia (Jenny) Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman and her daughter by her first marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom embraced warmly when they were reunited. The girl is a student at Mills College in the San Francisco area.

"We are going to parties and Jenny will be with us," Miss Bergman said. "It will be the first time she will see an Academy Awards presentation."

To Leave Tuesday

Miss Bergman, who married Schmidt, a theatrical producer, last December after divorcing Rossellini by whom she had three children, said she and Schmidt will leave for New York Tuesday.

Some of the guests attending Saturday night's reception were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Douglas, William Holden and wife, Brenda Marshall, Sir Laurence Olivier, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Martin.

Dr. Orval Eaton, local optometrist, was named chairman of the Medford branch, First National bank, was named co-chairman. Mrs. Jack James, Phoenix, was named as leader of the area of the county outside of Medford, and Mrs. Ralph Odell, Medford, was appointed chairman of the house to house Cancer Crusade.

The life-saving and fund raising drive began April 1. The whole month of April has been designated Cancer Control month by presidential proclamation.

Volunteers

Mrs. O'dell's volunteers will be ringing doorbells to distribute life-saving information about cancer, and collecting voluntary contributions, it was reported. The literature will stress the value of periodic health checkups to guard the family.

The home crusade is set for April 21, with more than 500 workers set to crusade in Medford, and more than 400 in the outlying areas. Each volunteer will contact from 10 to 15 families.

The Jackson County unit of the American Cancer Society conducts a year around education program, showing films and distributing information. The Cancer Crusade has three purposes, research, public information and service.
