Tax Writers Shun Ike's Proposal On Gas Taxes

Washington—UPI—House tax writers have shunned President Eisenhower's proposal that gasoline and kindred taxes be increased to help finance the inter-state highway system.

A treasury-drafted bill to carry out the program was sent to Congress on behalf of member of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax legislation must originate, had offered to sponsor it.

The bill would raise the present federal gasoline tax by 1½ cents a gallon to a total of 4½ cents. It also would increase aviation gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and impose a new levy of 4½ cents a gallon on jet plane fuel.

Chairman Opposed

Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) already has gone on record against the hikes which would raise several hundred million dollars. The President said the money is needed to liquidate a current deficit in the highway trust fund and raise enough to put the fund on a pay-as-we-go basis in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

If Congress rejects the bill, it will have to find money elsewhere to avoid a slowdown in the 16-year highway program. The highway law prohibits deficits.

An average dentist in the U.S. had a net annual income of $7,820 in 1955, and an average physician's net income before taxes ran to $13,432.
