

Musa Says Taxpayer Only Socked on Head By Legislature

Salem—(UPI)—Sen. Ben Musa (D-The Dalles) declared Thursday on the Senate floor "this Legislature hasn't done anything for the taxpayer except to sock him in the head."

The senator's observation as made during the discussion of House bill 87 which has had a rocky road in the Legislature, but was passed by the Senate with 11 votes against it.

The bill would enable the State Tax Commission to charge taxpayers a fee when a restraint warrant was issued for collection of delinquent state income taxes.

The original bill called for a fee of $10 but this was reduced to $5.

"I think it is high time for this Legislature to do something for the downtrodden taxpayer," Musa declared.

House bill 246 repealing a law providing for appointment by the governor of trustees for the McLaughlin home in Oregon City was passed.

Sen. Monroe Sweetland (D-Milwaukie) said the law was passed in 1911, but that no trustees were ever appointed.

The McLaughlin home, a national shrine, is administered by a local society and Gov. Mark Hatfield has said he did not wish to appoint trustees if they were not needed.

A bill was passed and sent to the House setting up an advisory council to aid the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Change Base Year
Another bill approved by the upper chamber would change the base year in which benefits are paid. It provides that an employee may receive benefits not to exceed 26 weeks in any one benefit year.

Under present law an employee can collect up to 52 weeks in one year, depending on what date his employment terminated.

A bill to permit peoples utility districts to issue bonds without a vote of the people was returned by the Senate to its Taxation Committee.

Sen. Anthony Yturri (R-Ontario) questioned the bill's constitutionality. He said the committee should take another look at it.

Voting Machines
A bill to permit counties to purchase voting machines through issuance of bonds voted by the people was passed. County commissioners or county courts would have to submit to voters bond issues to finance purchase of any voting machines.

Passed and sent to the House was a bill which would place bears under protection of State Game Commission by defining them as game animals.

NOTICE OF SCHOOL ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF INCREASING TAX LEVY OVER AMOUNT LIMITED BY SECTION 11, ARTICLE XI, OREGON STATE CONSTITUTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District 6C of Jackson County, State of Oregon, from 2 P.M. to 8 P.M. on May 4, 1952 in the Central Point Junior High School Gymnasium, the Cold Hill School Gymnasium, and the Sams Valley School Building, in said school district, for the purpose of submitting to the legal voters of said school district, the question of increasing the tax levy from the amount of $39-19-00 over the amount limited by Section 11, Article XI, of the Constitution of Oregon.

The reasons for increasing the levy are:
The amount now within the 6% limitation is inadequate to operate the school; there is an increase in cost of supplies, operational costs are higher, additional teachers are needed.

The amount of the tax in excess of the 6% limitation proposed to be levied for the fiscal school year is $498,696.42.

Dated this 9th day of April, 1952.

Chicken Trinidad

From Trinidad, land of Calypso and a true appreciation of Angostura aromatic bitters, comes this recipe for chicken Trinidad that needs only a tossed green salad for a memorable main course. For each four persons, proceed like this:

- 2 pounds fryer, quartered
- 1/2 cup olive or salad oil
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 2 cups rice
- 1/8 teaspoon saffron, optional
- 1 4-ounce can mushrooms and broth
- 1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters

In an iron kettle or Dutch oven, brown chicken in olive oil. Remove chicken. Brown rice, onions and green-pepper in kettle. Place chicken on top of rice. Add mushrooms and broth. Dissolve saffron in one cup of bouillon; add Angostura aromatic bitters and pour in kettle. Cook over low heat, covered, with out stirring. After 10 minutes add second cup of bouillon. Cook additional 10 minutes or until rice is dry and fluffy.

Lamb Shashlik

Lamb is an April plentiful. Boneless lamb shoulder is a best buy. It will never taste more exciting than when prepared like this, strung on skewers, broiled to brown crispness. Six servings.

- 2 pounds boneless lamb shoulder
- 1 garlic clove
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Ac'cent
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash cayenne
- Few drops Tabasco

Cut lamb in one-inch cubes if you haven't had meat man do it. Rub bowl with sliced garlic clove; leave in bowl. Add salad oil, vinegar and seasonings; mix well. Add lamb cubes; let stand several hours, turning occasionally.

Drain. String on skewers; broil 20 minutes, turning to brown. For dinner, leave on skewers. For picnics, later in the season, slide off skewers into split, toasted frankfurter buns.

Soak - Simmer - Season
Dried Beans and Peas
Plentiful legumes are packed with energy. They are thrifty, versatile and satisfying. Most popular varieties of dried beans and peas include pea or navy beans, Great Northern, small white, pinto, red kidney and lima beans, and green and yellow split peas. Black eyed peas are highly thought of in many areas especially when served with mustard or turnip greens.

Soak. First of all pick over the beans or peas and wash thoroughly in cold water. It is desirable to soak them overnight. At least six hours soaking is essential; more time is desirable. For six servings, start with two cups of dried beans or peas and one quart of cold water. Add teaspoon of salt when ready to cook.

Simmer. Cook them in the water in which they are soaked to save all those good vitamins and minerals. Do not add soda or you will lose some of the vitamins. Keep the heat low. Simmer, do not boil. Watch the pot; add water to it from time to time. You'll find they take up quite a lot of water as they cook.

Season. Dried beans and peas are so mild that they require dashes of this and that to make them tasty. An easy way to flavor is to cook beans with salt pork, sausage or ham bone. To cooked beans, add catsup and bacon drippings; or chili sauce; or sprinkle with grated cheese and bread crumbs and brown in the oven. Many folks like them Mexican style which means that you cook them with bacon rind and add a minced clove of garlic or minced onion, a dried red chili pepper or chili powder during the last hour of cooking.

Serve. Serve them with something salty or sour; something fresh and crisp or something bright and spicy. Place a mound of hot cooked beans or peas on a platter and surround with fried sausage links or cakes and broiled pineapple slices.

Avocado Reminder
Never pinch or squeeze an avocado. Pinching makes the meat turn dark. To test for ripeness, hold fruit in palms of both hands. If it yields to gentle pressure, it is ready for use.

April Abundance of Pork.
Lamb, Poultry
Pork, fresh and cured, is back on many tables as lower prices attract consumers. Bacon is back on breakfast men-
