

Violin-Piano Duo Heard In Civic Music Concert

By Richard D. Werner
The Rabinoffs, Benno and Sylvia, a violin and piano duo, were heard Saturday evening at the Medford High school auditorium in the fourth Civic Music concert of the current season. It was a return engagement, and they were well received by a fair-sized audience.

Opening the program with Tartini's "Sonata in G Minor," known as the "Devil's Trill," Rabinoff displayed a grasp of the classical style and demonstrated beyond doubt a most proficient technical equipment. The many trills, some of them double, came off quite well. The tremendous responsiveness of tone of his violin, a Guarnerius, proved a valuable ally. This was most noticeable in the first movement.

In contrast, the sonata by Brahms pointed up a prime difference between the old masters and the ones who came after. Whereas Tartini, Corelli, Vivaldi, Veracini, et al, wrote violin sonatas with accompaniment, done today on the piano, they were all string players themselves and gave the melodic line to the melodic-tone-sustaining instrument. In the Brahms sonata there never was any doubt which instrument was "it"—the piano. The violin went along for the ride, and was drowned out most of the time. This is true of Mozart, Haydn, and Beethoven. A notable exception is Grieg with three works, and Cesar Franck with one.

Instead of playing the Mendelssohn concerto, Rabinoff chose a Bulgarian rhapsody by a Bulgarian composer named Pancho Wladigeroff. This again proved his technical mastery. The music was just another display piece.

After intermission Mrs. Rabinoff played an impromptu by Schubert, "Fireworks" by Debussy and her own fantasy on the Squidilla from "Carmen" by Bizet. They were all brilliant numbers very expertly executed. She also displayed quite a bit of fire and warmth of feeling. A very lovely and talented lady.

Returning to the stage for the final group, Mr. Rabinoff played Smetana's "From my Homeland" a fantasy with much technical display, and "Five Tune Cartoons" by Robert Russell Bennett—clever pieces but one would have to be "up" on the comic strips to get much from them, and "Non Piu Mesta" by Paganini on a theme by Rossini. This last was another fantasy of technical dimensions. For an encore he played a brilliant piece by Popper.

After the "Devil's Trill" it was quite evident that Rabinoff could play the violin with technical mastery, but it seemed to us with the addition of all the others, he was insisting on it. Which brings to mind the story of the famous Chinese ambassador to this country during Theodore Roosevelt's second term. A senator invited the Oriental to join him at the race track in Maryland and his Excellency declined saying, "No thank you—long has been established one horse can run faster than another."

It is fitting and proper that an artist should display his wares and perhaps dazzle an audience, but the ones who are remembered are the ones who reached out to the people and played on their heart strings. Maud Powell, zimbalist, Elman, Seidel and Kreisler did it—as did great singers like Caruso, McCormick and Schumann-Heink.

Perhaps the current technicians can't sing. We didn't hear anyone humming or whistling as we left.

Court St. Mary Instituted In Ceremonies on Sunday

Court St. Mary No. 1800, Catholic Daughters of America, was instituted Sunday afternoon in ceremonies held at Carpenter's hall, with a charter class of 86 members being initiated.

Court Klamath of Klamath Falls conducted the ritualistic presentations. Mrs. Agnes L. Schotthoefer of Eugene, state regent of the CDA, was present for the occasion which was the first institution of a new court during her term of office. It was also the second largest charter class ever to be initiated in the 50-year history of the CDA in Oregon, exceeded only by the charter class of Court Klamath.

Other state officers attending the formal reception ceremonies included the Very Rev. E. J. Murnane, Eugene, state chaplain for the past 20 years; Mrs. Floy Rowley, Portland, vice state regent; Mrs. Margaret Brown, Salem, state treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Moore, Molalla, state monitor; Mrs. Ed Bell, Stayton, state extension chairman; and Mrs. Otto L. Smith, Klamath Falls, district deputy.

Officers Elected
Mrs. Lowell Dupray was elected grand regent of the Medford court following the reception ceremonies. Also elected and installed as officers with Mrs. Dupray were Mrs. Paul Newcomb, vice regent; Mrs. Florence C. Lance, financial secretary; Mrs. John Snider, historian; Mrs. Aurele Meunier, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Pruitt, monitor; Mrs. Everett G. O'sch, prophetess; Mrs. Ernest Flakus, lecturer; Miss Nancy Conroy, organist; and Mrs. Mary Waits, sentinel.

Serving three-year terms as trustees will be Mrs. George Holzgang and Mrs. Robert Messer. Two-year trustees are Mrs. Ted Ivan and Mrs. Mary Oliver and one year terms will be served by Mrs. John Laferrriere and Mrs. Marie Shere.

The Very Rev. Carl Mai will be chaplain for the new organization.

Speaking to more than 160 members, their husbands and guests at a charter banquet in the evening at Ping's Garden, Father Murnane suggested to the new candidates that their primary purpose in becoming Catholic Daughters should be to follow in the footsteps of the many great women of Catholic action. They should be active, he said, in the lay apostolate of love for all people, bringing a better measure of Christ's love to their neighbors, laboring for the welfare of the people for whom Christ suffered and died, for the poor, the distressed and the suffering.

The group was greeted by Gordon E. Boner, grand knight of Rogue River council Knights of Columbus, who promised the cooperation of the men in their mutual efforts for God, church and country.

Mrs. E. E. Ford, toastmistress for the banquet, read a letter of congratulations from Mayor John Snider and introduced the members of the newly formed court.

Miss Conroy, accompanied by Miss Mary Robinson, entertained with vocal selections.

Prior to the afternoon reception ceremonies, the charter class candidates and guest members of CDA attended the 8:30 a.m. mass in Sacred Heart church and received Holy Communion as a group. Music for this mass was sung by the Marian choir of St. Mary's High school.

Court St. Mary is the 27th CDA court to be established in the state of Oregon; in the national organization it is No.

They will provide piano and accordion selections. Dr. Stanley A. Brown, Gold Hill, will play the piano. Instrumental selections will be furnished by Mrs. Sam Jones, her son and daughter, Billy Jones, and Miss Marie Jones, Gold Hill. A clarinet quartet, which includes pupils from the advanced Hanby school band, will play. Included in this group are Gregg Schmidt, Gregory Appien, Miss Joyce Dye, and Miss Norma Schatz.

Mrs. Adeline Whelens, Medford, and her trained pompadour "Little Cinderella" will appear.

Also appearing will be the Future Farmers of America—Rogue Ramblers vocal group from Crater High school, Central Point, which includes Floyd and Leon Sherman, Tom and Dennis Fisher.

"The Shadows" will add to the evening's entertainment with their vocal selections. This group of students from St. Mary's High school, Medford, includes Paul and Bill Smith, Dave Mansfield, Gary Mikske, Mike Feiss, and Tom Newcomb.

A trio from Gold Hill Community Methodist church will provide vocal, violin and whistling numbers. Mrs. C. Norman Gail, Mrs. Paul Mollo, and Mrs. Roy Eskew make up this group, with Mrs. John Bruce as pianist.

A vocal group featuring Miss Theodora Chang, Southern Oregon college student, will sing. Other students from the college appearing with Miss Chang will include Larry Sounce, Jerry Flakus, Miss Linda Moore and Miss Myrna Marumoto. Expected to exhibit are Mrs. Vola Tolman, Mrs. Henry (Margaret) Munday, Mrs. Roy (Dorothy) Eskew, Mrs. Earl (Viola) Moore, Mrs. Wallace (Jean) Nece, Mrs. Ray (Helen) Davis, Mrs. Dale S. (Lucille) Collins, Mrs. Ralph (Ethel) Hixson, Mrs. Andrews, and Hal Bishop.

Others assisting Mrs. McMahan with arrangements for the variety show are Mrs. Kenneth Fluck, Mrs. Harold Hocker, Mrs. Ogden Kellogg, newly elected president of the unit, Mrs. Edsel White, and Mrs. Georgia Wilson, secretary of the PTA. Gilbert Mack, principal of the Gold Hill schools, and Mrs. Audrey Beman, secretary of the schools here.

Add ground ginger, powdered dry mustard, and instant minced onion to canned baked beans. Turn into a casserole, top with bacon strips and bake in a 350-degree oven 30 minutes or until brown.

Art of Well-Dressed Wife Theme of Designer's Book

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York—(AP)—Any woman who has struggled with a jammed back zipper undoubtedly has ached to tell those dress designers a thing or two. Well, now a designer gets even and gives us what for.

Anne Fogarty, known for her shirtwaist styles and her 18-inch waist, airs her personal gripes about un-feminine grooming in a new book, "Wife Dressing" (Messner), subtitled, "The Art of Being a Well-Dressed Wife."

No. 1 on Mrs. Fogarty's list of gripes is plastic raincoats that come in bags. "Inhuman Feeling" "They make me feel inhuman, like a head of lettuce inside a vegetable bag, waiting to be stashed away in the refrigerator," she said. "Modern coat fabrics are made to withstand moisture if you're caught in a sudden drizzle. And while I'm on the subject, those plastic covers for men's hats also unnerve me. Men's hats are a covering in the first place."

If you're a dungaree devotee, beware. "By definition and price, they cannot be exquisitely tailored. Leave them to the youngsters," said Mrs. Fogarty.

The petite designer also loathes pin curls at work or shopping. "How can there be any pride in being a woman if your head is covered with tiny bumps that are only accentuated by a bandanna bandage?" she asked. "If you need a half hour away from your duties to unpin pins and comb out curls, you haven't arrived ready for work. As for shopping, it's impossible to judge a new dress from the neck down when the reflection in the mirror is from outer space."

Other Gripes
Imitation flowers also rate as a pet peeve. "The old cliché of a little nosegay of forlorn forget-me-nots on an Easter suit sends me into a scurry," she said.

Stocking legs in the city when "whale belly white" are disastrous, she believes. If tanned, there still are areas of white or mottled color around ankles, heels and backs of calves. If your tan is too deep for nylons, rub on a thin layer of oil to prevent dryness, then blend in the barest coating of make-up as you would foundation.

Her other gripes: "Dirty white gloves. 'Stifle the impulse to put away a pair you've worn because they 'don't look too dirty.'" "Colored wigs. 'They remind me of Mme. Toussaud's Wax museum.'" "Underwear straps that show. 'Unless you're Gypsy Rose Lee and want to prove you're wearing several layers of clothes, avoid this grooming flaw by sewing snaps in the shoulders of dresses.'"

The president, Mrs. Roy Larson, and Mrs. H. Dunham reported that flower beds and the lawn at the City hall have been cleaned up, and that a daphne bush will be planted as a gift from the club. The club is cooperating in the beautification of the business district as a Centennial project.

The next regular meeting of the club will be April 21 at the home of Mrs. Larry Bassett, 905 River Oaks road, Grants Pass.

Field Trip Set By Gem Society

Plans for the first field trip of the year were announced by Delmar Smith at the meeting of the Roxy Gem and Mineral society held last Friday. This will be to an area where a variety of material—agates, jasper, petrified wood and crystals—may be found. Anyone interested in participating in this event should be at the general store in Lake Creek by 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, April 18.

Len Ramp, field geologist in charge of the office of the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries at Grants Pass, presented an illustrated talk on the geology of Southwest Oregon. Arthur Dysart, Ashland, author of an article on the mineral localities of Jackson county which was recently featured in "The Mineralogist," spoke briefly.

Walter B. Turner, federation director for the club, has been selected by the president of the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical societies to serve as the representative for Oregon on the nominating committee of this organization. This is a federation of gem and mineral clubs in the states of Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington, as well as British Columbia.

New members accepted at this meeting were Harold Koehler, James Lick and Mary Yocom, all of Medford. Anyone desiring further details regarding next Saturday's field trip may obtain this information by calling the secretary, Delmar Smith, Normandy 4-1355.
