Care for Aged Yearly Cost Set At $1 Billion

Washington - (UPI) - The Eisenhower administration declared Monday that a controversial, labor-backed plan to give old folks free medical care would cost $1 billion a year.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, put that price tag on the plan in a 117-page report to the House Ways and Means Committee which outlined several possible methods to help the aged meet medical bills.

Flemming did not come out for or against any of the systems. He said his department was studying the police issues involved and would make specific recommendation later.

Opposed by AMA
The free-care bill, which the American Medical Association firmly opposes, would in effect give persons on Social Security rolls paid up hospital and surgical insurance for life.

Other congressional news:
Farm: Sen William Proxmire (D-Wis.) demanded again that Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson present a "self-help" program for dairy farmers. In a letter to Benson, Proxmire said the secretary had rejected every proposal from the farmers themselves after encouraging them to work out a plan. This, Proxmire said, indicated Benson deliberately had sent the dairymen on a "wild goose chase."

Officers Balance
Officers: The armed forces told a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony just released that they did not feel they had too many officers. The full committee asked the services earlier to bring into "better balance" the increasing ratio of officers to enlisted men. The military forces said they planned these ratios for the year starting July 1: Air Force, 15.4 enlisted men per officer; Army, 11.5; Navy, 11.05; Marines, 9.26.

Iraq Ousts U. S. Missionary Couples

New York - (UPI) - Three American Protestant missionary couples have been expelled from Iraq and are en route to Beirut, Lebanon, the National Council of Churches announced Monday.

A spokesman for the council identified the ousted missionaries as Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schoup, Zionville, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davenport, Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Weiss, Los Angeles. They had been sent to Iraq by a committee of four Protestant churches working through the United Missions in Iraq.

The council spokesman said the Iraqi government gave the missionaries no reason for the expulsion order. He said the reason apparently was political, rather than religious, since there have been no reports of suppression of the practice of Christianity in Iraq.

Diana Dors Weds British Comedian

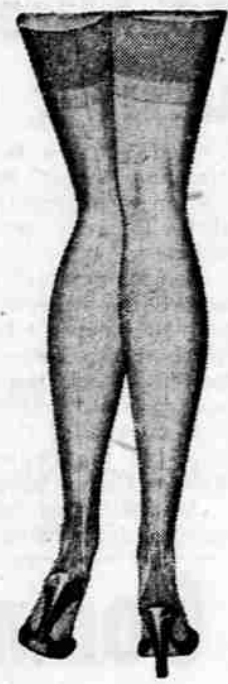

New York - (UPI) - British actress, Diana Dors, whose first husband, Dennis Hamilton, died recently after she began divorce proceedings, was married here Sunday night to British comedian Dicky Dawson.

The couple appeared on the Steve Allen show together, then went to the apartment of singer Fran Warren and her husband, Henry Steinman, who is their manager, for the ceremony, performed by State Supreme Court Justice Thomas Aurelio.
