

Theme of 4-H Style Show Is "Out of This World"

Eighteen fashions "out of this world" for the 4-H modern miss were modeled for about 150 4-H members, leaders and parents at the Simplicity 1959 fashion revue at the courthouse auditorium Wednesday night.

Fashions in all colors of the rainbow were shown in the new fabrics for spring and summer with the high-raising waistline in evidence a number of times.

Miss Nadine Thompson, stylist for Simplicity Pattern company, narrated the show, explaining how 4-H girls can make the fashions. The models were preceded by Mrs. Don Anderson and Mrs. John Carnegie in 1859 fashions from the family album which was the setting from which the girls emerged.

Girls modeling were the Misses Eileen Pullman, Medford; Michelle Ely, Medford; Mary Ann Carnegie, Southwest Medford; Sharon Thompson, Central Point; Sharon Martin, Evans Valley; Carolyn Sidener, Central Point; Laverne Guches, Applegate; Laurie Underwood, Lone Pine; Diane Brewster, Applegate; Vonnie Goehring, Eagle Point; Toni Dibble, St. Mary's; Mary Daniels, Westside; Janis Torrey, Ashland; Kathy Johnston, Evans Valley; Karen Josy, Antelope; Paulette Creel, Talent; Marjorie Wonderly, Southwest Medford and Elaine McKay, Central Point.

Wild Flowers Topic for Club

Mrs. Frances Pearson, Prospect, will be the speaker. She will take on "Wild Flowers of Our Area." Mrs. Pearson is a native daughter of Prospect and has made a long time study of plants that grow in this district.

At this meeting the theme name for the summer flower show will be chosen, so members are urged to bring their suggestions for the theme.

This will be the first standard show given by the Prospect club, and will be held August 21. It is planned to hold an exhibit of Oregon heirlooms and an herb exhibit with the flower show, and the theme chosen is to indicate interest in the Oregon Centennial year, as well as flowers.

Miss Karen Josy, Eagle Point, modeled a classic shirt-dress at Wednesday night's 4-H style show. The yellow printed cotton has a new shaped belt to show off the lifted waistline.

Speaker Reviews Historical Novel

Fort Jones—Mrs. MacLeod Maurice of Gold Hill reviewed the book "The Wheel and the Hearth" at a recent meeting of the Fort Jones Woman's club.

Author of the historical novel, Mrs. Lucia Wilkins Moore, is a friend and sorority sister of Mrs. Maurice. The book covers the trip of Mrs. Moore's ancestors from Missouri to Eugene in 1853. Mrs. Maurice showed the group a scrapbook worked out by the author in preparation for her novel.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. A. Reynolds and Mrs. Edward Kellogg.

Treatment For Fish
Fresh and peppery watercress, curly endive, big wedges of juicy lemon, tiny beet pickles and fluted slices of cucumber are "selling tools" for the cook when she serves fish. Fish varieties that are low in fat will have more appeal when served with melted butter of highly seasoned sauces.

Y Classes Scheduled

Women's classes in badminton and swimming will begin this week at the Medford YMCA.

• YOUR FAMILY: No need, now, to leave the burden of funeral bills on the shoulders of your loved ones. A Memory Gardens Insured Memorial Service Plan eliminates funeral bills; prevents over-spending.

• THE INSURANCE YOU LEAVE: You already carry life insurance to provide living expenses for your dear ones when you are no longer here. Don't let unpaid funeral bills eat into their small income.

• YOUR ESTATE: At time of need, memorial services arrangements must be made at once. It often takes months for money to be made available from an estate. Don't force your family to borrow from friends to pay funeral expenses.

• YOU: The knowledge that inevitable funeral expenses are provided for brings a sense of comfort. You can determine in advance just how much you want to spend—not too much—not too little.
