

Sixth Sense on Clothes Good Sense, Say Experts

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

New York - (UPI) - The sixth sense which makes a woman well-dressed turns out to be just good sense. The good sense to choose the classics of design and skip the fads, says one group of experts.

For there is permanence in fashion, even though some of us doubting Thomases doubted it after the quick rise and fall of the sack. The H. W. Gossard study of fashion trends because, it explains, what goes underneath is shaped by what's outside. It points to the shirtwaist, having a grand revival this year, as one of the classics of which it speaks. Its researchers traced it to around 1870 in Europe, when the girls copied the buttoned-front style of men's riding habits.

A look at the shirtwaist's "family tree" shows it as a hunting dress in 1887, as the street costume for the Gibson girl era of 1895, as a tennis costume in 1915, and as revived in 1952 by designer Anne Fogarty, who put numerous starched petticoats under its full skirt.

Car Coat Latest Classic

Other classics the researchers listed were the cashmere polo coat, sweaters and skirts, and the newest - the car coat. In accessories, they listed loafers for casual wear, white gloves and pearl necklaces.

They predict that fall, 1959, will be "a big classic season" because, according to many buyers, everybody is tired of new ideas that are old hat in a few months. The customer begins to lose faith.

How to tell a fashion from a fad?

"The fad usually is a little zany," said Gossard researchers. "It is easily copied and easily wears out. Fads are for fun, but not for fashion keeps."

Flattering and Comfortable

You can tell whether the new will last by asking yourself whether it is flattering to most women, whether it has a family tree or "did it blossom overnight?" and whether it is comfortable to wear.

To help in the detection, the researchers drew up a list of 16 clothing items and ask you to label each as fad or fashion. No prizes - just the fun of testing how style-wise you are.

The items:

1. Leopard stockings, 2. Shirtwaist, 3. Waist cincher, 4. Plastic shoes, 5. Racon coat, 6. Vest, 7. Headache band, 8. Princess style coat, 9. Twin sweaters, 10. Polo coat, 11. Trouser dinner suit, 12. Box jacket suit, 13. Pierced-ear earrings, 14. Tapered slacks and shirt, 15. Car coat, and 16. Chanel suit.

Gossard listed numbers 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 11 and 13 as fads; the rest as classics.

Pianist Slated On KYJC Program

The Czech-born pianist, Rudolf Firkusny, will be the soloist with the Cleveland Orchestra on the KYJC-CBS Radio broadcast Sunday, April 26 at 10:05-11 a.m. (PDT). He will play the Mozart "Concert for Piano and Orchestra in E flat major" (K. 271). George Szell will direct.

Mr. Firkusny played the same Concerto with the Cleveland Orchestra recently in Carnegie hall and, following the concert, the New York Herald Tribune commented: "... Messrs. Szell and Firkusny were engaged in an animated musical conversation. . . . Every question by the Orchestra elicited an immediate answer from the pianist - every accent had just the right shade, whether played by the oboe or the piano, and every melody was turned on a lathe."

Mr. Firkusny became an American citizen six years ago and resides near Staatsburg, N.Y. This spring, following his 16th American concert season, he will perform in Australia.

Dr. Szell will close the program with the Prelude and Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde" by Wagner.

Milady's Lipstick Color Affected by FDA Order.

By HELEN BUECHL
Science Service Staff Writer

Washington - There is bad news for women today. The wide variety of lipstick colors now available will dwindle rapidly if today's proposed order of the Food and Drug administration is finally issued.

The order concerns 17 coal-tar colors that are used principally in lipsticks. The FDA order would remove these colors from the approved list of substances that can be freely used in the manufacture of drugs and cosmetics. Laboratory tests have shown that these colors cannot be certified as harmless for unrestricted use in products intended for internal consumption. This includes lipstick, which, in normal use, may enter the digestive tract of women and men.

In addition to the order to stop using the 17 colors, FDA proposed an order to ban the use of stocks of these colors. Thus, manufacturers would be prevented from making new batches of these colors for products that would eventually enter the digestive system, John L. Harvey, deputy commissioner of food and drugs, explained.

The proposed orders would not affect the finished product, however. Lipsticks already produced and those on cosmetic counter shelves could still be sold. Only stocks of the colors already made but not in finished products would be affected.

FDA has not received any reports of injury to users of lipsticks or drugs or foods made with coal-tar colors being considered.

But under the law as recently interpreted by the Supreme Court, the FDA cannot set the amounts of coal-tar colors to be used in foods, drugs and cosmetics. Therefore, the agency cannot list and certify the safety of colors for unrestricted use unless they are found to be completely harmless, the deputy commissioner added.
