

FUN CLOTHES

for all the family

by Allyn Rice

FLIGHTS OF FANCY about family vacations soar freely this time of year. Mother, in her hard-earned halo, enjoys the idea of a simply romantic dress for moonlit nights and a gaily printed bathing suit in classic lines for sunlit days. Dad, who fancies himself a well-dressed man (and he is), enjoys relaxing in popular walking shorts and a smart jacket in blazer stripes.

The little ones, if they give it a thought, want freedom of movement above all else, but they like to feel well-dressed, too. They are happy with the kind of easy-to-care-for sports clothes approved by Mom, for they want no complaints from her after a day of energetic play with its invariable involvement in the muddiest sand pile around. Weather willing, we forecast vacation contentment.

Love these costumes! He's in Asher's Dacron-cotton shorts ($11), McGregor's knit cotton blazer ($20). From Koret come her flowery elasticized-cotton maillot suit ($15) and straw hat with matching band ($4).

A midsummer-night's dream in delicate cotton! Vicky Vaughn threads velvet ribbon through intricate eyelet embroidery ($11). Velvet-covered wire spirals make her "halo" hat.

Wonderalls' sportswear for the younger set is in cotton. His: a one-piece coverall with checked gingham trim (sizes 2-4, $4). Hers: shorts with separate knitted top trimmed to match (sizes 2-6X, $1.98 each).
