Seven Selected for Great Living American Honors by United States Chamber of Commerce

Washington — Seven persons were named as Great Living Americans Monday night by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at its 47th annual meeting here.

The Chamber makes the awards annually to men or women "who, by their own initiative, self reliance and ambition, have made notable contributions to human progress." The awards were inaugurated in 1957.

Chamber President William A. McDonnell presented the awards at a leadership recognition dinner in the Sheraton-Park Hotel. Candidates were nominated by the Chamber's membership and elected by its Board of Directors.

Winners and their achievements are:

HARRY FLOOD BYRNE — For his constant and courageous efforts in the Senate to close the flood-gates of profligate federal spending, his fidelity to public duty, and his wise and patient statesmanship.

HELEN HAYES — For her outstanding artistic contributions to the American theater as an actress, her warm loyalty to friends and country, and her devotion to helping others achieve success in the theatrical profession.

DR. FRANK H. WRIGHT — For his achievements as a scholar, writer and educator in the field of economics where he has brilliantly represented and contributed to the conservative viewpoint. (Dr. Knight is Professor Emeritus of Economics, University of Chicago.)

AMOS ALONZO STAGG — For his inspiring example of sportsmanship, fair play and religious faith he has set college athletes, first as a performer himself and for most of his life as a coach. (Stagg, a former football coach at the University of Chicago, now lives in retirement in Stockton, Calif.)

MRS. LOUISE WILLIAMSON — Selected as a symbol of the spirit of courage and greatness of American womanhood. As an elderly widow without business experience, Mrs. Williamson built a successful candy firm in Edwards, Miss.

GEN. ROBERT E. WOOD — For his vision and creativeness as a business man, his outstanding contribution to America's distribution system, and his recognition of business' responsibility for the general welfare and the welfare of employees. (Gen. Wood is a retired chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago.)

Eugene Fisherman Found Near Road

Oakridge — (UPI) — A 23-year-old Eugene man, lost overnight while on a fishing trip Sunday, was found Monday near Salt Creek highway tunnel on Highway 58 east of here.

Ray Dobner had been reported missing Sunday afternoon by his fishing partner, Elmer Paul.

Dobner told state police he became lost and had wandered around looking for the highway or tunnel. He said he fell off a bluff onto the highway just before he was found.

Dulles Visited By Son, Ike

Washington — (UPI) — Former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' son has arrived in Washington from Italy.

The State Department said the son, the Rev. Avery Dulles, S.J., called on his ailing father Monday in Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

State Department Spokesman Lincoln White said that young Dulles had returned to this country to continue his Jesuit order studies at Georgetown University and Woodstock, Md.

President Eisenhower also drove to the hospital Monday afternoon for a private visit with Dulles.

The State Department announced that X-ray treatments for apparent cancer in the neck of Dulles were completed last Friday "without significant improvement in the discomfort." It said Dulles now "is receiving appropriate analgesics (pain relievers)."

Dulles has cancer of the abdomen which apparently has spread to the lower neck.

Montgomery Due in Moscow

Moscow — (UPI) — British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery arrives here today on a private—and controversial—visit to try to ease cold war tensions.

He was being given the full distinguished visitor's treatment but the Soviet magazine "International Life," greeted him with the accusation he started the cold war by planning to attack Russia during World War II.

In London, diplomats expressed fears the Kremlin would try to use his visit to cause friction between Britain and the United States.

Even though Montgomery's two-day visit was unofficial, he was to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his old soldier allies from the war days.

"International Life" brought up those days again in a review of Montgomery's recent book on the last war. It accused him of plotting with France and the United States against Russia.

Montgomery's policy, it said, was to "get Germany to stop fighting in the West and attack the Soviet Union."

This, it said, was the start of the cold war.

Posters Made for SOC Play Production

Ashland — Posters for the forthcoming Southern Oregon College Players' production of "The Mousetrap" will be making an appearance in the valley shortly, according to Dr. Dorothy Stolp, director.

Bob DeVoe, college art student, designed the poster that will advertise the Agatha Christie mystery which will be presented in Churchill hall auditorium May 7, 8, 9. Students in the art classes made silk screen advertising materials.

Of the 3,700 Red Cross chapters in the U.S., one of three is staffed wholly by volunteer workers.

Truman Lectures On Constitution

New York — (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman, a self-styled "notorious character" from Missouri, returns to the Columbia University campus today for the second of three lectures on government to undergraduates.

His subject today is the Constitution, and he indicated on Monday he'll come out very strongly in its favor.

Truman's first Radner lecture Monday on the presidency cracked with wit and plain talk. But it was nonetheless a serious discourse on the nation's highest office from a man who said he was "proud to be a politician," and "had a good time" meeting the challenges of the presidency.

Asked by a student about the possible delegation of the President's powers, Truman said: "I don't think the power of the President can be delegated without tearing up the Constitution, and I don't want that."

Truman opened his talk by telling the audience that his native state "has a number of notorious characters, the most notorious being Mark Twain, Jesse James and me."

Academy Accepts 'Joke' Painting

London — (UPI) — Irate artist James Noble today blasted the august Royal Academy for accepting one of his paintings.

"If they accept a thing like that, they will pass anything," he said. Noble explained that his "ping painting" was a joke and was never meant to be anything else.

He "spent about half an hour" ping blotches of yellow and white paint onto a prepared blue canvas with a palette knife. He called the result "Galaxy," signed it with a false name and submitted it to the academy selection committee "as a joke."

The committee rejected one of his serious paintings but accepted the ping painting.

Scientific Article Accepted for Magazine

Ashland — Featuring scientific research performed primarily at Southern Oregon college, an article, "Chelating Ion Exchange Resins," by chemistry professors, Dr. Lloyd D. Pennington, Southern Oregon college, and Dr. Max Williams, Oregon State college, has been accepted for publication by Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, the major journal published by the American Chemistry Society.

Concerning the preparation and application of a new type of ion exchange resin which is more selective than the type already available the research also involves the use of these resins to extract heavy metals such as copper from sea water, Dr. Pennington explained.

Ohio Congressman Dies in Hospital

Washington — (UPI) — Rep. James G. Polk (D-Ohio) died today at Walter Reed Army hospital. He was 62.

A hospital spokesman said Polk died of cancer. He had been a patient since March 21.

Polk had served more than 18 years of the last 28 years in congress.

Polk was the third House member to die since Congress convened Jan. 7. His death left two vacancies in the House with the party line-up at 282 Democrats and 152 Republicans.
