U.S. Exhibit in Russia To Include Peaceful Toys

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

New York (UPI)—America will send a peaceful mission of toys to Moscow this summer.

No tanks. No miniature atomic power plants. Only one gun.

But the little Russians will get the full treatment of the "American way of life," childhood version, with plenty of cowboys and Indians, electric trains, bikes, stuffed animals, construction sets and dolls that wet.

All are part of the American National Exhibit which will open in the Russian capital July 25 and run for six weeks. Other industries which will participate in the fair are the automotive, farm equipment, furniture, appliance and other hard goods manufacturers.

"We want to give the Russians an honest image of American playthings," said a researcher at George Nelson and company, the design firm which, with the U.S. government, made the final selection of toys and other facets of Americana to be shown.

"Farmer" For Small Fry

The one gun that made it ain't for fighting wars anyway. It's a replica of the "fanner," a revolver which the heroes of the old West used on varmints.

About 75 manufacturers have donated 400 toys for the exhibit, which will occupy a section of two giant exhibition halls in Sokolniki Park.

The industry said the playthings will be divided into

Refrigerant Used To Speed Cooking

The same chemical that enables your refrigerator to freeze ice cubes and keep food cool, now can help cook meat in half the usual time, with minimum loss and no basting.

That unusual use of Du Pont's "Freon-12" refrigerant is attained in a simple sealed tube device now being introduced commercially. Inserted into meats, it makes it possible to cook them from the inside out. In reality, it simply pipes the cooking heat deep inside a roast or turkey so the meat, instead of cooking only from the outside in, cooks evenly and simultaneously throughout.

From the chef's standpoint, these new cooking aids—appropriately dubbed "Thermo Pins"—reduce the evaporation of natural juices during cooking, eliminating the need for basting, and resulting in juicier meats. Shrinkage during cooking is said to be reduced from 40 to 50 per cent. The roasting pan and oven stay cleaner because more of the meat juices stay inside the meat where they belong.

Although relatively high-priced, the "Thermo Pins," according to the manufacturer, will "pay for themselves in fuel and savings" in short order and deliver a bonus in better tasting meats. Made of stainless steel and safety-tested for use in a 350 degree oven, the devices have been used widely in industrial roasteries for the last three years.

VOTES TO INCORPORATE

Oak Ridge, Tenn.—UPI—Residents of this atomic city celebrated Oak Ridge's new municipal government today. Voters piled up a 15-1 margin in a referendum Tuesday to incorporate the city which gave birth to the atomic bomb.

Porcupine Balls

Mix 1-pound of ground beef with 1/2 cup raw rice, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, a teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Form into twelve small balls and arrange in a single layer in a skillet. Pour 1 1/2 cups vegetable or tomato juice cocktail over the balls and cover the skillet. If you have an automatic top burner heat control, set it at 200 degrees. Cook for 1 hour. Serve with mixed vegetable au gratin, a crisp salad and pumpkin pie. Serves 4 to 6.
