New Kind of Pledge Cards Being Used by Many Churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
On recent Sunday mornings worshippers in Minneapolis churches have found in their pews a new kind of pledge card. Above the signature line are these words: "I will welcome into my neighborhood any person of good character, regardless of race, color or national origin."

Missionaries Thank Church for Articles

Members of the Sams Valley Gospel Church, Gold Hill, have received letters from the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Burger, missionaries supported by the church in Mexico, thanking them for clothing and candy sent recently.

The Burgers minister to eight churches in Mexico, it was reported. In the letters received here the missionaries expressed their appreciation for the clothing which they distributed throughout their churches.

The candy, sent prior to Christmas, arrived in time to be distributed in bags to each of the eight churches. Members of the Sams Valley church assisted in the packaging of the boxes and collecting of the candy and clothing sent.

FORMER MINISTER
Don Byers, former minister Central Church of Christ will speak tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the church. Mr. Byers is home on furlough after 5 years as missionary to Thailand. He will also speak Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service.

continued to bar Negroes from all-white neighborhoods long after they were held unenforceable in court.

Denver churches organized a bus tour of the city so that members could see for themselves the pattern of housing segregation and its usual result of confining minority groups to the less-desirable areas of town.

In Princeton, N.J., all members of the pastors' association backed—with their own money as well as their endorsement—a newly-organized corporation to develop integrated housing projects.

In Rhode Island, Washington and Massachusetts church councils fought for enactment of state legislation to ban discrimination in housing sales or rentals.

San Jose Program Cited
In San Jose, Calif., churches are supporting a "planned dispersion" program under which some 40 non-white families with good educational and economic qualifications have already been successfully settled in white communities of matching cultural level.

The General Board of the National Council of Churches took note of all this activity at its most recent meeting. It adopted a resolution commending the churches involved, and urging other Christians to join the battle.

The resolution asserted that racial segregation in any area of life is incompatible with the Christian gospel. It said residential segregation is the key to the whole problem in Northern and Western communities, because so long as it prevails, it is academic to talk about achieving "racial inclusiveness in churches, schools and other community institutions."

Churches and their members share in the "guilt" for residential segregation, the council leaders said, because their "evasion and indifference" has helped to maintain the fences around all-white neighborhoods.

Tough Battle Ahead
Church leaders are under no illusion that aroused moral concern will quickly topple residential segregation barriers that are quietly but firmly enforced by most real estate brokers and mortgage lending institutions.

But they do believe that such gestures are signing "open occupancy" covenants have a practical value. "Many people who are themselves opposed to racial discrimination refuse to sell or rent property to Negroes because they take for granted that the neighbors wouldn't like it," one church official explained.

Well, it's time that we all quit hiding behind one another's assumed prejudices. "If committed Christians in every neighborhood will proclaim their readiness to welcome Negroes as neighbors, they may find a lot more people who share their feelings than they expected to find."

"I will welcome into my neighborhood any person of good character, regardless of race, color or national origin."

The sponsorship of this pledge by the Greater Minneapolis Council of Churches is no isolated phenomenon. It is part of a growing movement to break down the barriers of residential segregation that bar Negroes from the suburbs and other desirable areas of virtually all American cities, in the North and West no less than in the deep South.

The tactics used in this drive vary from one community to another. In Palo Alto, Santa Clara and several other California cities, churches are circulating pledge cards similar to those used in Minneapolis.

Members of the Sams Valley church assisted in the packaging of the boxes and collecting of the candy and clothing sent.

Don Byers, former minister Central Church of Christ will speak tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the church. Mr. Byers is home on furlough after 5 years as missionary to Thailand. He will also speak Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service.

PROVES HIS POINT
Leland, Miss.—(UP)—The female boll weevil is more dangerous than the male, according to entomologist Marvin Merk. He put a male and female in a cage containing cotton plants. The male damaged five cotton bolls on one plant. But the female made 442 punctures, damaging every plant in the cage.
