MEDFORD TRIBUNE SPORTS

Tornado, Cavemen Cop Friday Frays In Baseball Loop

Unbeaten Medford high and once-beaten Grants Pass kept firm in their one-two pace in Southern Oregon conference baseball on Friday.

Medford's Black Tornado squelched Ashland 9 to 1 and Grants Pass whipped Crater 6 to 1.

Rain cut out non-counting second games of projected doubleheaders.

Ashland and Medford started their No. 2 brush. The Tornado got the bags loaded and one run in before the precipitation came in the top of the first inning. At Grants Pass, the Cavemen fray with the Comets was called in the bottom of the sixth inning with one out.

On the Ashland diamond

Jerry Anderson and Cal and Lowell Dean, with two hits each, wielded the heavy artillery for Medford and Dennis Barr chucked a four-hit game. Anderson homered and doubled.

The Black Tornado had a three-run second inning. Anderson led off with his round-tripper, Barr got on base on a muffed third strike. Ken Jensen was hit by a pitch and walks to the Deans and to Bob Pond forced over runs.

In the third when four runs scored Anderson doubled and Ray Konopasek walked. Force plays on swats by Barr and Ken Durkee got two runners at third base but still left men on first and second. Jensen was hit by a pitch again to load the stacks. Then Cal and Lowell singled, Pond walked and George Ice safetied.

Yreka Slams MHS For 4-0 Victory

Yreka's diamond Miners handed the Medford high baseball team a 4 to 0 drubbing on the home field here Saturday afternoon as everything Medford hit seemed to land in a fielder's glove.

Yreka's Miners failed to score the first three innings, scored once in the fourth none in the fifth, racked up three in the sixth and coasted to a victory in the seventh frame.

The Miners' Jim Bartlett hit into a double and Darrell Bevers rapped out a single to bring him home for the lone score in the fourth frame. In the sixth inning a combination of two errors and a home run slammed out by Severs accounted for the final three runs.

George Ice, left-fielder for Medford, made the lone hit of the ballgame. Medford threatened in the seventh with all bases loaded up by three walks. However, a strikeout on Pitcher Tom Laurance and a long fly-out by Ken Durkee retired the side. And that was the ball game.

Medford's Laurance struck out four and walked three and Yreka's Brooks struck out two and walked five.

Saturday's game brought Medford's record to 13 wins, 5 losses and 1 tie. The Tornado meets Crater Wednesday on the home field and play here again Friday in a double-header against Grants Pass.

Group Awaits Answer on Bout

Chicago—UPU—The Illinois Athletic commission Saturday awaited an answer to its proposal that it would recognize a middleweight championship bout between title-holder Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio.

Robinson, who was stripped of his title by the National Boxing association earlier this week, found an unexpected friend Friday in Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois commission.

Gilmer said his IAC would gladly bill the bout as a middleweight title match provided Robinson signed before May 25.

Small Worlds Around Us

Curious Mouse Got Unique Glass Tomb for His Trouble

It was under a bush where some untidy campers had discarded it, a glass bottle containing an ounce or so of heavy syrup. A small, deer-mouse, investigating the abandoned campsite, located the bottle. Never before in his life had he seen such a thing. Never had he ever smelled anything as tempting as the sweet odor that came from one end of the jar.

The neck of the bottle was small. He had to push hard with his hind feet to force his shoulders inside. It was so tight his front legs were crowded against his body. His rear feet, braced in an irregularity of the forest floor, found a firm grip. He gave a mighty push. His body popped inside the bottle like a slippery seed squirts out between two pressing fingers.

Hungry he lapped at the syrup. It was the most delicious substance his taste buds had ever experienced. He drank until his little stomach was distended like a toy balloon. Satisfied, he dashed back to the opening, rammed his head into the bottle neck and pushed. His tiny hind feet slipped on the slippery glass. They couldn't find traction enough to force his shoulders through the narrow opening.

Exhausted

Exhausted with his futile pushing, he curled up in a tight little ball to sleep, but sleep did not come, for suddenly the stillness startled him. He was used to the small noises of the forest, now they were gone, all sound was strangely absent. Finally, from sheer exhaustion, he slept.

While he was asleep there on the hard, curving glass, other forest creatures located the sweet fragrance of the syrup. Large, black ants crawled in through the bottle neck, lapped at the sweet liquid and awakened the sleeping mouse.

Again and again he vainly tried to squeeze out the bottle opening. Later he ate some of the hurrying ants but more

Nine Apprehended At Saturday Party

Two adults and seven minors were apprehended by the state police and sheriff's deputies early Saturday morning during a drinking party in a Neil creek cabin.

Ray Lavonne Cummings, 22, of 517 1/2 Benson st., Medford, and James Burton Watrus, 22, of 216 Mead st., Ashland, were arrested on charges of furnishing liquor to minors, according to officials.

Watrus was released on $105 bail and Cummings is being held in the Jackson county jail. The teenagers were turned over to Jackson county juvenile authorities and charged with illegal possession of liquor.
