Grange News

Eagle Point Grange
Mother's day was featured in the program of the Eagle Point Grange at its meeting May 5.

With Mrs. Robert Bitterling, Mrs. Edwin Hayes and Mrs. Thomas Vestal in charge of the program, Mrs. Edward Chamberlain was honored as "Grange mother of the evening." Mrs. Augusta Perry as oldest mother present and Mrs. Rex Moore as youngest mother present.

Mrs. John Clark, a member of the Eagle Point Grange now living in Lakewood, Calif., attended and shared honors with Mrs. Edward Chamberlain as the mother with the most children. Miss Georgia Weidman, Percy Scoble, and A. T. Wattenburg honored the mothers present with musical selections and readings.

In honor of Mother's day, the gentlemen, complete with Centennial vests, flowing ties, sleeve garters and a few beards still in evidence served the refreshments. In the spirit of the Oregon Centennial, bear meat was served.

Clifford Moore, dairy chairman, reported that one of the Eagle Point Grange members, Mrs. William Hubbard, had entered a national dairy judging contest and finished in a four-way tie for first place. Mrs. J. D. Brown reported that the next meeting of the Home Economics committee will be held at the home of Mrs. Otis Jones, with Mrs. Lester McFall co-hostess.

A letter received from the Shady Cove Grange, expressing appreciation for trees received from the Eagle Point Grange and commending the Grange for its Community Service project, was read.

C. C. Hoover reported that the largest lake of the seven planned by the Medford City Planning commission last year in the White City area has been started, with others to follow.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conger of the Central Point Grange and Mrs. John Clark from Lakewood, California.

4-H Club News

Little Chefs Cooking Club
The Little Chefs Cooking 4-H club held two meetings recently.

One was at the home of Terry Newcomb. Linda Pickell, Shiela Butler, Terry Newcomb and Cheryl Becker made muffins, and Joan Esslinger and Marcy Miller demonstrated deviled eggs.

Another meeting was held at the home of Marlene Nougier. Terry Calhoun, Marlene Nougier, Marcy Miller and Diana Davy made muffins. After muffins were made pointers were given on good muffins.

Refreshments were served at both meetings.

Washington—(UP)—State Department officials told Congress Monday that continued U.S. aid is vital in thwarting Communist aims in both the Far East and Africa.

Walter S. Robertson and J.C. Satterthwaite, assistant secretaries of state, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Communism's biggest objective is to drive the U.S. and its western allies out of the key areas.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) made public their prepared testimony, as the committee resumed closed-door hearings on President Eisenhower's foreign aid request for $3,900,000,000.

Robertson said Communist China is showing increasing arrogance toward the rest of the world and "appears to care less about the opinions of outside countries." He said the Red Regime is "developing a dangerous over-confidence."

Satterthwaite said the immediate Communist objective in Africa "is the liquidation of all western, and particularly U.S. influence." Aid from this country is giving Africans "a sound basis to hope for meaningful progress," he added.

NEWSPAPERMAN DIES

Washington—(UP)—James E. Cutlip, 59, assistant managing editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, died Sunday of cancer. Cutlip had been a newspaperman for 40 years. A native of Sutton, W. Va., he began as a cartoonist on the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette but later shifted to reporting. He moved to Washington in 1924 after working on the Huntington, W. Va., Herald Advertiser.

London—(UP)—The Sunday Pictorial reported a time and motion study Sunday which said the average typist spends 10 per cent of her working day chatting or attending to her make up, 40 per cent "frittering away" the time, and 50 per cent actually working.
