Broadcasts Bounced From London To Boston Via Moon

London -- Researchers at the Jodrell Bank radio telescope said today they had been able to bounce Brahms, Beethoven and Bach to Boston from the moon. The experiments were carried out by Manchester University's Jodrell Bank experimental arm and Pye Telecommunications Ltd. in demonstrating that the moon can be used as a cheap relay station for world wide communications. "Qualified Success" They said the experiment was a "qualified success" and said "most of the spoken words failed to reach the United States but the Three Bs of music made it." Prof. A.C.B. Lovell and two assistants beamed the moon-bounced broadcasts last week at the U. S. Air Force's Cambridge Research Center near Boston. "Prof. Lovell sent various audio tones, short vocal messages, Morse code message and some music," the Jodrell spokesman said. He said the U. S. Air Force's 86-foot "glorified aerial" successfully picked up the audio tones, a few feeble words, the Morse messages and the music. Samples of moon-relayed trans-atlantic communications were: --Audio tone: A sound like a long series of "dahs." --Spoken words: "Hello, America," "Jodrell Bank calling the moon." --No Boat Trouble --Morse code: "We'll have no trouble with fishing boats on this circuit." A reference to the recent U. S. search of a Soviet fishing boat accused of cutting trans-atlantic telephone cables. --Music: "Prof. Lovell and his assistants whistled and hummed but they finally resorted to a gramophone," the spokesman said. Jodrell announced that Lovell's work will enable private enterprise to develop the field. Pye's managing director, John Brinkley, said his firm will continue the research.

Four People Hurt In Talent Accident

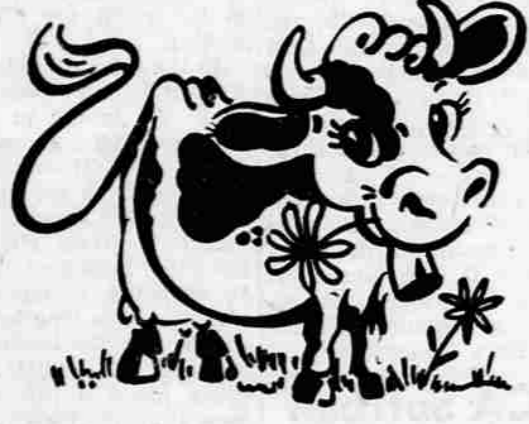

Four persons were injured in a one-car accident on the Wagner Creek rd. at the Talent city limits Sunday, according to Bill Young, Talent police chief. The driver, Glen F. Hampton, Sacramento, Calif., was reported in good condition today by Rogue Valley hospital attendants. He is suffering from a broken ankle, Young said. Treated and released Sunday were Hampton's sons, Glen, David and Rickie, and Bryon Rollins, Talent, another passenger. The Hampton car apparently rounded a curve in the road too fast, hit a bank and rolled over two or three times, Young said.

Davenport Fire Put Out by SOC Student

Ashland -- A fire in a davenport in the men's dormitory recreation room at Southern Oregon college was extinguished late Friday afternoon before the fire department was called, firemen reported. Firemen said O. A. Hammett, a student, saw the cushions of the davenport blazing when he entered the room, took them outside and extinguished them. He then called the fire department to report it. Firemen were dispatched to the scene, checked the building, but found no further evidence of fire.

Cherry Fudge Ice Cream In a Missile Nose Cone?

Martians will smack their lips (we are not responsible for this irresponsible statement if Martians don't happen to have lips) when they sink their teeth (same as above) into Cherry Fudge Ice Cream for the first time.

Cream Fudge--like Dutch Chocolate ice cream, squirtin' juicy cherries and big toothsome walnuts . . .

We're happy it turns out with "Candy Bar Goodness" every single time.
