

Hatfield Startles Michigan GOP With Tax Stand

Lansing, Mich. (UPI)—Michigan's Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams gave Oregon's Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield a polka-dot bow tie Wednesday.

But he should have pinned a medal on Hatfield.

Hatfield dropped by for a social call, but before the day was over he was in the midst of Michigan's financial hassle-on Williams' side.

Solution To Woes

The 36-year-old Republican shook the Michigan GOP when he said he had no use for sales taxes. Michigan Republicans see a boost in the sales tax as the solution to the state's fiscal woes.

What tax does Hatfield like? Why, a graduated income tax, which, it so happens, is just what Williams wants from the GOP-controlled legislature.

"Anything the sales tax can do will be done with a properly established income tax," the trim six-footer said at a news conference. "The sales tax is regressive."

Startles GOP

Hatfield's remarks startled the state GOP headquarters, which heralded his visit as a chance for Michigan Republicans to absorb the "philosophy and approach" of a Republican who scored an upset victory in November.

However, Hatfield emphasized he was speaking "strictly in the context of Oregon."

He told a joint session of the Michigan Legislature, "I am not here to tell you how to run your state."

Brings Top Hats

Hatfield came to town with 100 grey top hats to help Lansing celebrate its centennial. Oregon is marking its 100th year of statehood in 1959.

The Oregon Republican chose to wear a Lansing Centennial bow tie rather than a polka-dot bow presented by Williams. The green hat-dot bow is Williams' trademark.

County People to Attend Meeting

Three Jackson county residents plan to be in Sun Valley, Idaho, this week end to attend a meeting of "school improvement leaders" called by the National Citizens Council for Better Schools.

Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Oregon are represented.

Attending from this area are State Representative Mrs. Stephen C. Nye, Phoenix-Hillcrest rd.; Otto Ewaldsen, Medford school board member, and Mrs. William Siebert, Medford. They are among nine Oregon representatives.

The meeting is one of a series being held by the council to learn the problems of state school improvement groups and how the national office can be of help to the state committees.

The National Citizens Council was organized in 1956 to arouse interest in school problems and serve as a clearinghouse to tell citizens across the country how others are solving them.

Craftsmanship Awards Dinner Set

Members of the building industry from throughout southwest Oregon plan to attend the seventh annual Craftsmanship Awards dinner in Eugene Friday, May 22.

The event is sponsored by the Southwest Oregon chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Awards for outstanding craftsmanship in the building industry will be presented to two members of the building trades from southwest Oregon.

Robert F. Fisher, Grants Pass architect, is helping with arrangements. Walter L. Gordon, architect and dean of the University of Oregon school of architecture and allied arts, will speak.

Shady Cove Grange Plans Entertainment

Shady Cove—A free evening of entertainment sponsored by the Shady Cove Grange will be held at the Shady Cove school gym Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Chris Wolff and his Black Lighters will square dance in fluorescent costumes. Vocal numbers by the Three Smith Sisters and other local talent will be presented.

The Elk Creek Wranglers will play square dancing after the program. The public is invited.
