GOLD HILL Centennial Program Held

By MRS. CLYDE KELL
Gold Hill—A special Centennial assembly was held at the Hanby school in Gold Hill Friday, May 15, beginning at 10 a.m. Nearly 400 youngsters of the Sams Valley, Patrick and Hanby schools participated in group singing and program featuring songs of Oregon.

The name of Oregon's official Centennial song was released to the public on that date. School children throughout the state were the first to know the title of the new song, "You're in Oregon, My Friend." The song, composed by four Portland people, was selected from over 800 entries in the Centennial song contest.

Third place winner was "The Oregon Waltz" written by Harry Meyers, director of bands in the Central Point Elementary and Junior High school.

Featured during the hour-long program was a waltz entitled "Oregon," composed by Mrs. C. Norman (Ellow Mae) Gall, Gold Hill.

Master of ceremonies was Gilbert Mack, principal of the two Gold Hill schools. William Brewster, principal of the Sams Valley school directed the group singing, which included songs of Oregon, as well as popular songs. Mrs. Ruth Brewster, piano and vocal teacher of the Sams Valley and Gold Hill schools played accompaniment.

First and second graders from Sams Valley presented campfire dances, which were popular on the Oregon Trail. Third and fourth graders from the Sams Valley school also sang and the program concluded with songs of the gold miners and other songs.

Five representatives from the FFA at Crater High school visited the Sams Valley school Friday afternoon, May 15. William Brewster, principal of the school, reports that 100 per cent of the seventh and eighth grade boys have signed up to take FFA training when they enter Crater High school next September.

Representing the FFA were Gary Dusenberry, Carl Simmons, Pete Nelstede, Dave Redmond, and Wesley Knight.

Later in the afternoon on the same date, a 30 minute student body assembly was held at the Sams Valley school when the Rogue Ramblers, a group from Crater High school, presented several vocal numbers, accompanied by the electric guitars.

This group of FFA students consisted of Floyd Sherman, Tom Sample and Leon Sherman. The advisor of the FFA group, Bill McFarland, accompanied the students.

William Brewster has announced that the annual school picnic is scheduled for Wednesday, June 3, at the Sams Valley school, instead of June 5, which is the closing day of school for this year.

On June 3, entertainment will include two movies, one entitled "Africa Screams" and the other "Bold King Cole." The picnic will be held at noon on that date and the annual father and son baseball game will take place during the afternoon.

Promotion exercises have been scheduled for June 2 at 8 p.m. in the Sams Valley school auditorium. C. A. Meyer, Central Point will be guest speaker.

Sams Valley and Hanby schools' piano pupils directed by Mrs. Ruth Brewster will present a recital Monday evening, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hanby school's gymnasium. Parents and friends are invited to attend. About 40 students will participate.

Fifth graders of the Hanby school went on their annual field trip Wednesday, May 20. The day's activities included a tour of the Jacksonville museum in the forenoon, followed by a picnic and games at TouVelle state park in the afternoon. The pupils were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Ida von Buskirk, and Mrs. Irene Johnson, who was substituting that day for Mr. Claud Morgan, regular fifth grade teacher, who was unable to attend because of illness in his family.

Wendt Suggests Paring County Road Allotment

Commissioner Wendt suggested that an additional $50,000 or a total of $150,000 be pared from the county roads department total allocation. This would be used to set up a sinking fund for construction of the auditorium and office building on the fairgrounds in the near future, he said. If, following further study of public opinion, it is decided the building should not be constructed, then the money could be returned to the county general fund.

People don't understand that the county pays for part of the operation of the county extension service, budget committee members agreed. The county pays for secretarial help and office expenses, while the state pays the county agents' salaries.

The feeling of the 4-H fruit growers and city people should be determined, it was suggested. Newbury said many people criticize the county for allowing outside groups to move into courthouse offices.

John Niedermeyer, a farmer who appeared before the budget committee, said the courthouse location of the extension offices is more convenient for farmers. If the offices are moved they should be placed next to the new Southern Oregon Branch Experiment station offices on Hanley rd. near Jacksonville, he suggested. The extension service and experiment station work together and it would be more convenient for the farmer, he explained.

Surplus Suggested
Accountant Stacey suggested the county keep a "good" surplus for the next few years so it would not have to put on a tax levy. He said he is afraid of a growing movement toward a tax revolt. Redistribution of O and C public land grant timber receipts as proposed recently by Gov. Mark Hatfield could also "put the county in the hole," he pointed out.

If the county does not have a cash reserve for next year it may need a tax levy, Stacey said. The county would need a "cushion" of approximately $800,000 to carry it from July 1, the start of the fiscal year, to Oct. 1, when O and C timber receipts are paid the county. County Treasurer Karl Janouch told Stacey.

Barbary Coast Not Like Olden Times

San Francisco—(UPI)—Swash-buckling seamen and grizzled miners from San Francisco's early days would have a hard time recognizing the city's notorious Barbary Coast today.

What once were several blocks of glittering gambling saloons, dingy basement dives and bawdy houses have been transformed into a center of the interior decorating industry.

There was a time, between 1862 and 1915 when the Coast showed Paris and New York what wickedness really meant. But a reform wave in 1915 closed it down and Prohibition was the final blow.

Repeal brought back the Coast under a new name—the "International Settlement," a string of tawdry night clubs.

Now private enterprise has carried out a redevelopment job that has obliterated all trace of the original Barbary Coast and ultra-fashionable showrooms display fine fabrics and modern furniture where once sin was king.

General Stock List Firm on Balance

New York—(UPI)—The stock market staggered forward today. The general list was firm on balance, despite some fairly wide losses in some of the leaders.

The rails were generally firm. Atlantic Coast Line was up around a point at its high. Leading oil stocks favored the upside although gains were limited to small fractions for the most part. The steels moved ahead fractionally, helped by predictions of excellent second quarter earnings.

Consolidated Cigar ran up around 5 at its best but American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers were off more than 1 near the close. National Lead lost more than 4 points at its low in an otherwise narrow nonferrous metal group.

Female Excess Over Males Said Due To Increase

New York—(Science Service)—Even more middle-aged and older women will live longer than their male counterparts by 1970.

Eleven years from now, the females in this group will experience relatively greater reductions in mortality than the males of that period. The excess of females over males will increase, the sex ratios in these age groups will lower and the number of widows and duration of widowhood will expand.

So says Dr. James D. Tarver of Oklahoma State University. His report on the projections of mortality in the United States appears in the Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly.

Fewer Infant Deaths
There will be fewer deaths, proportionately, among infants and youngsters than among adults by 1970, he said. Fewer infant deaths will mean increased chances of the infants living through older ages. This will, in turn, supply an increasing number of persons who will reach productive ages.

By 1970, more than 70,000 white males out of every 100,000 born, as compared to 66,000 in 1955, can expect to reach the age of 65, Dr. Tarver explained.

In life expectancy increases the number of people over 65, more people will be receiving Social Security benefits. In addition, this will lengthen the period that workers spend in retirement, intensifying the aging problem.

May Seem Optimistic
These projections may seem optimistic, Dr. Tarver commented, especially after the temporary 1957 reversal in the death rates that occurred at the time of the Asian flu.

Apparently, a gradual and progressive reduction in death rates will continue for infants and young adults. On the other hand, the greatest possible mortality reductions lie among the aged populations, especially males, he concluded.
