Yreka Western Railroad Holds Week End Tour

Yreka-Nearly 200 persons took advantage of temporarily restored passenger service on the Yreka Western railroad last week end and toured northern California. The tour, planned by the California-Nevada Railroad Historical society, provided deluxe service with pullman cars and diners from lines over the western half of the United States. Thirteen cars made the eight-mile Yreka Western run pulled by Old No. 18, a steamer which puffed up a 2.2 degree grade with a diesel behind to give a push when needed. The two are the only engines operating on the Yreka Western. The line employs 17 persons and operates a flat car, ballast car and seven trucks which make daily trips to Scott Valley and Happy Camp. Service Stopped in 1924 Passenger service was discontinued to Yreka in about 1924. Last week's passengers were routed from Oakland by Western Pacific, Great Northern, McCloud River railroad and Southern Pacific before their train was picked up by No. 18. Yreka Western was a community promoted project built in 1888 after Southern Pacific decided to bypass Yreka in favor of Montague. Willis B. Kyle, Los Angeles engineer, is present owner. O. G. Steele, receiver for the route from 1936 to 1945, was among passengers making the special trip.

IWA Recommends Contract Agreement

Portland - UPI - The Northwest regional negotiating committee for the International Woodworkers of America union said today it was recommending that union locals approve a tentative agreement with Georgia-Pacific Corporation on a contract calling for a pay increase of 20 1/2 cents per hour. Chairman Harvey R. Nelson of the IWA committee, said the committee would present the same recommendation to all employers with whom contract negotiations are presently underway. The recommended agreement with G-P and its subsidiaries was reached in a negotiation session here. Nelson said about 2,000 union members would be affected.
