Hunt, Sought for Oregon Kidnaping, Placed on FBI List

Washington—UPD—The Federal Bureau of Investigation yesterday placed Richard Allett Hunt, sought for kidnaping an Oregon police officer and wounding another, on its list of "10 most wanted men."

The FBI said it wanted Hunt for the interstate transportation of a stolen car and for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He also is wanted in several western states for burglary, forged checks, kidnaping and assault with a dangerous weapon.

Hunt allegedly kidnaped Police Chief E. G. McPhee of Harrisburg, Ore., last March 24 and drove him at gunpoint to Brownsville before releasing him. The same day he allegedly shot and critically wounded Brownsville Police Chief Robert Kennow who tried to arrest him for the kidnaping of McPhee.

Hunt escaped into the rugged countryside. He was known to be in the vicinity of Eugene until March 27 when he was believed to have fled south. He has since been seen in several southwestern and western states, the FBI said. He has been identified as working on a dairy farm near Salt Lake City from April 6 to 10.

Believed Armed
He left the farm abruptly and a sum of money, a camera and some clothing disappeared at the same time.

"Believed to be armed and known to possess a violent temper, Hunt represents a real threat to any person attempting to apprehend him or oppose his wishes," the FBI said.

The Bureau said Hunt was born in Salem Aug. 1, 1932, although there is no formal record of his birth. He enlisted in the army in 1950 and started his career in crime two years later.

He was arrested in Fresno county, Calif., March 7, 1952, for stealing clothing, luggage, a gun and a truck from a California ranch where he was employed. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail and given two years' probation.

Three months later he was arrested for robbing the Children's Farm Home in Benton county, Ore., where he once had lived. He was sentenced to six months and served it in the Multnomah county jail.

In 1954 he was sentenced to 18 months in the Montana State Prison at Deed Lodge for grand larceny and the army decided then to give him an undesirable discharge.

Escape Prison
He escaped from Deer Lodge a year later but was caught the next day and given another 18 months' sentence. He was paroled Jan. 22, 1957, to a relative in Riddle, Ore., and held a succession of short jobs.

He was known to be in Idaho early last year where he allegedly wrote a number of bad checks, then worked at a ranch at Big Horn, Wyo., where he left after a month in a car owned by the rancher's daughter.

He wrecked the car in Manzanita, Ore. He next worked on a Vailmy, Nev., ranch for several months, again leaving in a car owned by a fellow employee. His last job before the Brownsville shooting was on an Albany, Ore., dairy farm.

May Wear Glasses
The FBI described him as five feet 11 inches tall, weighing 155 to 165 pounds, with blue eyes, reddish brown hair and a fair complexion. He may have long sideburns and be wearing brown and gold rimmed glasses. He has numerous scars on his face and body, and a number of moles.

He is an expert dairy worker, an experienced woodsman,
